National Cotton Council Meets Today

Use of an additional 755,000 bales, requiring an average of 688,000 acres to produce, could become a reality if cotton takes full advantage of its opportunities in just one market -- rugs.

This was one of many examples cited here today at the Rustic Rock of how cotton can benefit from expanded research and promotion effectively administered by growers.

Tom F. Baker, Essex, chairman of the Missouri Steering Committee, Cotton Producers Institute, presided at the meeting of cotton industry leaders from five Bootheel counties and nearby Alexander County, Illinois.

"The only way we can protect and expand our markets, acreages, and incomes is to get more cotton used in rugs and other products," Mr. Baker said.

He added that cotton's research needs have been blueprinted and that the industry has trained people to operate its program. Desperately needed, however, are adequate funds to cash in on cotton's opportunties.

The industry leader explained that the grower-developed research and promotion proposal (HR-12322) would provide such funds and urged all who have a stake in cotton to support and work for approval of the plan.

He warned that farmers, processors, and cotton communities cannot live with the acreage reduction -- averaging 30 per cent this year -- that necessarily accompanies a record carryover.

Details of cotton's competitive battle and the grower proposal were spelled out by Clifton Kirkpatrick, Memphis, Council field service director, and C.E. McDaniel, Memphis, Mid-South area supervisor.

A report on current programs revealed research financed by the Cotton Producers Institute is helping cotton make a comeback in permanent press markets involving several million bales of cotton a year.

It also was explained that CPI's award-winning promotion is attracting strong merchandising support from garment manufacturers and giant retailers such as Sears. Statements from firm executives attesting to the fact that promotion is selling cotton products in volume were read at the meeting.

The speaker, however, added: "While cotton has the strongest and finest programs in its history, they simply are not enough."

It was pointed out 14 giant synthetics producers are spending five times as much as cotton on research and $17 to each dollar cotton spends on promotion.

As a result, nylon, dacron, and other higher-priced synthetic fibers now have a total market equaling nearly 7 million bales of cotton. More than 2 million were gained in the last two years, and new synthetics plants with capacities equivalent to 3.5 million additional bales are scheduled for production by the end of next year.

Cotton doesn't necessarily have to match total dollar efforts by synthetics producers. One reason is that they are fighting each other for markets, and another is cotton's proven ability to respond to research and promotion, the speaker said.

Approval of the grower plan to assess themselves $1.00 per bale would push producer funds to the $12-to-$15 million range annually. Coupled with the Council's revenue, this would give the cotton industry direct control over a total research and promotion program of $15 to $18 million a year.

Since experience shows industry money can be doubled through cooperative efforts, cotton could fight back with a minimum program of $25 to $35 million annually, it was explained.

Exhibited were some 17 blueprints covering a wide range of proposed projects for production and product improvement research, as well as detailed promotion needs.

The speaker said that due to lack of funds, cotton has barely scratched the surface of the promotional needs in the vast women's and girls' wear markets. It desperately needs to counter threats to the 2-million-bale men's and boys' wear market and to home furnishings, a market using some 2.5 million bales a year.

In explaining the Cotton Research and Promotion proposal, the speakers said a "yes" vote by two-thirds of producers voting, or by two-thirds of the volume of those voting in the referendum, is required to put the plan into effect.

Since it would be a self-help program, paid for by growers, it would be controlled by them. Initiation and direction of all research and promotion projects will rest solely with a Beltwide producer organization.

Governing body of the Beltwide producer group will be selected by approved producer groups in each state, and representation will be in proportion to production and contributions.

Johnson Champion Comes Through In Tuesday Race

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

Robert B. Duncan, President Johnson's champion in an Oregon campaign focused on Viet Nam captured that state's Democratic Senate nomination amid Republican talk of nation-wide voter uneasiness about the Asian war.

In Duncan's runaway victory Tuesday over peace candidate Howard Morgan, advocates of the U. S. stance in South Viet Nam could find at least a partial answer to the Republican report.

Duncan, a two-term congressman, and Morgan, a former member of the Federal Power Commission, stood together on domestic matters. They argued only about Viet Nam. Morgan called U. S. involvement there a tragic error; Duncan said it is necessary.

Their clash echoed the debate that has raged in Congress and on campuses across the nation. In Oregon, for the first time, the voters judged the debaters.

With 1,437 of 2,946 Oregon precincts reporting, Duncan had 64 per cent of the votes, Morgan 33 per cent and a third candidate 3 per cent.

Voters rendered their judgments in primary elections in Florida, Oklahoma and Kentucky, too. The most startling decision in the balloting was Miami Mayor Robert King High's rematch triumph over Florida Gov. Haydon Burns.

High's upset climaxed a bitter runoff campaign which produced Burns charges that the short, red-haired mayor was the candidate of a Negro bloc, and a protege of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y.

High said he was campaigning for integrity in government, and accused Burns -- who overwhelmed him two years ago -- of cronyism, and patronage that cost millions of dollars.

In other major races:

-Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky won renomination without serious opposition. John Young Brown, a college classmate, former congressman and Senate rival 20 years ago, easily won the Democratic Senate nomination.

-Preston Moore of Oklahoma City, former national American Legion commander blunted the comeback bid of former Gov. Raymond Gary and won the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma. State Sen. Dewey Bartlett of Tulsa won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over John N. Happy Camp.

-Republican Pat. J. Patterson outdistanced Don Kinkaid, who had solicited John Birch Society backing, for the nomination to challenge Oklahoma's Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris in November.

-Former Rep. M. G. Snyder of Kentucky was nominated for the House from the newly designed 4th District, topping two rivals in a race that renewed the Republican split of 1964. Snyder, a conservative, fought for the cause of Barry Goldwater two years ago and lost his House seat in the Democratic landslide. Moderate and liberal Republicans, in power in the Louisville area, lined up against Snyder, calling him an extremist. Snyder won easily. He faces State Sen. John Moloney of Covington in November.

-Secretary of State Tom McCall won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Oregon; State Treasurer Robert Straub was the Democratic choice.

In Oregon, Duncan will face Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield in November for the Senate seat now held by retiring Maurine Neuberger.

In that campaign, Viet Nam again is likely to be a dominant theme. Hatfield, who easily outdistanced three little-known rivals for the GOP nomination, has criticized Johnson's Asian policy.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the Senate's senior critic of the administration position, campaigned for Morgan -- and said he would vote for Hatfield in preference to Duncan.

Morse said he would have no assessment of the primary outcome until later today.

Miss Vance Testifies Montgomery Ordered 'Run Them All'

MEMPHIS -- Miss Bobbie L. Vance testified yesterday that Joel A. Montgomery told Mrs. Betty Lou Sells to "run them (traffic lights) all" shortly before a fatal automobile crash at 1:45 a.m. Oct. 14, 1959.

Other state witnesses testified in Criminal Court yesterday that Mr. Montgomery's Buick ran red lights at Front and Monroe, Monroe and Main Monroe and Second, Monroe and Fourth and Monroe and Wellington, the crash scene.

Miss Vance, 31, a passenger in the car which was being driven by Mrs. Sells, then 21, said the car was speeding down Monroe before the collision which killed Miss Glenda Wiles, 24, passenger in an auto driven by Miss Alice K. Gassaway, then 20.

Henry M. Sypes, 69, owner of Burns Night Patrol Service at 3505 Denver, said he saw the Montgomery car run the red light at Monroe and Wellington and collide with the other car.

The state is expected to rest its case today in the involuntary manslaughter trial of Mrs. Sells, a pretty divorcee, and Mr. Montgomery, wealthy banker from Sikeston, Mo., who fought extradition in the case for four years.

Mr. Sypes said he was driving east on Monroe.

"Just before I got to Fourth a car was coming down Monroe so I kinda pulled to one side because the car was coming so fast," Mr. Sypes said. "I paid special attention to it. It got to Fourth Street and ran the red light there. . . .

"I kept my eye on it because of the simple reason in my work you pay attention. You know there could be a robbery or holdup or something back there the car was running so fast. . . .

"I kept my eye on it to see if it would run the red light at Wellington. . . The light was still red and the crash came . . . It was red for Monroe traffic."

Miss Gassaway, now Mrs. R. L. Burleson of Santa Ana, Calif., testified she had the green light traveling south on Wellington. She said she and Miss Wiles had been to the VFW Club on Washington and were going home. Mrs. Burleson said she had had only soft drinks that evening.

On direct examination by Exec. Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert K. Dwyer, Miss Vance said she and Mrs. Sells went to nightspots with Mr. Montgomery, Dan Turley, a real estate man, and Cecil Kyle, then an employe of the county trustee's office.

She said she, Mrs. Sells and Mr. Montgomery had several drinks during the evening. Miss Vance, who did not testify in Mrs. Sells' first trial in 1960, said Mr. Montgomery took her and Mrs. Sells to the Skyway at the Peabody for dinner.

Cross - examinated by Mrs. Sells' attorney, James F. 'Tim' Schaeffer, Miss Vance said she could not specifically recall Mrs. Sells drinking during the evening.

She said Mrs. Sells was "sober" and "not intoxicated" when the three got into Mr. Montgomery's car after leaving the Skyway. Miss Vance said Mr. Montgomery was taking them home.

"Do you recall anything about the light as you were going east (on Monroe)?" Mr. Dwyer asked.

"One was yellow. I don't remember. . . I think it was on Fourth. Mrs. Sells asked Mr. Montgomery should she run it. Mr. Montgomery said run this one and run them all. . . ."

Q. Do you remember the accident?

A. Yes. . . The only thing, I recall just seeing the car. I don't remember whether the light was red or green. I remember just seeing the car and screaming."

Bizarre Twist In Murder

By WAYMAN DUNLAP

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. AP -- A dramatic, day-long manhunt in a desolate swampland has ended with the capture of Glenn Stewart, charged with murder in the Mother's Day slaying of an Indiana factory worker.

Weary and bearded after eluding a massive search party, Stewart, 30, surrendered Tuesday to a state trooper, apparently unaware that the dead man's widow also had been charged with the murder of 35-year-old Larry Schmidt. Stewart said he was innocent.

In a bizarre twist to a sensational case, police in Marion, Ind., jailed Schmidt's widow, Edith, 27, and quoted her as saying that she and Stewart were lovers who had plotted her husband's death 48 hours before he was killed May 8.

The woman had told police Sunday that Stewart killed her husband over a $50 debt, kidnapped her and her two children and took them on a 16-day trip of terror.

It was her first story, told from her parents home in Sparta, Tenn., that led Indiana officers to Schmidt's dismembered body, sliced into five pieces in the dirt-floor basement of his Marion home Sunday.

Marion Police Chief Ted Null said Stewart apparently let Mrs. Schmidt and the children go on his flight from Marion to his home in Arkadelphia because they were hindering his escape. Null quoted her as saying that she and Stewart used a knife to kill her husband, then a hacksaw to cut off his arms and legs.

However, Prosecutor Robert Foust said he did not think Mrs. Schmidt committed the actual stabbing but believed she was a conspirator in what he described as a love-triangle murder. She was jailed on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder to await grand jury action.

Blanton Speaks To Kiwanis

Harry Blanton of the Blanton-Blanton and Rice Law Firm was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club last night at the Holiday Inn.

His topic was his travel experience on a recent trip to the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey, Egypt and other European countries such as Spain, Portugal, Italy and Sicily. These countries were all included in the side trips away from the ship on the Mediterranean cruise. Drawing from his store of knowledge being a student of world history and his most interesting way in describing the points of interest, Mr. Blanton held a very attentive audience and gave the impression that we were along side him on the trip.

Rev. C. D. Butler brought a guest, George Rose of Bellville, Ill. and 24 people were in attendance. Mrs. Maurine Blanton, wife of Harry Blanton also enjoyed the trip with her husband and was able to visit a daughter in New York before time to board the Leonardo DeVinci Italian liner. . The life on the ship was most pleasant with the exception of 2 days of storms in the North Atlantic, Mr. Blanton said.

Scientists and industry officials estimate there are about 830 billion tons of unmined coal in the United States.

NEW NATION TO THE SOUTH

British Guiana achieves its independence on Thursday (May 26).

GUYANA is an Amerindian name meaning "Land of Waters." It is the name chosen by the former colony of British Guiana, which becomes independent, after several years of agitation and postponment, on Thursday.

The country has an area of 83,000 square miles and an estimated population of 650,000, including 300,000 of East Indian descent and 200,000 Negroes. The Dutch settled there first in 1620, but Britain captured the Latin American territory in 1796.

THE CONFERENCE last November which led to a scheduled date for Guiana's independence was conducted without the participation of the colony's biggest political party, the People's Progressive Party (PPP), led by the Marxist Cheddi Jagan. British officials had agreed that elections in December 1964 should be held under a system of "proportional representation" which made it all but impossible for the leftist Premier to win re-election. After Jagan lost office the United States resumed economic aid to the steamy enclave.

Guiana was represented at the November conference by a delegation led by Prime Minister L. Forbes Burnham, chairman of the People's National Congress (PNC). The group included Deputy Prime Minister Peter d'Aguiar, the leader of the United Force (UF), the PNC's coalition partner.

The PR electoral system will remain in effect. However, provision was made in the constitution for the legislature to change the law at will. Queen Elizabeth II will remain as head of the sovereign democratic state for the first 3-1/2 years of independence. Then the country could become a republic with a President as head of state if Parliament so chooses.

GUYANA WILL RECEIVE one-fifth of its revenue from an unusual and formidable business organization -- Booker Bros., McConnell and Co., Ltd. This outfit, headed by Sir Jock Campbell, a spry old Laborite, has a virtually unique record among colonial enterprises. Bookers -- as the firm is known throughout the West Indies and elsewhere -- develops as it exploits. Its principal interests in Guyana are sugar and rum, but it also has built homes for thousands of Guianese and has contributed heavily to education.

Sir Jock is chairman of the board of the leftist London weekly. The New Statesman, and that fact may explain some of the orientation of Bookers. Since he took over the Guianese company 14 years ago, Bookers has diversified energetically. It now operates profitably in Malawi, Zambia, Canada, Britain, and all over the West Indies. Sir Jock also purchased some years ago a 50 per cent share in the James Bond royalties from his friend Ian Fleming.

One of the prerequisites for independence for Guyana was a start on settlement of the 66-year-old quarrel with Venezuela over the border. The neighbor claims two-thirds of a 50,000 square-mile area, potentially rich in minerals. A mixed commission meeting in Geneva will study the dispute for four years, during which Venezuela has undertaken to stand mute.

Britain will sponsor Guyana in the Commonwealth and the United Nations. The new nation will be hard pressed to earn its passage to freedom, but it has interested and strong friends in Britain and the United States.

From an article in Today's Health: "No accurate records have been obtainable, but it is conservatively estimated that 10,000 men died of scurvy or its sequalae in the California gold rush, half of them in 1848-1849 when scurvy ranged like a raging contagion. Unlike cholera, scurvy was of man's own making because he ignored or disregarded the dietary measures that were for the most part already well established in both medical and lay knowledge."

TOURIST DOLLAR GAP

One solution to the tourist dollar gap is to encourage more foreigners to visit the United States. The U. S. Travel Service estimates that there are about three million people in the world who can afford a visit to this country. Various indirect as well as formal restrictions, however, have tended to keep the inflow of foreign tourists smaller than the travel industry, and now the government, would like. For one thing, foreigners feel that travel in the U. S. is more expensive than travel in foreign lands. Overseas visitors also complain about the reception they receive in many American cities by taxi drivers, waiters and hotel clerks.

The United States has made several improvements in procedures at points of entry to facilitate international travel. Along the Mexican border, where members of the four U. S. inspection agencies are on duty (Customs, Agriculture, Health, and Immigration and Naturalization), only one inspection is now required. Personnel from each agency are used interchangeably.

Since October 1962 a policy of issuing visas by mail, now in effect at 250 consulates in 112 countries, has removed a source of frequent complaint. Traffic bottlenecks at New York piers have been eliminated and oral baggage declarations at all U. S. airports, with occasional spot checks by customs agents, also present a friendlier hand to incoming visitors.

To promote travel to this country, the Eisenhower administration in 1958 proposed that an office of international travel be set up in the Department of Commerce. A request for appropriations on Capitol Hill, however, was stalled.

As the tourist deficit crept toward the one billion dollar mark, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, (D Wash.) introduced a bill to promote travel to the United States.

It passed the Senate in 1960 but was not acted upon in the House. The next year it was reintroduced and enacted as the International Travel Act of 1961, which established a U. S. Travel Service. An intensive campaign to "Visit the U. S. A." was revived and has taken on bigger proportions each succeeding year.

The U. S. Travel Service has channeled millions of pieces of literature overseas. The promotion material is published by the 50 states, tourist and resort areas, travel associations and non-profit tourist promotional organizations. Despite such promotional activity, developing countries and the Communist nations of Eastern Europe are making a strong -- and successful -- pitch for Western European travel dollars. To help meet the competition, the Travel Service says it should have the full $4.7 million authorized in the Travel Act annually to advertise and thereby attract more foreigners into the country. It now operates on a $3 million budget.

John W. Black, U. S. Travel Service Director, points to Spain, Greece, Mexico, Switzerland, Canada and the United Kingdom as countries all having larger travel budgets than the United States. Moreover, Canada's 14 tourist offices in the United States are cited as a strong reason for opening at least one U. S. travel office in that country. The travel service maintains 11 overseas offices, none of them in Canada.

To encourage travelers to visit this country, special sightseeing tours and reduced rates are offered by various airlines, car rental firms, national bus lines and railroads. Best known, perhaps, is the $99 ticket good for 99 days of travel on Greyhound and Continental Trailways buses. Sightseeing companies in some cities offer two different tickets which can be used without limit during specified periods. One is good for 15 days at $52 and the other for 21 days for $62.

Three car rental companies last April announced a "See America Plan" under which Fords, Chevrolets and Plymouths may be rented for $99 a week with no additional charge for mileage. Railroads also offer special plans, offering a 15 per cent reduction, good for 90 days, on coach or first class fares. Thirteen airlines offer foreign visitors a $150 ticket good for 21 days of unlimited travel over the routes they cover throughout the continental United States and Alaska.

Whether such inducements will serve to attract more foreigners to the United States remains to be seen. The alternative would appear to be some form of restraint, either formal or informal, on Americans traveling abroad.

Rear lights -- burned out, broken or obscure -- were one of the five most common defects on passenger cars among 3.5 million of them examined in a voluntary inspection program last year. The situation makes a case for the value of reflective license plates which glow when struck by headlights.

Newspapers are the advertising media most preferred by men's wear stores, according to a survey conducted by the Men's Wear Retailers of America.

The survey was conducted over 62 stores, and 50 of them reported that newspaper placement accounted for from 35 per cent to 95 per cent of their advertising budget.

All stores reporting indicated that they were giving serious consideration to increasing their newspaper lineage because of the results they achieved.

The fact that a sales group accounting for such a large portion of the overall market as men's wear believes implicitly in newspaper advertising is significant.

The sale of semi-durable goods is enhanced by local newspaper selling. The same newspaper is read several times a day. Thus, the product reaches many markets and every member of the family comes into contact with the ad.

For many consumers "seeing is believing" and the printed media conveys a sense of lasting import. Clothing manufacturers know this and sell most of their quality goods through newspapers.

The lasting quality of a newspaper also is important in sales. Readers often save newspapers for several days and use their advertising pages as a handy reference for finding the best buys for their money.

From the Railway Employees Journal: "Protection of public right to transportation services at low cost was a primary purpose when federal regulation of railroads started. In recent years, it has been employed to interfere with railroad rate reductions to meet the competition of competing carriers unable to provide service at as low cost . . . Without revision of regulations, recognizing current competitive conditions, it will be increasingly difficult for railroads to regain the share in the country's total freight traffic to which their efficiency as low-cost carriers entitles them."

FOOD -- INSTRUMENT OF PEACE

Our stubborn farm problems are minor, compared with those of the Communists. Whereas crop failures have shaken the Communist hierarchy and lead to the downfall of Khrushchev, US productivity could be one of our most important defense weapons.

The grim reality is that more than 1.5 billion people suffer from malnutrition. Population is increasing at the rate of 115 million a year, while deaths (even those from hunger) remove but 58 million. Fastest growth rates are found in "deficit" food areas -- in Asia, Africa, Latin America. Nowhere in the world, but in North America, is the rise in food production keeping ahead of the population explosion. And here, we are embarrassed over what to do with too much food and fiber!

Robert C. Liebenow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, says that American food exports should be used as "effective instruments of foreign policy" in fighting Communism. He believes that such shipments should be paid for out of foreign aid and national defense appropriations rather than farm aid funds.

To be effective, Mr. Liebenow says such a farm policy should 1) place increasing emphasis on agricultural exports as a major instrument of foreign policy; 2) assist countries outside the Iron Curtain to develop modern and efficient agricultural production systems; 3) allocate Federal costs of farm programs more equitably, with food shipped abroad as foreign aid appropriated and paid for as foreign aid; and 4) conduct a study to consider establishment of food reserves which would be adequate to meet drought or other natural calamity needs, or war requirements, here or in other countries outside the Communist bloc.

This, he asserts, is the way to peace.

CONTROLS BRING MORE CONTROLS

Numbers of people who haven't thought the matter through undoubtedly are attracted by proposed "Truth In Packaging" legislation. The name is appealing. Everyone wants the information provided on the vast variety of packaged goods to be truthful. So, it can be rationalized, it's probably a good idea to give a government bureau more authority to regulate packages.

The trouble with this kind of thinking is found in a statement by Senator Dirksen: "Controls inevitably bring more controls . . .if you control the package then you control the quantity; if you control the quantity then you must control the composition of the content, forcing Government controls over quality of product, price of product, wages to produce the product, production and distribution of the product and finally the consumer's choice, all of which leads to killing the initiative, the innovative power and the motivating force of our people which made this country the greatest in history."

That is quite an indictment, but no one familiar with the course a power-hungry bureaucracy always takes will deny it. Beyond that, laws now on the books, such as the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, provide severe penalties for misleading labeling and other devices for deceiving the consumer. Properly enforced, they can do whatever may be required -- without imposing destructive and needless controls that would inflate costs and reduce competition.

LATIN AMERICAN PERFORMERS

Some Latin American countries have been plagued by leftist "reformers" of one kind or another so long that they have become ripe for communist take-overs. Castro was portrayed as another "agrarian reformer" by the powers who had decided to put him in control of Cuba up to the time he announced he was a hard-line Marxist and intended to ally with the U. S. S. R.

He joined hands with Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela to agitate for the overthrow of the anti-communist Trujillo in the Dominican Republic. Betancourt is another radical leftist who is credited with "economic reforms," a term used while he systematically plundered the reserves of his country, and to promote his philosophy. These so-called reformers are said to have had support from the United States in the assassination of Trujillo to pave the way for the rise of more "comrades" in the Caribbean.

Juan Bosch became President of the Dominican Republic after the murder of Trujillo and endeared himself to Latin American leftists by promising "reform programs" that eventually adhered to the Marxist line. He was ousted in 1963 by loyal Dominicans because of his flirtation with communists. Now Bosch is once agian reaching out for power over the Dominican epople. He is a candidate for the Presidency in the upcoming Dominican election June 1.

The best barrier to long-range communist ambitions in the Domican Republic is Joaquin Balaguer, now candidate for President, an anti-communist who deserves the encouragement of those wishing to stop communist aggression in the Western Hemisphere. Their letters to friends in Latin America will help freedom's cause. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- A great man died in Rhode Island last week at the age of 98. Theodore Francis Green achieved many landmarks in his long life and, as an old friend, I cannot let him leave without noting some of them.

I remember him at the age of 86 or so still as active as a jumping bean, playing badminton at our farm. And I especially remember him as the last senator who really investigated campaign contributions with penetrating, old-fashioned vigor. If there were more of this today there wouldn't be any Doddism.

And I remember his remarkable memory, and his graphic description of the 16 presidents of the United States he had met as nearly a century of American history rolled by. The first president was Rutherford B. Hayes in 1877 when Theodore Francis was a 10-year-old boy hiding behind his mother's skirts as they passed through the presidential receiving line.

When President Chester Arthur shook hands with Theodore Francis in 1881, the boy cried, "ouch!"

"I'll show you something," said President Arthur. "I always squeeze the other man's hand first. Otherwise he squeezes mine."

WHEN TO QUIT

But what I remember vividly about the late senator from Rhode Island was that he knew when to quit. Lyndon Johnson, then a senator, told me the story.

Lyndon was presiding over the Senate Preparedness committee on the morning of Jan. 29, 1958, when he received a note from Green asking that LBJ see him. Lyndon turned the gavel over to another senator and went to Green's office where the 91-year-old senator showed him an editorial from the Providence Journal urging that he resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee because of age.

"It's true that I can't hear the way I used to and I'm embarrassed by it," said the oldest senator ever to serve in the senate. "I want your advice. Should I resign?"

Sen. Johnson advised in the negative. There was a little more discussion, and Lyndon went back to his preparedness committee.

At 4:45 p.m., Johnson got another note that Senator Green wanted to see him in his office. When he entered, the old man had his head down on his chest, his eyes closed as if asleep. But as the younger man entered, the elder looked up and chuckled.

"I've got a lot of service out of the majority leader today," he said.

"I've decided not to take your advice," he continued. "I'm going to resign -- though not because of these slanted newspaper editorials.

"There are three things I love in life. One is the United States of America. One is the senate. One is the Foreign Relations committee. In fairness to them I'm going to resign as chairman. I'm going to remain a member of the committee and participate in its work, but I'm going to give up the chairmanship. I think it's better that way.

"I can't always hear the witnesses, and I can't always read the statements they turn in. I come up here every Saturday and Sunday and spend all day reading in order to keep up, but I have to confess I fall behind. So it's only fair that I resign."

Johnson, whose eyes had filled with tears, argued with the old man. But Green pulled out a letter and handed it to him.

"You're my majority leader," he said, "so I've written you my letter of resignation. I'm sorry to ignore your advice."

SENATORS WEEP

Johnson asked that Green wait until Monday to give him time to talk to other members of the committee, but Senator Green was adamant. He agreed to wait only until the next morning for a formal meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

That night LBJ called Fulbright of Arkansas, next ranking Democrat, and told him to be sure to be at the committee meeting.

"But I have to preside over the housing bill at the banking and currency committee," reminded Fulbright.

"Forget housing," replied Johnson. "You be there."

Fulbright was there, together with every other member of the foreign relations committee. The venerable senator from Rhode Island sat at the head of the venerable table from which other famous chairmen had guided the foreign relations of the United States. The glass and gold Louis XIV chandelier shed a feeble light over expectant faces. They sensed that an important event was in the making.

Green's letter of resignation was read. Tears came to the eyes of almost every senator -- except the little old man from Rhode Island.

Senators Langer of North Dakota and Aiken of Vermont, both Republicans, protested that Green could not resign. They asked for a vote. Republicans were just as virogous as Democrats. The chairman demurred, finally said he would not stay in the room while the vote was taken. He stepped outside.

A resolution not to accept Green's resignation was passed, 14 to 0.

"Gentlemen," he said as he returned to the committee room, "I appreciate your confidence, but it isn't your decision. I have made my decision and my resignation is hereby accepted."

Senator Green then made one of the most inspiring, touching speeches those around the venerable table had ever heard. It was stirring in its words, eloquent in its simplicity.

Then he stepped down from the chairmanship to a place alongside other senators. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas became chairman.

Ku Klux Klan Rides Again As House Probers Prepare New Hearings to Write Anti-KKK Laws

Washington, D. C. -- This is spring, and in the night the hooded cross burners ride again in fast cars, communicate with walkie-talkies, desecrate their children by thrusting them into Ku Klux Klan meadowland gatherings.

In the cities there are factory cell units; small shop organizers; district membership stewards and muscled men terrorizing small businessmen.

Despite the intense hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, despite the testimony of 192 witnesses, despite 36 full days of cross-examination which filled 4,300 pages, the Klan has lost no members, nor its nerve, nor its plans for action.

It still has the capacity to strike with dynamite or oiled rags.

Of all this the FBI has ample evidence, for it still has considerable manpower infiltrating the scores of KKK overt and "cover" units.

The Klan's potential for damage still is powerful, according to federal and private agencies. Only tough, loophole-less laws can halt it.

Soon an attempt to write such federal statutes will be made. This should occur within a month when Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-L. A., recovers from an illness and calls the group into legislative hearing sessions.

Perhaps some time will have to elapse until the Committee's chief investigator, Don Appel, recovers from a heart attack into which he worked himself during the constant year-long probe and public hearings.

But sometime in June the hearings will start a search for the law which can pull the hoods from the night riders, literally and figuratively.

Most probable proposal will be an act which will hit at the KKK's assualt on individual civil liberties. This statute will be at least three-pronged, it is suggested.

First: The bill would have to hit at the KKK oath.

A statute will have to be written which will deny any group the right to take an oath pledging any man or woman to refrain from informing the duly constituted authorities of knowledge of a committed crime.

Such an oath would make the pledgees participants, or accomplices, or co-conspirators in any illegal act. Thus, if such a bill is passed, the KKK oath would be wiped out.

Second: Efforts will be made to restrict the use of special radio wave lengths.

This is a reference to the citizen band radios which many Kluxers have installed in their cars and offices. Thus, the KKK men can tune in on police wave lengths and know where the cops are -- and how they can be avoided.

Part of this statute will deal with control and use of walkie-talkie, handy gadgets to have for hit-and-run, cross-burning or dynamiting conspiracies.

Third: There will be a registration section.

This would hit at the KKK front societies, the chowder lunch club, the hunting and fishing "covers" for Klaverns.

All Klan units would have to register their members, property, financial records and other vital facts, especially if the Klaverns, etc., operate under official charters.

This bill is in the writing. At the moment there is only one completed proposal before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

It was written and presented for committee discussion by Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, Ga. His proposed act hits at three subversive forces: the Communists, the KKK and the Mafia.

The Weltner proposal would hit at any organization designed to overthrow or seize the government; any organization "which employs intimidation or violence for purpose of depriving citizens of constitutional rights"; any organization "whose purpose is to plan continued and consistent execution of acts which violate the criminal statutes of the U. S."

Mr. Weltner would replace the current Subversive Activities Control Board with a Criminal Conspiracies Control Board. This could cite organizations which commit crimes on the political, social and economic fronts. They could be enjoined from further existence and punished if they reject the action of a civil court.

Whichever bill it will be, this is the season for it.

On April 30 the KKK ran a night rally in Greensboro, N. C. Some 500 people (with children) turned out. There have been other such demonstrations.

Terror still stalks the night.

Golf Notes

What can you do with 54 lady golfers and 3.17 inch rain?

The local club was the scene on Tuesday of the first of the summer play days of golf.

Visitors from Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville, Cape Girardeau, Kimbeland and Blytheville were invited.

Believe it or not, many came in spite of the rain. Various card games and a word game provided some entertainment while everyone vainly hoped the water would go away.

Mrs. Henrietta Ferrell, a member of the local club, along with Mrs. Martha Bumpons of Paducah, put on a wig demonstration which was enjoyed very much. Several of the ladies served as models of the fine wigs. The explanation of the making of wigs and their care was very interesting.

After a hurried cloak room conference by some club officers, some draw prizes were awarded to the out-of-town visitors.

Mrs. Linda Metheney of Kimbeland won a golf glove. Marie Breeden of Poplar Bluff was awarded a golf tote bag. Pauline Vrigin of Cape J.C. won a golf towel and Kay Inman of Caruthersville received a putting pal.

The prizes were awarded during lunch and after that a few brave souls played a few holes of golf.

Entry fees for the Tri-State event were collected. They must be paid before June 1. The date of the tournament is June 15 at the Sikeston Country Club.

Cubs Defeat Cards

Pitchers Al Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Chuck Dobson of the Kansas City Athletics deserve something better than they received Tuesday night.

Both hurlers suffer from the same malady --lack of support.

Jackson gave up only four hits in eight innings, but lost to the Chicago Cubs, 2-0.

Dobson worked 6 2-3 innings and held the Washington Senators to four hits, but wasn't the pitcher of record as Don Lock slammed an two-out two-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Senators a 3-1 victory.

Jackson stretched his consecutive scoreless innings pitched to 26 before the Cubs scored in the sixth on a double and two fly balls. Glenn Beckert singled home Don Kessinger with Chicago's other run in the next inning.

The Cardinals made an attempt to score in the ninth as Mike Shannon led off with a double and Curt Flood sent him to third with a single. But Ted Abernathy came on in relief, struck out Orlando Cepeda and got Tim McCarver to hit into a game-ending double play.

Kansas City reliever John Wyatt was the victim of Lock's winning blast. Wyatt walked Dick Nen to lead off the ninth, but struck out the next two batters before Lock teed off against the righthanded fastballer.

Kansas scored its run in the sixth on Ken Harrelson's homer off Washington starter Phil Ortega.

Righthander Red Talbot 1-4, will pitch tonight against former teammate Diego Segui 1-2, in Washington.

Lefthander Ken Holtzman 1-3, will be on the mound for Chicago, facing Cardinal righthander Nelson Briles 0-2, in St. Louis tonight.

Golf Exhibition To Be Presented Prior To LA-Card Game

Marilynn Smith, whose one-time ambition was to pitch for the Cardinals, will present a golfing exhibition prior to the St. Louis - Los Angeles baseball game at new Busch Memorial Stadium next Wednesday (June 1).

Now one of the most well-known lady golf professionals, Miss Smith, finally gets an opportunity "to appear" with the Redbirds. The pre - game exhibition begins at 7:40 p.m.

A native of Topeka, Kansas, Miss Smith's golfing ability and sparkling personality have taken her to New Zealand, Hawaii, Europe, South America and all over the United States. Her finest year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association Tour was 1963, when she finished third in money winnings and Vare Trophy Standings. That year she won four events and also was named Most Improved Professional.

Miss Smith, who took up golf in 1941 at the urging of her father, managed, coached and pitched for a boy's baseball team from the time she was six until she was 11. Her father, who felt baseball was not a feminine enough sport, persuaded her to take up golf.

Last year, Miss Smith competed in 28 official events, winning one of them and collecting a total of $16,692 officially. The blue - eyed blonde posted an average of 73.69 strokes per 18 holes in 93 official rounds.

As an amateur, Miss Smith won the Wichita City Championship in 1946, the Kansas State Championship in 1946, and 1948 and the National Intercollegiate in 1949. Professionally, she has won 14 LPGA events and been co - winner in one.

Miss Smith served as President of the LPGA for three years, in 1958, 1959 and 1960. She was treasurer in 1963 and served as secretary in 1957, a position to which she was re-named in 1965.

After attending East High School in Wichita, Miss Smith spent two years at the University of Kansas. There, she was president of her sophomore class and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Clay Touring Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt AP - Cassius Clay, who made a last minute decision against returning to the United States, began a five-day tour of Egypt today.

"Here I feel at home, here among my Moslem brothers," Clay told a huge, wildly enthusiastic crowd that turned out to meet him in the early morning hours at Cairo's Tarmac Airport.

Clay is a convert to the Black Muslims, which adheres to the Islamic religion, and prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali. He accepted the invitation from Egypt's United Arab Republic Higher Council for Islamic Affairs.

The invitation and acceptance came only a few hours before Clay was to board an airliner for his return to the United States after the successful defense of his world heavyweight championship against Henry Cooper in London last Saturday.

Clay's immediate plans are for a rest and a visit to several points of interest including the Aswan High Dam.

His more long-range plans may include Karl Mildenberger, the European champion from West Germany.

He dropped a couple of hints at the London airport that Mildenberger may be his next opponent, and stopped off in Frankfurt en route to Cairo and had an airport meeting with the handsome, dark-haired German.

Fairly Homers In Eighth For 3-2 Dodger Victory

By DICK COUCH
Asscoiated Press Sports Writer

Mr. Clutch has shifted gears again and the Los Aneles Dodgers are driving.

Ron Fairly, the Dodgers' unsung delivery man, rapped an eighth inning home run Tuesday night that made the difference in a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, the fifth victory in the last six games for the world champions.

Farily has hit four of his five 1966 homers in his last five games, helping the Dodgers stay within range of first-place San Francisco in the National League race.

Three weeks ago, however, the versatile red-head was struggling to brake a batting skid while the Dodgers, after dropping three straight to the Giants, were at a standstill.

Farily, a .270 lifetime hitter, had gone 4-for-36 and was hitting a miserable .203.

Since then, he's rolled at a .400 clip, lifting his average to .290, and driven in 11 runs for a team-leading total of 20. The 27-year-old outfielder paced the club with 70 RBI last season and hit a solid .274.

Tuesday night's homer sent LA in front 3-1 but turned out to be the winning blow when the Phils scored in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Perranoski, who came on for winner Don Sutton in the eighth, had not allowed a run in his previous 11 appearances.

Elsewhere, the Giants whipped Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati blasted Atlanta 8-2, Houston beat New York 5-3 and Chicago blanked St. Louis 2-0.

Cleveland and Detroit split an American League doubleheader, the Tigers taking the first game 7-6 and the Indians the nightcap 2-0, while Baltimore trimmed Chicago 6-4, California stopped New York 4-2, Boston buried Minnesota 11-2 and Washington edged Kansas City 2-1.

A seventh-inning single by pitcher Gaylord Perry touched off the Giants' winning three-run rally against Pittsburgh. Tom Haller singled in the first run, Willie Mays delivered the second with a sacrifice fly and Willie McCovey capped the rally with his fifth homer. Mays' RBI was his first since May 13.

The Reds struck for seven runs in the sixth inning and put away Atlanta behind the six-hit pitching of winner Joey Jay, 5-2, and Bill McCool.

Tommy Helms, who cracked four hits for the night, triggered the big inning with a single and finished it off with a run-scoring single. Don Pavletich singled in two runs and John Edwards doubled across two more as the Reds sent 11 men to the plate and collected half of their 16 hits in the sixth.

The Astros scored four runs in the first inning--three on Jim Gentile's bases-loaded double-and held off the Mets on Claude Raymond's one-hit relief pitching over the last 5 1-3 innings. Rusty Staub knocked in the other Houston runs with a double and single.

Glenn Beckert doubled in the sixth inning at St. Louis, and scored on Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly, then drove in the Cubs' second run with a seventh inning single.

Ted Abernathy bailed Bill Hands out of a ninth inning jam, preserving the rookie's fourth victory.

Rain Hampers Park Project

JEFFERSON CITY -- The extremely wet weather we are having is going to delay some of the construction projects beyond the anticipated completion date. It all started in February with the big floods along the Current, Jack's Fork and the St. Francis Rivers, causing thousands of dollars of damage in Big Spring, Alley Spring, Montauk and Sam A. Baker State Parks. Damage also occurred in Meramec state Park by the flooding of the Meramec River, in Washington State Park by Big River, and in Bennett Spring State Park from the spring branch and the Niangua River. Much time by park personnel was devoted to the cleanup and repairs of the flooded parks.

Some of these parks have had three more damaging floods, none of which were as severe as the first.

The continued rain has hampered all projects calling for excavation, such as trenching for water and sewer lines, foundations for buildings, and road construction.

Mr. Lee C. Fine, Director of Parks, said that although it was discouraging to park employees not to have their spring projects ready, every effort would be made to have as many of these new improvements completed at the earliest possible date. We hope this will be by May 28.

Looking at the brighter side, all of the parks have taken on an added beauty because of the rain. The wild flowers in the parks seem to be more abundant, the trees have added foliage, the open areas are covered with a thick carpet of grass, and all of the beautiful Ozark springs are still clear and cool although they are flowing more than normal.

"I guess we can't have everything," Mr. Fine said.

Landing Strip Repaired

VAN BUREN -- The landing strip in Big Spring State Park has been repaired since the spring floods and is now being used.

Our first fly - in campers visited the park last week. A St. Louis family of five, a father, mother and three children, flew in on Friday evening, camped overnight and left the next day at noon.

Shortly after they took off another plane landed with two young men campers. They pitched their tent in the campground near the landing strip, spent the night and later the next day departed.

This type of camping is also gaining in popularity, and we expect many more before the summer season is over.

Rodeo Prize Money Nears Million Mark

DENVER -- Pro rodeo's 1966 prize money graph neared $1 million Monday after three major cowboy conflicts ended concurrently in Las Vegas, Nev., Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Ore.

The trio of rodeos paid out $39,000 to 106 contestants, of a total 430 entries, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here, pushing payoff for the first five months of the year to $929,606.

Prize money figures for mid-May, 1965, were $836,410, the R. C. A. added. The cowboy sport's overall dollar distribution last year hit $3,568,410.

Steer wrestling competition at Las Vegas produced the week's individual top money winner in John W. Jones, 33, San Luis Obispo, Calif., with $1,110.

Only serious arena injury reported was to veteran Buster Quillan, Rochester, Wash., who underwent surgery for multiple fractures of the thigh bone after being trampled during bull riding competition in the Portland arena.

Attending physicians said Quillan would be in traction for two months.

In other rodeo action over the weekend Paul Mayo, 24, Grinnell, Ia., pasted $828 to his national lead in bareback bronc riding; Bill Smith, 25, Cody, Wyo., earned $311 in saddle bronc riding to further his bid for the 1966 crown in that event, and leading money winner, Dean Oliver, 36, Boise, Ida., broke a 7-week slump by snaring $431 in calf roping.

Oliver, aiming for his fourth all - around championship in a row, boosted his seasonal take to $15,518.

Seven Rookies Enter Indianapolis 500

By PAUL PETROTTA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. AP -- Seven rookies drivers - considered veterans outside Indianapolis--will crack the big time in the 50th 500-mile classic May 30.

"You're nobody until you've run this joint," said Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa. "It really makes you a somebody."

The last time a rookie hit the winner's circle at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was 1927 when George Souders of Lafayette, Ind., piloted a Duesenberg at 97-plus miles per hour.

Two first-timers this season. Graham Hill of London and Jackie Stewart of Dunbarton, Scotland, are leading drivers on the World Grand Prix circuit.

Besides these and Kenyon, the rookies are Gary Congdon, Garden Grove, Calif.; Cal Yarborough, Charlotte, N.C.; Carl Williams, Kansas City, Mo., and Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio.

Stewart, 26, is the hottest driver on the international circuit. Last Sunday he won the season's first Grand Prix race at Monaco and during the first three months of 1966 he won four of eight events to capture the Tasman Championship to Australia and New Zealand.

Stewart, who drives a Lola-Ford, lives 100 miles from Scot Jimmy Clark, who captured the 1965 world road racing crown and is the defending champion at Indianapolis.

Hill, 36, earned the Grand Prix title in 1962 and since has placed second three straight years. The veteran, who started as a mechanic and free lance driver, also will pilot a Lola-Ford in the 500.

Kenyon was burned badly and lost his left hand in a crash at Langhorne, Pa., last June. He missed the rest of the season, but this year his qualification speed of 158.555 m.p.h. put him in the sixth of 11 starting rows.

Kenyon feels the only way his Gerhardt-Offenhauser can win at Indianapolis is "to try to out-last the Fords." Next to Kenyon will be Congdon in a Huffaker-Offenhauser.

Williams spun his Garhardt-Ford three times before he finally qualified the car last Saturday. He was unhurt.

Yarborough is better known on the stock car circuit where he was runner-up last February in the Daytona 500. He drove his Vollstedt-Ford to a four-lap qualifying average of 159.794 m.p.h. at Indianapolis.

Dickson was the last to make this year's 500 field. He did it with his Halibrand-Ford in the final hour last Sunday.

The Speedway's regular rookie crop has produced several stars-including this year's pole position winner, Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.

Andretti was Rookie of the Year last May for a third place in the 500 and he finished the season as the U.S. Auto Club national champion.

At Indianapolis this month, he has been the pace-setter, pushing his Brabham-Brawner-Ford to the official Speedway records of 165.899 n.p.h. for four laps and 166.328 for one lap.

His car refashioner, Clint Brawner of Phoeniz, Ariz., was honored Tuesday night as the top mechanic at Indianapolis.

Jimmy Clark, who will start next to Andretti in the front row, placed second his first year in 1963 and last year won the 500 laurels easily.

Cash Homers For 7-6 Tiger Victory

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Everythins is perfect-good defense, good hitting and good pitching."

Sounds like the manager of one of baseball's upper-echelon teams, right?

Actually, those are the words of Billy Herman, whose Boston Red Sox are only 1 1/2 games and four days removed for the American League cellar.

But Herman's Red Sox are streaking. They stormed to their sixth straight victory Tuesday night, crushing the Minnesota Twins 11-2 with a 16-hit barrage that included homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Gosger and Tony Conigliaro, plus four doubles.

In addition to the lusty hitting, Boston had the good pitching, by Jose Santiago and Dick Radatz, and the good defense, a zero in the error column.

At the other end of the ladder, front-running Cleveland and second-place Detroit split a doubleheader Tuesday night. The Tigers won the opener 7-6 on Don Wert's eighth-inning single, while the Indians took the second game 2-0 as Luis Tiant pitched his fourth shutout of the year.

Also in the AL-California beat the Yankees 4-2 with a four-run fifth inning, Baltimore downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4 behind the key hitting of Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell, and Don Lock's two-run pinch homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth lifted Washington over the Athletics 2-1.

Tiant, whose four victories have all been shutouts, blanked the Tigers on four hits in the second game at Detroit. Chuck Hinton singled across an unearned run against loser Hank Aguirre in the fifth and Leon Wagner homered for Cleveland's second run in the eighth.

The Tigers, down 5-0 in the opener, came back and eventually settled it in the eighth when Wert singled in Ray Oyler. Norm Cash hit two homers for Detroit and Jim Northrup one. Rocky Colavito, Duke Sims and Fred Whitefield homered for Cleveland.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded double climaxed the Angels' winning rally against the Yanks. Trailing 2-0 going into the fifth, California got its four runs off rookie reliever Dooley Womack on a walk, Womack's error, Willie Smith's pinch double, a fielder's choice and Adcock's two-run hit.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a single, while Powell's single sent across Baltimore's clinching run against the drooping White Sox, who've lost eight of their last nine.

Lock pulled it out for the Senators with his clutch homer off Kansas City reliever John Wyatt.

Washington, limited to four hits by Chuck Dobson and Wyatt through eight innings, got a lift when Dick Nen led off the last of the ninth with a walk. Wyatt struck out the next two Senators, but Lock then banged his homer into the bullpen in left field.

Maurycy Leads Qualifying Rounds Of Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. AP --The worm may have turned Tuesday for John Maurycy, a New York golfer who is a first year member of the PGA tour.

The 28-year-old Schenectady linkster, who plays out of Smithtown on Long Island, paced the qualifying for the $57,000 Oklahoma City Open with a par 71.

Maurycy was trailed by Dale Douglass of Oklahoma City and Sonny Methvin, an ex-Louisiana State star, who had 72s.

Maurycy has played in fewer than a dozen PGA tournaments and is in his sixth year as a professional.

"I didn't hit any good or bad shots today, just mediocre ones," Maurycy said.

He could be forgiven for his lack of optimism since he has not made the cut in any tournament thus far.

A field of 66 battled for 58 places in the tourney, which opens Thursday. Eighty-eight members of the 144 man field were exempt from qualifying.

Pro-amateur play today takes up the slack prior to the start of the tournament. Pros will be shooting for $3,500 at the Quail Creek Country Club.

Among the top-name players in the 72-hole meet are Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Jack Rule Jr., the defending champion. Gene Littler withdrew because of a throat infection.

Poland's Partition

The first partition of Poland occurred in 1772. The Prussian, Russian and Austrian governments took advantage of the existing unrest and arranged for a partition of that country and the annexation of some of its territory.

Washington Report

Sen. Stuart Symington

There are many significant issues confronting us but none of more critical importance than that of nuclear proliferation. The unanimity with which the Senate spoke on this problem last week serves to support the President in his efforts to negotiate agreements limiting the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Senate unanimously passed a resolution, which I co-sponsored, that commends the President's efforts and supports whatever is considered appropriate and necessary in the interest of possible solution to this vital nuclear proliferation problem.

Dr. Elmer Ellis was in Washington this past week as the guest of honor at a luncheon held by the University of Missouri Alumni Association of Washington. Judge James Finch of the Missouri Supreme Court, who served on the Board of Curators during that period of great expansion under Dr. Ellis, was also present for the occasion. Dr. Ellis will retire as President this summer but will continue to serve the University as he has so admirably for many years.

As the boating season arrives, we are reminded of the precautions as well as the pleasures of water sports. It is surprising to learn from a recent estimate that 50% of all Americans cannot swim over 50 feet.

The U. S. Coast Guard survey shows that in 1965 Missouri had 59,725 boats, about 1.4% of the national total of 4.1 million. During that year only 60 vessels were involved in accidents in our state with 21 fatalities. This is well below the national average.

Most of these accidents resulted from collisions with other vessels, in turn caused principally by failure to maintain a proper lookout. For this reason, education courses on boating safety given by the Coast Guard Auxiliary merit the attention of boat operators.

This past week the Senate gave its advice and consent to new international machinery for settling investment disputes that arise between private foreign investors and governments -- another hopeful step towards achieving a body of international law for settling controversies. The Senate having given this consent, the United States is now the sixth country to ratify the Convention on the Settlement of Investment Disputes between States and Nationals of Other States.

That Convention is designed to improve the international investment climate, and also to stimulate the flow of private investment capital to less developed countries. Use of the machinery, however, is entirely voluntary unless there is a previous written agreement by either the private investor or the sovereign government.

Congress has taken a major step toward the eventual solution of the boxcar shortages by clearing for Presidential signature last week a bill amending the Interstate Commerce Act.

This bill, which I also cosponsored, authorizes the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish rental rates on freight cars that would provide an incentive for the building of additional freight cars. When signed by the President and implemented by the ICC, the measure is designed to provide a long-range solution by increasing the total supply of freight cars.

Meanwhile, the ICC gives assurance that it will utilize its emergency powers to alleviate boxcar shortages which occur during peak harvest seasons.

Today a housewife has a choice of 8900 items in the average supermarket, as compared to 1500 offered just 20 years ago. The great increase in variety has brought with it problems of packaging and labeling, as a shopper often relies on these two aspects to determine the contents of a package.

This week the Senate plans to begin consideration of a measure dealing with problems of consumers and manufacturers. The Fair Packaging and Labeling Act has been the subject of many hearings in the Committee on Commerce. That Committee has now reported the legislation to the Senate.

Coincidental Contest Winner

ALPENA, Mich. AP -- Mayor Walter Weinkauf was drawing a name from 3,000 entries in a contest Tuesday when a photographer looked up from his camera and said:

"See that you pull out a poor family with eight or nine kids."

Winkauf drew the name of Marie Deno.

Mrs. Deno not only is the mother of nine, but she is the wife of the man with the camera, Eugene Skeets Deno, general news editor of The Alpena News.

The prize: a free, five-minute shopping spree by the family in a supermarket.

Mrs. Deno quoted her husband as telling the mayor before the contest drawing, "We could clean the store out with my family. Why don't you pull out mine?"

Should Greek be made the official language for tire-buying day?

We're agin it.

Simple English gets our vote.

Sure, B.F.Goodrich dealers can expound on cord angles, high-hysteresis rubber compounds and kerf depths.

Mostly though, they give you straight talk on finding the right tire for your kind of driving.

And they've got a pocket-size device to aid their eloquence: the BFG Tire Value Calculator.

You tell it how much you drive... where and when... how fast. Then it tells you which BFG tire will suit you best, cost you least. (Maybe as little as $10.95.)

We figure you're interested in what a tire will do for you. Not in how it does it.

That's straight talk—the kind of language you can translate into savings.

The straight-talk tire people. B.F.Goodrich

Individual Freedom And The Common Defence

by Walter Millis

THE BUILDING OF THE DEFENSES

A brief summary of the process may better indicate its significance. From 1938 onward the Dies Committee devoted its main efforts to exposing Communists, or supposed Communists and Communist sympathizers, in the Federal government. The first echo of the Alien Acts came later in the same year, when the McCormack Act decreed that anyone who served as an agent of a foreign principal must register with the Secretary of State. In 1939 the Hatch Act (originally adopted to debar Federal employees from partisan political activity) was amended to forbid government workers belonging to any organization "which advocates the overthrow of our constitutional form of government." In the same year a proviso was added to the Emergency Relief Act forbidding the payment of relief to any one advocating violent overthrow. It was the first of the riders which were subsequently added to every appropriation bill, forbidding the use of the funds to pay those advocating violent overthrow and making it a felony for such persons to accept such wages or salaries. Since the '40's it has thus in effect been unlawful for a Communist or pro-Communist to have a place on the Federal payroll.

Tensions already high were greatly increased with the outbreak of war in Europe in September 1939, as a result of a temporary alliance between the Soviet and the Nazi dictatorships. Our first explicit peacetime sedition act in nearly a century and a half came with the Smith Act of 1940. True to its prototypes, it was actually both an alien and a sedition act. It provided for the registration and fingerprinting of all aliens; it decreed the deportation of any alien who at any time after entering the country had advocated violent overthrow of the government. These clauses, seemingly in direct violation of the Constitutional guarantees of free speech and assembly, were not to meet ultimate court test for another eight years -- partly because the Attorneys General of the time were reluctant to use them, mainly because, after June 1941, the Communists were aligned with the democracies, while after Pearl Harbor any Nazi seditions would have been only absurd. But the Smith Act represented a foundation stone in the great defenses against sedition which were to be erected with the reviving tensions of the cold war after 1945.

Consumer Quiz

Today's food shopper faces a wide choice of similar products, and a wide range of decisions to make each time she walks into the supermarket.

If you are on a budget, or should be, and consider yourself well-endowed with common sense, take this quiz to see just how wise a shopper you really are.

1. The least expensive cuts of beef come from which part of the carcass? Round -- Loin -- Chuck -- Rib.

2. Your store is selling a dozen Grade A Large eggs for 56¢ and a dozen Grade A Medium eggs for 47¢. Which is the better buy in terms of getting the most egg for your money?

3. Which of the following is the best preparation for your regular food shopping spree? Make out a list and buy only what is on it; check the ads to see what and where the best buys are; walk around the store and buy whatever appeals to you; don't keep a regular pattern of shopping.

4. Your market is having a sale on ground round at 89¢ a pound. The store also sells ground chuck at 59¢ a pound and plain ground beef at 39¢ a pound. You'd like to stock up on chopped beef for meat loaf, spaghetti sauce, and chili. The best buy in terms of nutrition is?

5. The best way to store chicken in your refrigerator is: Leave it in the original wrapping; remove the original wrapping, then cover loosely with waxed paper; remove the giblets and store uncovered.

ANSWERS:

1. Chuck.

2. Grade A Medium eggs are the better buy. A rough rule to thumb to judge egg prices on the spot is this: Take either one-eighth or seven cents from the price of large eggs to arrive at the equal cost of Medium eggs. Medium eggs of the same grade category below this price are a better buy.

3. The best snswer is to check to ads to see what and where the best buys are. Supermarkets often buy up large quantities of meat or other products to sell them at specials. This is to attract customers to the store, but specials can also work to your advantage. Food ads also tell you what products are the best buys and most plentiful that week.

4. Ordinary ground beef is fine for these uses. Ground chuck is recommended when you want hamburgers for the small fry, ground round is used on special occasions.

5. Remove the original wrappings, cover loosely with waxed paper. Poultry, like other raw meats, is very perishable and should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The store wrappings should always be removed or punctured, and the poultry should be loosely wrapped. Also, you should remove the giblets and store separately since they will spoil more rapidly than the rest of the bird.

If you had all of them right, or only one wrong, chances are you've had a lot of experience in shopping for food, and you probably already have copies of U.S. Department of Agriculture's marketing bulletins.

If you had two wrong, you have a lot of common sense, but wouldn't it help to take advantage of some of these shopping tips?

If you had more than two wrong, with a little experience in developing your common sense, and a little help from USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, you're sure to improve.

For more information on these questions and answers to others like them, write for Marketing Bulletin No. 15, "U. S. Grades for Beef," and Leaflet No. 442, "How to Buy Eggs . ." from the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Springfield Man Charged With Manslaugher

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. AP 00 A manslaughter charge was filed against Charles Joseph Dando, Springfield, Tuesday in connection with the traffic death of Norman R. Barg of Chicago.

The charge was filed by the Greene County prosecutor's office after a coroner's jury ruled Monday that Barg, 32, died as the result of an accident in which Dando was driving on the wrong side of the road at excessive speed and under the influence of intoxicants.

The accident occurred May 11 on U. S. 65 a mile north of Springfield.

St. Ferdinands Church Damaged

ST. LOUIS AP -- Historic old St. Ferdinand's Shrine Church, the first Catholic church in St. Louis, was damaged heavily Tuesday night by a fire that also damaged priceless relics and art objects.

The church was established in 1792 in what is now suburban Florissant.

A passerby discovered the blaze after noticing smoke coming from the attic of an adjoining rectory. Firemen extinguished the fire within two hours.

Police said that they were told that lightning struck near the building Monday night and that it was possible it touched off the fire that smouldered several hours.

Dr. William R. Lewis, a former art instructor at St. Louis University, directed firemen in removing three paintings that he said may be valued at several thousand dollars each. Lewis said that, according to legend the paintings were a gift of the King of France when the church was built.

The church is no longer used for services.

Creer, commander of the 823rd Air Division, Homestead AFB, Fla., will replace Brig. Gen. Richard N. Ellis at Whiteman. Ellis will become director, personnel and support operations, Headquarters Air Force Logistics Command, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Morehouse, Mo.

To the Editor:

We are in danger of forgetting the society which made this country what it is today; we are in danger of ignoring what lies at the end of the new road we have traversed as a nation and a people, which is indicated by the unlimited use of government power and the dominance of the collective group over the individual in nearly all avenues of life.

By contrast, our country and its economic achievement, which is the wonder of the world, were built by freedom and the free-enterprise system.

Nearly everybody has heard the glib and phony arguments to justify change: That modern society is too complex to tolerate much freedom, that our Constitution is obsolete, that our future must now be planned by bureaucrats, that minority collectives require aid.

The fact remains that the tremendous success story of this great nation happened without controls or collectivism.

We have attained the highest living standard in the world; we have become the most efficient producers; and we made our land rich far beyond the most fantastic dreams of bygone days.

This cannot be explained by the blessings of nature or by stimulations through bureaucratic action. Other countries equally blessed by nature, notably Russia, have lagged far behind us, and the most energetic programs of governments having total power have not enabled the peoples of these lands to overtake or significantly gain on us. Liberty is the secret. Foreign ideologies have no place in our land.

Two Men Killed In Truck Crash

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. AP -- A tractor-trailer truck ran off Interstate 44 eight miles west of Springfield Tuesday, smashed into a rock embankment and killed two men in the truck.

Police said a right front tire apparently blew out, causing the truck to swerve off the road.

Clyde McCoy Harper, 40, Los Angeles, Calif., and Frankie Earl Robinson, 34, Longview, Tex., were killed. Nona Mae Harper, 31, wife of the driver, was injured and is in serious condition at a Springfield hospital.

The cherry-laden truck was enroute from LOS Angeles to Chicago.

Police To Be Courteous

BALTIMORE, Md. AP -- Acting Police Commissioner George M. Gelston has told his men to be courteous and avoid racial or ethnic references in addressing the public, or turn in their badges.

Gelston passed the word in a general order Tuesday saying "the dignity and professional status" of the police department is at stake.

"All citizens will be addressed by the appropriate title of Mr., Mrs. or Miss, and . . . no epithets will be used," he said.

"Any member of the department who feels he cannot abide by the above should submit his resignation," Gelston added.

Boal Dies In Paris

WASHINGTON AP -- Pierre Lagarde Boal, former U. S. ambassador to Bolivia and Nicaragua, died Tuesday in a Paris hospital of a stroke suffered about a week ago, it was reported here today.

Boal, 70, was a career Foreign Service officer. He had served in U. S. embassies in Yugoslavia, Poland, Switzerland, Peru, Canada, Mexico, Bolivia and Nicaragua, as well as serving tours of duty at the State Department here.

He had homes in Boalsburg, Pa., and Thonon-les-Baine, France. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Blair Lee, Silver Springs, Md.

TB Victims Back Home

DETROIT AP -- Most of the 20 youngsters who contracted tuberculosis in their suburban nursery school last fall are back home.

Maybury branch of Detroit General Hospital reports all but five have left the sanitorium, and Dr. John Romanik said four of those are scheduled for release this week.

"The bulk of them went home since May 7," he said. "They are medically discharged with our approval. These children represent absolutely no danger to the community."

The first TB case at the nursery in Garden City was discovered last December.

In general, Dr. Romanik said, the children will not have to stay at home after their release. He said the children must nap daily and should not be allowed to become exhausted.

SENIOR DAVID BURNS ACCEPTS the coveted American Legion Award for outstanding athlete from Coach William R. Sapp. The award was made in Wednesday's honor assembly.

Exercises Scheduled For Friday

Commencement exercises fo the graduating class of Sikeston high school are scheduled for Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening. The Rev. James Smith, former pastor of the First Assembly of God church in Sikeston, addressed the students.

Four members of the senior class will speak to the assembly at commencement exercises. They are Kay Walton, Phil Barkett, Mike Hopkins, and Carol Werneck.

Theme for the speeches is "May Our Hearts Be" thoughtful, thankful, truthful, and tireless. All speakers selected this to be the theme for the evening.

Judy Matthews will give the invocation and Eugene Hitt will present the benediction. Martha Bess, Mike Guess, and Gary Williams will introduce the various officials for the exercises.

Senior class president Deidre Harber will preside over the commencement exercises.

Speakers and other seniors participating in the exercises were chosen by a panel of teachers and the senior class president. Those trying out for speakers' parts presented an appropriate two-minute speech for the group.

Practice for commencement is scheduled for Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Immediately after graduation ceremonies, seniors will depart for the annual senior party at Paducah this year.

Orchestra, Bands, Choirs In Music Review

Five musical groups of Sikeston high school participated in the Spring Music Review Friday night on the outdoor stage of Sikeston high school.

Orchestra, directed by Richard Powell; early and late division bands, directed by Keith Collins; two mixed choruses in mass and the concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, performed.

Each group performed a proportionate amount of time, the complete program lasting approximately one and one-half hour.

Grand finale included the participating groups in the moving "March of Freedom."

Orchestra played "El Relicario," "The Way You Look Tonight," and "Ballet Parisien."

Numbers played by the 7:30 band were "Rockin' Rhythm,", "Gloria, the Trumpets," and "Music Man."

Late division band played "Second American Fold Rhapsody," "Saints in Concert," and "Selections from Rodgers and Hart."

Selections for the concert choir were "My God Is One God," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Tico-Tico." Judy Matthews accompanied the group.

Mass mixed choruses sang a group of folk songs. These were "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain," "Green Grow The Lilacs," "John Henry," "This Old Hammer," "My Home's In Montana," "My State Is My Home," "The Drunken Sailor," and "Working On The Railroad." Group was accompanied by Becky Wagner.

Seniors Off To Paducah After Grad.

Hey, don't stand, sit down and save your legs for the senior party! This is a familiar cry among the '66'ers as they prepare for the greatest party yet -- the senior party.

After turning in their caps and gowns, the seniors will board the busses for the trip to Paducah. At the Cabana Club each student will be required to present a badge indicating that he has paid his car wash money.

Senior class will be served a meal "FIT FOR AN ALMIGHTY CLASS."

Guillotines, a band from Memphis State, will begin playing about 12:30.

Bowling will also be available during the night. Special surprises are in store for the lucky number holders, and an extra special surprise is being kept secret by Keith Collins and the parent-planning committee.

Chaperones will be on every bus, and tired, but happy seniors will return home about 7 o'clock a.m.

Money for the party was earned through a candy sale, car wash and Christmas dance. Dennis Ziegenhorn also donated a night of the SEMO A-Go-Go profits to the senior class. Total cost of the party will be about $2,200.

"I would like to say thanks to a great class for all the cooperation and help that you seniors gave the officers this year. This party should be one of the more memorable occasions of our senior year," said senior class president Deidre Harber.

Seniors Advise Underclassmen

THE FINAL DAYS OF 12 YEARS of education are slipping away, leaving only memories for the class of 1966, which now degenerates to statistics and names on an alumni list.

We, the Almighty class of '66, like to think of ourselves as a friendly class, only periodically yielding to the contagious disease known as "senioritis."

What have the seniors of '66 done for Sikeston high -- or have we merely gone through the routine of education without making any contributions?

We organized the first drama club back in the middle school, remember? This year the drama club presented two great productions.

We were the recipients of the first victory jug, one of the greatest boosters of school spirit, yet, not to mention the competition between classes for the coveted jug.

We initiated the Christmas A-Go-Go, which may become as traditional as the Red Pepper dance, finished the school sign, and saw the completion of the scoreboard in the cafetorium.

Yes, we have made some contributions to Sikeston high, but do we have to measure our greatness in terms of projects, new activities, or dances?

We feel that Sikeston high has, during the past few years, grown in more ways than area. School spirit has climbed tremendously and we hope it will remain long after we are gone. Remember the bonfires and pep rallies?

Many of the students of Sikeston fail to realize how lucky they are to be able to attend a school as fine as this. They complain that the school is "unfriendly," dull, or some radicals proclaim that it is infested with communists.

What can we say? Certainly our words will go unheeded to those below us. You underclassmen will go on with your head buried, convinced that you would rather be in another school system, or, better yet, out of school.

Take it from us, students, for we have learned only too late -- there is nothing like high school, and there is no high school as great as SIKESTON HIGH.

Several Seniors Famous

by Dianne Caskey

What will become of the 1966 Sikeston high school graduating class?

Barker photographers have devised a camera that shows pictures of the future. Let's take a look at the '66 seniors 40 years from now. The date is May 20, 2006.

"Vote for Deidre! Vote for Deidre, for your President!"

This time Deidre Harber is running for President of the United States.

"This meeting will now come to order."

Carol Werneck never gave up her post as Red Pepper Cayenne. She just could not bear it. There she stands in her gray sweater (it used to be black, but it has faded with age) with a gavel in her hand.

Gary Stallings is now manager of the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team. Under his management and former all-star pitching ability, the Cards have not lost a game in 36 years.

General Ron Spears, after graduating with highest honors at West Point and leading the Cadet football team for four years, served the United States valiantly for many years and is now the Army Chief of Staff in the Pentagon.

Mike Boardman is now the President of his own thriving architectural firm in New York. He is in charge of the World's Fair in London this year.

Old Judy Matthews is still playing the "Star Spangled Banner" on the piano at high school athletic events. She is having a little trouble with her arthritic fingers, however.

Carolyn Jean McCord is the Madame Curie of the genetic world. She is the discoverer of a whole new family of genes that carry gymnastic talents.

Terry Burke is the famed star of the "Terry Burke Country Cousin Folk Song Show." Terry is also a feature attraction at county fairs and hog-calling exhibitions.

Wayne Hulehan is the United States Ambassador to Japan. He takes photographs of Japanese beauty queens in his spare time (which is quite frequent.)

Many other '66 seniors went on to fame, but due to the poor quality of the future-viewing camera, that is all that is visible.

Secretarial Girls Design Booklets

Lana Dacus, Kathy Johnson, Karen Shipman, Gloria Phillips, and Emily Davenport designed the booklets which were presented to the seniors this past week.

Cover, designed by Lana Dacus, featured the letters SHS and the words 1966 with a picture of a diploma and cap. In the corner of the cover was a quotation from Robert Frost's poem, "Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening."

Inside was a list of the senior class officers, home room sponsors, a list of the members of the senior class, and a calendar.

Girls who did the work are enrolled in Miss Electa O'Hara's third, fourth hour secretarial training II class.

Booklets were distributed by Miss O'Hara's sixth, seventh hour class.

Salute To Seniors

This song was composed by the junior Red Peppers in honor of the SENIOR Red Peppers.

(to the tune of "Four Strong Winds")

Three short years they were with us,
'66 was their year
We'll remember all the good times that we shared.
But those good times are all gone,
And they're bound for movin' on,
Don't forget us when you have gone away.

You're the greatest class of Seniors
Sikeston High has ever known,
And the memory of you will never die.
Oh we wish that you might stay,
Just for one more day,
But you're Seniors now and you must go away.

Now you're here by our sides,
But tomorrow you'll be gone,
Yet the story of your class will live on.
No, we'll never forget,
The class that got their kicks,
66.

Seniors Complete High School Days

SENIORS !!!

Today, to many people, is just another day--Tuesday, May 24, 1966 -- but to you, it means a great deal more.

This day probably invokes mixed emotions into most of your minds because this is a day that you have been looking forward to for 12 years -- this is your last day of high school -- Tuesday, May 24, 1966.

There are, of course, many questions that could be listed at this time (What lies ahead . .) but only time can answer such questions.

Let us look at some things that time has let slip by so quickly.

Remember the football season? It started with a wet, wet night-- we defeated Chaffee; and it ended with the unforgettable victory over the Blytheville Chickasaws.

During basketball season, there were many games, but plenty of fun. Seniors won the victory jug six times during basketball season.

Spring sports brought excitement in many fields, especially baseball. Class of '66er's helped take the baseball team to state.

Senior rings, nights at the War Drum, parties, and even classroom discussions have all made 1966 a fabulous year.

Never forget that you are a member of the almighty class of '66, and always remember "the class that got its kicks" in good 'ole Sikeston High School!!

---------- Carol Werneck

Class Of '66 Remembers Yesteryears

by Mary Leible

People are always writing about how much seniors have to look forward to, but what is wrong with looking backward for a while.

Most of the SHS seniors were born in 1948 -- oh that lucky year!

Just a few short years later, the school system was blessed with a lively set of new first graders. How many times did those precious six year olds say, "Mommy, I don't want to go to school!" That same story is sometimes used as an excuse in high school.

After grade school, junior high became the nesting place for the children of 1948. Perhaps the freshman year was the most eventful. Who will ever forget the panic over culottes and the fear of being called into the office? Or how about that famous quote from that teacher everybody knows --- "now remember people, you're the cream of the crop!" Would you believe, sour cream?

Everybody detested his sophomore year. Girls were miserable as greenies and the boys were always sneaking behind the lockers to avoid humiliating push-ups.

Junior year was one that showed the tremendous school spirit of the class. Juniors won the victory jug, the new symbol for the peppiest class.

Then came the senior year--remember -- football games in Bel Air, the 10-foot tall Hymie, or the egg that Red Peppers called a basketball???

Graduating is great but who can forget all those wonderful things that befell the class to make it possible. Graduation would not be nearly as enjoyable if it weren't for the fond memories it brings back.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Wednesday, May 25, the 145th day of 1966. There are 220 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1787, the first regular session of the Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia and elected George Washington as its president.

On this date

In 1879, St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York was dedicated.

In 1903, the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad put into service the first third-rail electric railway.

In 1929, the first air mail from Lima, Peru, was delivered at New York City.

In 1957, the third tube of New York's Lincoln Tunnel, the first triple-tube traffic tunnel in the world, was opened to traffic.

Ten years ago -- The nation's air defense commander, Gen. Earl Partridge, told a Senate subcommittee that U. S. fighter planes could not fly high or fast enough to intercept the new Soviet intercontinental bomber.

Five years ago -- President John F. Kennedy asked Congress to approve programs designed to put a man on the moon before 1970, expand U. S. non-nuclear military strength and increase foreign aid.

One year ago -- A crisis developed in the South Viet Nam government when Chief of State Phan Khac Suu refused to sign a decree of Premier Phan Juy Quat which would have replaced four Cabinet ministers.

FIND SUNGLASSES ON TOP OF HEAD

NEW YORK -- Heard the latest gossip from the world of fashion? Headbands and sunglasses are goin' steady!

A big fashion favorite for the coming summer season combines a pair of sunglasses and a headband in one piece that eliminates the chance of misplacing your sunglasses when you don't need them and at the same time keeps your hair in place around the house or at the office.

This season the sunglasses are larger and more colorful, according to Anne Winfield, fashion coordinator for the F. W. Woolworth Company. Miss Winfield points out that whereas sunglasses used to be designed strictly as eye protectors they're now often bought as style accessories to match various summer outfits.

Most favored by Woolworth's younger set of shoppers are the extra-large "owl" circles that come in gay colors and even patterns such as checks and polkadots. Miss Winfield says these glasses, often referred to as "kook" styles, were inspired by current trends in so-called "pop art." She predicts they'll replace the recently popular "granny" glasses as fashion favorites.

AN ADDLED PENGUIN? Yes, but he's not confused about where his home will be. Your children will enjoy making up stories about what caused the befuddled expression on his face. The background is light blue felt, the waves are parakeet, and he is black and white "BONDEX". Just cut around the patterns and iron the pieces on the felt. So easy a child can do it. of the administration stand in Viet Nam -- led Dist. Atty. William Frye, a Johnson supporter, for the Democratic nomination to succeed Duncan.

In Florida, Burns had sought the Negro vote in the opening primary round but reversed his field in the runoff race. A check of heavily Negro precincts indicated High had won lopsided support there -- 8 to 1 in some cases.

Two years ago, Burns swamped the 5-foot-4 1/2 inch High by a 180,000 vote margin. This time High had 585,183 votes, Burns 498,955 with only one precinct out.

Claude Kirk Jr. of Jacksonville is the Republican nominee for governor of Florida. No modern-day Republican has won the office.

In advance of the Oregon balloting, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford told a reporter he senses a public mood that is likely to produce November votes against incumbent members of Congress.

Democrats outnumbered Republicans 293 to 139 in the House, so a bad year for reelection seeking congressmen could only mean a good year for the GOP.

Ford said mail and questions about Viet Nam are on the increase. "They run all the way from, 'Why don't we win the war?' to 'Why don't we get out,'" Ford said.

He said divisions over Viet Nam are damaging the Democratic party. "There are peace candidates running against some of our people," Ford said, "but they are Democrats. We don't face the situation the Democrats do of a number of incumbents opposed in their own party primaries on the Viet Nam issue."

He was treated at St. Francis Hospital and released.

Two Arrests

Two persons were arrested by police Tuesday.

Emory Martin, 307 Lillian Drive, was charged with not having an operators license.

Floyd Russell Robertson, route four, was charged with stealing over $50 and was turned over to Scott County authorities.

Long Teaching Service Honored

LILBOURN: Teachers of the Lilbourn high and elementary school and the Marston elementary school met in the local school's cafeteria last Friday to pay tribute to a retiring faculty member and to those persons who received service pins.

Mr. Ira Rubottom, sixth grade teacher in Lilbourn elementary, chose to retire at the end of the past term after serving the R-IV District for 30 years. In all, Mr. Rubottom has given 35 years to teaching young people.

Service pins were awarded to three teachers. Ed Robertson received a pin for 20 years service to the district; Ruby Tope was given a 25 year pin; and Mrs. Herman Snellings received a 10 year pin.

Three Lilbourn Teachers Leave

LILBOURN: Lilbourn's Methodist Church congregation held a potluck dinner last Sunday in the social room following regular church services to honor teachers and their families who are leaving Lilbourn this summer.

Those honored were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Long, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Flowers.

Mr. Robertson leaves the Lilbourn system after twenty years of service. He has accepted a position as vocational agriculture teacher in the Puxico system.

Mrs. Long has taught in the Lilbourn Elementary School for eight years. She has contracted to teach in the elementary school at Crystal City next year.

Mr. Flowers is leaving the teaching profession after nine years and will begin work for the Humble Oil and Refining Company. He and his family will move to Little Rock, Arkansas, shortly.

Three Shot In Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP -- A rocket scientist and two filling station attendants who had little in common in life were linked in death today by a foreign-made .25 caliber pistol.

Police believe the same weapon killed all three men execution-style with bullets in the brain. The pistol and the slayer remained unknown.

"I feel that it is the same man," said Detective Capt. Tom Sawyer. From ballistics tests, he said, "we feel that it is the same gun." Further tests were being made.

The gun was the only known connection among the three: Loren E. Bollinger, 40, a bachelor researcher in rocket propulsion; Chester Joseph Scowden, 19, a onetime Golden Gloves boxer and high school dropout who worked at a service station near downtown Columbus, and Claude Quesenberry, 41, a construction worker until he took a job at an all-night station in West Jefferson, 10 miles west of Columbus.

Both Scowden and Quesenberry worked early-morning hours at all-night stations.

Bollinger, found shot to death Monday, had an office in a small building four blocks from the station where Scowden worked.

The building is three blocks from Ohio's state Capitol, near an old area being cleared for urban renewal. A small bar and grill occupies the first floor.

All three men had been shot in the head at close range.

any of the slayings. Only bullets remained as clues.

Scowden and Quesenberry had been robbed. Police said no billfold was found on Bollinger's body and credit cards and his driver's license were missing.

Scowden and Quesenberry were both fathers. Bollinger was known by associates as "a loner," who talked little of his activities.

He had gone Sunday evening to work in a new office he was fixing up on the third floor. A partner in a recording studio on the building's second floor saw him at 10 p.m. Another partner in the studio found Bollinger's body in a third-floor storage area the next morning.

The building once housed a radio station. Police tests showed soundproofing prevented the shots from being heard in the bar downstairs.

A—He was the last king of Lydia in Asia Minor and accumulated great riches.

The camel originated in North America about 40 million years ago and then spread to South America and to Asia. Camels have been known to go without water for 17 days and survive. They can carry a load of 500 pounds 25 miles a day for three days without a drop of drinking water. The life span of a camel averages between 30 and 40 years.

COFFEE CORNER

by Cherie

Sure would love to get caught up on my work so I could just do something I'd like for a change. I have an oil painting stuck up in the top of a closet and everytime I get a dress out, I look at it wistfully, but heaven knows when I'll ever get it finished! Aren't we lucky to have people like Barbara Smith, Lisa Popp and others, who do manage to get the project they start completed? Here they have taken it upon themselves to provide Sikeston with another enjoyable Art Show and May 28th will be the date of the opening. I do have one painting finished I can enter, of course, I gave it to someone for a housegift, but maybe she won't mind having a bare spot on her wall for a few days. I remember my poor mother the first time they held this show. She, like all good mothers do, had hung with pride and joy all of my feeble attempts to compete with Grandma Moses, and when I ended up stripping her walls the house really had that new nude look. If she'd been smart, that would have been the time to rush out and purchase some really good paintings to adorn her home with, but as I said she's a good mama and eventually all were returned to cover the lighter spots that had been staring at us for days. Don't forget now, the Holiday Inn, May 28 and 29. The only way we can show how much we appreciate the efforts made by these dedicated people who are trying to bring a little culture into our lives is by turning out in mass and showing them. Believe me, I absolutely guarantee you'll enjoy youselves too, you just don't realize how many people there are in our community until you go to one of these shows and see their work displayed. Please don't forget, mark it on your calender a must!!!

These men!! Just because you do something quite simple and certainly understandable like running out of gas, really gets them in a tizzy -- and oh brother, how they do go on and on and on about it. At least, I was at home and not halfway between here and Charleston, then he'd really have had something to holler about. It certainly burns me up how they carry on about these silly cars anyway. I can remember (I'll never forget, nor will I let him), being pregnant and driving his old car and hitting a tree that stuck too far out in someone's drive, and I only dented that crummy fender a little, but you should have heard him!! Never once ask me (and me in that delicate condition), how I was, you'd have thought that car was the one that felt that bump! And when he does silly little things I hardly say a word -- like picking up that woman's suitcase on our New Orleans trip and ending up at the hotel with high heels instead of trousers, or for instance, when he fell down in the middle of downtown St. Louis street and spilled all my lovely Christmas presents all over the intersection. I didn't carry on about the little dents in them, or last weekend at Tan-Tar-A when he left all his clothes at home, oh well, I could go on and on, you know how MEN are. Guess I'd better get quiet and bake something nice tonight so he'll be still about that stupid gas business.

In case this problem presents itself at your house, (this is also good in case of very small dents.) I'll share it with you.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl with a serious problem. Several months ago my father was killed in an automobile accident. My mother was injured in the same accident, but not seriously.

The driver of the other car was a young man 21 years of age. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The court proceedings lasted a long time and I got to know the boy very well. When the verdict--not guilty--was handed down I was terribly happy because I had become very fond of him.

My mother insists he was guilty regardless of the verdict. She says he was speeding and that he lied on the stand. She hates the sight of him and I wouldn't think of telling her that I have been seeing him secretly.

Please tell me what to do. This boy could be the big love of my life. -- ODETTA

Dear Odetta: There are plenty of boys around without picking the one who killed your father--even if it was an accident.

This guy sounds like bad news in spades. Forget him. Your mother has had enough heartache.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not important, but it bothers me. Whenever we have guests for dinner my husband compliments me on the food in the presence of the guests. I think this puts the guests on the spot. They think they must say something nice about my cooking and it makes me uncomfortable.

My husband often compliments me when there are no guests present but of course they don't know this. Should I ask him to please stop praising the food when company is around? -- PROCEDURE IN YONKERS

Dear Yonkers: Your husband sounds like a living doll. Don't put a damper on his compliments either in private or in the presence of others. Your guests probably think he is a sweet, adorable, thoughtful guy and that you are a lucky girl.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband never needs to worry about me having a lover. The woman next door to me wouldn't let me get away with a thing.

Every time a strange car drives up to our house the neighbor woman comes right over. By strange car I mean any car that isn't ours. She is so fast on her feet that often she beats the guests to our door.

I don't mean to be petty, Ann, but it is very annoying because the woman includes herself every time we have company. We own our home and don't want to sell, although I have actually considered doing so to get rid of this pest. Please tell me what to do. -- LOVE THY WHAT?

Dear Love: How did the pest get so chummy? Overnight it DIDN'T happen.

The only way to free yourself is to tell her that you are spending too much time in one another's home and that from now on it's going to be on an invitation only basis. It could be that she will stop speaking to you altogether. And wouldn't that be nice?

Confidential to DOESN'T KNOW I EXIST: He knows you exist but he is not interested. Leave him alone. Boys actually enjoy pursuing girls. It makes them feel masculine. When you deprive them of the pleasure they resent it.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TRICKS WITH COLOR IN THE BATHROOM

Light colors make a small room seem larger than it really is. If you have a small bathroom, keep this in mind when you remodel, the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

Another way to create a feeling of spaciousness is to stick to one color for walls and ceiling. You can introduce striking contrasts of color in your new fixtures -- which run the gamut from soft yellows and beiges to brilliant reds and blues. Dozens of colors are now available.

When used with appropriate accessories, the color of the fixture can help suggest particular decors. Maroon fixtures, for example, are excellent for a Victorian or Italian Provincial motif. Pink is ideal for a young girl's bedroom. Pale green with black is appropriate for an oriental theme, etc.

HELLO! Bowling for the winter leagues is now over and this should be the last time for this column until next fall. I have injoyed trying to write it and look forward to next year.

Final standings for the Imperialetts league: L & A first, Kroger second, A & B third, Crown fourth, Belltones fifth, Deline sixth, Progressive seventh, Standard eighth. This league has more fun, I do believe, than any other out at the lanes. We had our banquet last Tuesday nigh. Jean Wilson was crowned queen for the night. It was very surprising to her as she had helped plan to surprise one of the other girls. And another surprise was the fantastic entertainment we had. If you need lots of good laughs contact this group. They will probably refuse but we enjoyed their act. Jean Wilson, Ruth Ann Templeton, Janet Meadows and last but by no means the least nutty of the group was Alice Patterson. The musical instruments were out of this world as well as their costumes. A wash tub does make a pretty good drum doesn't it, Ruth Ann?

Other awards given Tuesday night were: High team game and series, L & A; high series and game, Genice Latham, (this hurt me because I had high game and series but was not eligible because I hadn't bowled 2/3 of the games.) Flora Crothers also got the high average pin. Achievement award went to Paula Harper and most improved bowler went to Mary Meyers.

After the fancy dinner was over we bowled jackpot and Pat Bridger and I won the first pot, Jean Wilson and Mildred Cockrell won the second, and Mary Meyer and Mary Phelps won the third. Ruth Ann Templeton and Darla Carter won the high series pot.

All during the dinner we had door prizes and I did not get all the winners. It was all happening too fast and there were lots of them.

We had our final City Association Meeting of the year at the lanes Thursday night. There was very poor attendance. The trophies were given out for the winners of the City Association Tourney held the first of the year.

Trophies were presented to the Tuesday Morning Housewives Team, winners of the team event, to Kay Jackson and I for winning the doubles and Glenda Gardner won the singles event, but Glenda was unable to be there. Martha Springs won the All events handicap and Doris Brown (Beaver) took the trophy for all events scratch.

Billie Garner reported we had a total membership last year of 309 and we hope it is even more next year.

Another award was to be given out but Norma Baker didn't make it there either and I volunteered to just take her 'high average for the association' pin home with me but they wouldn't let me have it. Her final average for the year was 178.

Officers for the next year were elected and will remain as have been this year. That is President Mary Meyer, Vice President Hildred Poole, Secretary Billie Garner, Treasurer Thelma Hampton, and Sargent of Arms Boots Schrader.

An open meeting will be held August 18, 1966, at the lanes and bowling will start again this fall the week of August 30. Write this down now but we hope when this new season starts lots of people who have never bowled in a league will join us. We really do have a good time and it is good exercise too.

We also had door prizes at this meeting. They were perfume donated by L & A Laundry won by Marge Street; 10# of sugar donated by Proffers Bi-Rite won by Lotus Emerson; a butane gas lamp donated by Lewis Furniture won by Jean Lee; a 15 game bowling card donated by Campbell Farms won by Betty Dawson and an automatic toothbrush donated by the Bank of Sikeston and won by yours truly. This was a surprise because I had told everyone out there I was going to win it and when I did they teased me. Actually I had no control over it because Betty Dawson drew my number out of the box. Thanks Betty.

Sikeston Pilots Off To Canada

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Cape Girardians could hardly believe their eyes Sunday morning when six Stearman biplanes, the last of which was manufactured in the early 1930s, flew over Cape Girardeau on a northward course.

The pilots were sprayer operators who assembled here for a three - day flight to Canada where they had pulled to contract with the Canadian government to spray thousands of acres of timberland threatened by the spruce bud worm.

Pilots were Paul Harris, Sikeston; Bryan Johnson and Wayne North, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Warren Grant, Sikeston; Bill Vickers, Lula, Miss., and Chuck Morris, Gideon.

The flight had to be made in a series of hops because of the short 200-mile range of the planes.

matter of fact

Credit unions (organized groups of people who save their money together and make low-cost loans to each other) are on the rise. There are more than 28,000 of them, located mostly in the United States and Canada, although they had their origins more than 100 years ago in Germany and Italy. There are more than 15 million member-owners with $6 billion in assets.

Go Gourmet-Gradually!

by Betty Crocker

Sometimes American appetites need a little coddling to appreciate the unfamiliar -- like Far Eastern curry. So my advice to new brides or any would-be gourmet -- apply a light hand until you know your own strength. To practice this art, here's the perfect recipe for your next party buffet: my Crusty Curried Chicken. It's so subtle in East Indian curry, you can't possibly frighten all-American appetites. But you will impress your guests with a wisp of elegant difference in flavor. Of course, you'll prepare this dish ahead, refrigerate until an hour before serving and bake as directed. Just like any calm, cool and well-organized gourmet cook.

CRUSTY CURRIED CHICKEN

8 chicken breasts
1 cup Bisquick
2 tablespoons curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup shortening (part butter)

Heat oven to 425°. Wipe the chicken with damp paper towels. Mix remaining ingredients except shortening in paper bag. Shake 2 or 3 pieces of chicken at a time in the bag until they are thoroughly coated. Melt shortening in oblong pan, 13x9x2 inches. Place chicken skin side down in a single layer in pan. Bake 40 minutes. Reduce temperature to 375° and turn chicken with tongs. Bake 20 minutes longer. Makes 6-8 servings.

See how easy it is to be cagey with curry by combining it with familiar seasonings? Now give chutney a whirl with this quick and easy garnish. Again, do it ahead and heat just before serving.

HOT PEACH HALVES WITH CHUTNEY

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in heavy skillet. Place 1 can (1 pound) peach halves, drained, in skillet. Spoon ½ teaspoon chopped chutney in center of each peach half. Cover and heat over low heat 10 minutes. Serve as garnish on platter with chicken. Complete your gourmet buffet with salad, hot rolls, relishes. Coffee with dessert on a table alongside. Your prettiest china and silver, of course. And be prepared to dazzle your guests with your gourmet touches!

Know what this is.

Frankfurter Pie Takes a Topping Of Drop Biscuits

Casserole cooks will be delighted with a dish that gives them meat, vegetables and biscuits all in one!

Frankfurter circles, green beans and corn combine with the teen's favorite seasonings of chili sauce and grated cheese to form the base for this supper dish. More frankfurters go into the drop biscuits to make them interesting, says Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Use a hot oven for this casserole to bake the biscuits. At the same time all the ingredients which go into the mixture will have a chance to heat through for piping hot service.

Since this casserole contains frankfurters, two vegetables and the biscuit topping, what should be served with it? A fruit salad either of citrus or fresh fruits in season would be ideal. Have this as well chilled as the casserole is hot. If you prefer, a molded salad goes well, too, and may be made in advance.

Biscuit topping for the casserole starts with a classic or basic biscuit recipe, making use of lard. The lard may be taken directly from the refrigerator since it works readily into the dry ingredients.

Grated American cheese along with the frankfurters, sliced thinner than for the casserole, carries out the theme for this dish. It also sharpens the effect of ingredients already used in the main dish.

Frankfurter Biscuit Pie

6 frankfurters, sliced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
½ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup chili sauce
1 cup canned or cooked green beans
½ cup canned or cooked whole kernel corn.

Frankfurter Biscuits

Melt lard or drippings in frying-pan, add frankfurters and onions and brown lightly. Stir in flour, salt and milk; cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese, chili sauce, green beans and corn. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Make Frankfurter Biscuits and drop by spoonfuls on mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

VERY BAD ADVICE

Dr. Morris Chafetz, professor of psychiatry at Harvard, is director of the alcoholic clinic of Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. He is author of two books about drinking, "Alcohol and Society," and "Liquor, Servant of Man." He has proposed that children in the early grades at school, be given group instruction in social drinking. He says this should begin with very weak drinks such as a little sherry in water in the elementary grades, and continue through college. The amount of alcohol in this "practice drinking" should be gradually increased. The children should be taught to drink slowly in small amounts, and with other persons. He believes this would facilitate social relations, relaxation and a feeling of well being. He thinks they should also be instructed on the hazards of the improper use of alcohol.

Dr. Chafetz says that "alcohol is here to stay and people must learn to develop a healthy attitude toward it." Sex is here to stay, too, and children should be taught about it, but certainly not experimentally, beginning "in the early grades at school." Dope s here to stay, but surely small children should not be given small amounts of heroin. Stealing and cheating are here to stay but should children be given lessons in these evils as a means of promoting temperance in their use of them?

We believe the professor is wrong. Children, and adults as well should be taught to abstain from anything evil and not merely to be temperate in the use of it. It is silly, in my opinion to advocate narcotizing one's self in order to promote social relationships. A normal, properly adjusted adult can relax and enjoy friendship without the use of alcohol or any other drug to suppress his higher nerve cento control emotion is to come down from the spiritual plane, where proper control lies, into the physical plane to partly paralyze one's nerves. Inhibitions, judgment and restraint are proper attributes of man. We all need them. To knock them out with the use of drugs so that one feels well because he had paralyzed his sensitivity to the delicate shades of the proper and the proper, and by the throwing off of restraint is for man to abandon his spiritual being in part, and to retrograde toward his animal nature. That is easy enough for any of us to do, without the help of alcohol.

LOVE THOSE SCALLOPS

If you love scallops, here's good news for you from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department says large cold storage holdings and a big catch last year have prompted it to put this delicacy on its Plentiful Foods List.

That should inspire you to hop down to your food store and check up on scallop prices. The best food buys, you know, are usually found among the foods in plentiful supply.

One of the simplest ways to prepare scallops, of course, is to fry them, and who would argue about their tastiness when prepared this way. But if you're looking for something really refreshing, and not too difficult to prepare, try SAUTED SCALLOPS.

Cook 1 pound of scallops in a small amount of water for 5 minutes. Drain and dry. Cook 1 small minced onion in 2 tablespoons of butter or bacon fat until tender. Then add scallops. Saute until brown, sprinkle with salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Serve the scallops on toast with lemon.

If you've been waiting for lower prices on scallops to enjoy them, now's the time to put them on your shopping list and keep them there says the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

The first American president to speak on radio was Woodrow Wilson, who broadcast to American soldiers aboard troopships in 1919.

outdoor chefs are very fussy!

Ever since the outdoor cooking fad began,
we've been catering
to the special needs of outdoor chefs.

Over the years, we've satisfied scores of thousands.
Many, many find just the steak, chops or chicken they want in our self-service meat departments.
Others have specific needs...
the steak must be 2½" thick, the chops double thick and so forth.
That's no problem.
If you don't see it...just ask. We'll be happy to help you.

One other reason we're so popular with "backyard barbecuers"...
the quality of our "Super-Right" Meats.
Quality so high, some meat graded U.S. Choice

National Cotton Council Meets Today

Use of an additional 755,000 bales, requiring an average of 688,000 acres to produce, could become a reality if cotton takes full advantage of its opportunities in just one market -- rugs.

This was one of many examples cited here today at the Rustic Rock of how cotton can benefit from expanded research and promotion effectively administered by growers.

Tom F. Baker, Essex, chairman of the Missouri Steering Committee, Cotton Producers Institute, presided at the meeting of cotton industry leaders from five Bootheel counties and nearby Alexander County, Illinois.

"The only way we can protect and expand our markets, acreages, and incomes is to get more cotton used in rugs and other products," Mr. Baker said.

He added that cotton's research needs have been blueprinted and that the industry has trained people to operate its program. Desperately needed, however, are adequate funds to cash in on cotton's opportunities.

The industry leader explained that the grower-developed research and promotion proposal (HR-12322) would provide such funds and urged all who have a stake in cotton to support and work for approval of the plan.

He warned that farmers, processors, and cotton communities cannot live with the acreage reduction -- averaging 30 per cent this year -- that necessarily accompanies a record carryover.

Details of cotton's competitive battle and the grower proposal were spelled out by Clifton Kirkpatrick, Memphis, Council field service director, and C.E. McDaniel, Memphis, Mid-South area supervisor.

A report on current programs revealed research financed by the Cotton Producers Institute is helping cotton make a comeback in permanent press markets involving several million bales of cotton a year.

It also was explained that CPI's award-winning promotion is attracting strong merchandising support from garment manufacturers and giant retailers such as Sears. Statements from firm executives attesting to the fact that promotion is selling cotton products in volume were read at the meeting.

The speaker, however, added: "While cotton has the strongest and finest programs in its history, they simply are not enough."

It was pointed out 14 giant synthetics producers are spending five times as much as cotton on research and $17 to each dollar cotton spends on promotion.

As a result, nylon, dacron, and other higher-priced synthetic fibers now have a total market equaling nearly 7 million bales of cotton. More than 2 million were gained in the last two years, and new synthetics plants with capacities equivalent to 3.5 million additional bales are scheduled for production by the end of next year.

Cotton doesn't necessarily have to match total dollar efforts by synthetics producers. One reason is that they are fighting each other for markets, and another is cotton's proven ability to respond to research and promotion, the speaker said.

Approval of the grower plan to assess themselves $1.00 per bale would push producer funds to the $12-to-$15 million range annually. Coupled with the Council's revenue, this would give the cotton industry direct control over a total research and promotion program of $15 to $18 million a year.

Since experience shows industry money can be doubled through cooperative efforts, cotton could fight back with a minimum program of $25 to $35 million annually, it was explained.

Exhibited were some 17 blueprints covering a wide range of proposed projects for production and product improvement research, as well as detailed promotion needs.

The speaker said that due to lack of funds, cotton has barely scratched the surface of the promotional needs in the vast women's and girls' wear markets. It desperately needs to counter threats to the 2-million-bale men's and boys' wear market and to home furnishings, a market using some 2.5 million bales a year.

In explaining the Cotton Research and Promotion proposal, the speakers said a "yes" vote by two-thirds of producers voting, or by two-thirds of the volume of those voting in the referendum, is required to put the plan into effect.

Since it would be a self-help program, paid for by growers, it would be controlled by them. Initiation and direction of all research and promotion projects will rest solely with a Beltwide producer organization.

Governing body of the Beltwide producer group will be selected by approved producer groups in each state, and representation will be in proportion to production and contributions.

Johnson Champion Comes Through In Tuesday Race

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

Robert B. Duncan, President Johnson's champion in an Oregon campaign focused on Viet Nam captured that state's Democratic Senate nomination amid Republican talk of nation-wide voter uneasiness about the Asian war.

In Duncan's runaway victory Tuesday over peace candidate Howard Morgan, advocates of the U. S. stance in South Viet Nam could find at least a partial answer to the Republican report.

Duncan, a two-term congressman, and Morgan, a former member of the Federal Power Commission, stood together on domestic matters. They argued only about Viet Nam. Morgan called U. S. involvement there a tragic error; Duncan said it is necessary.

Their clash echoed the debate that has raged in Congress and on campuses across the nation. In Oregon, for the first time, the voters judged the debaters.

With 1,437 of 2,946 Oregon precincts reporting, Duncan had 64 per cent of the votes, Morgan 33 per cent and a third candidate 3 per cent.

Voters rendered their judgments in primary elections in Florida, Oklahoma and Kentucky, too. The most startling decision in the balloting was Miami Mayor Robert King High's rematch triumph over Florida Gov. Haydon Burns.

High's upset climaxed a bitter runoff campaign which produced Burns charges that the short, red-haired mayor was the candidate of a Negro bloc, and a protege of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y.

High said he was campaigning for integrity in government, and accused Burns -- who overwhelmed him two years ago -- of cronyism, and patronage that cost millions of dollars.

In other major races:

-Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky won renomination without serious opposition. John Young Brown, a college classmate, former congressman and Senate rival 20 years ago, easily won the Democratic Senate nomination.

-Preston Moore of Oklahoma City, former national American Legion commander blunted the comeback bid of former Gov. Raymond Gary and won the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma. State Sen. Dewey Bartlett of Tulsa won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over John N. Happy Camp.

-Republican Pat. J. Patterson outdistanced Don Kinkaid, who had solicited John Birch Society backing, for the nomination to challenge Oklahoma's Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris in November.

-Former Rep. M. G. Snyder of Kentucky was nominated for the House from the newly designed 4th District, topping two rivals in a race that renewed the Republican split of 1964. Snyder, a conservative, fought for the cause of Barry Goldwater two years ago and lost his House seat in the Democratic landslide. Moderate and liberal Republicans, in power in the Louisville area, lined up against Snyder, calling him an extremist. Snyder won easily. He faces State Sen. John Moloney of Covington in November.

-Secretary of State Tom McCall won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Oregon; State Treasurer Robert Straub was the Democratic choice.

In Oregon, Duncan will face Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield in November for the Senate seat now held by retiring Maurine Neuberger.

In that campaign, Viet Nam again is likely to be a dominant theme. Hatfield, who easily outdistanced three little-known rivals for the GOP nomination, has criticized Johnson's Asian policy.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the Senate's senior critic of the administration position, campaigned for Morgan -- and said he would vote for Hatfield in preference to Duncan.

Morse said he would have no assessment of the primary outcome until later today.

In an Oregon sidelight, former Rep. Charles Porter -- critical

Miss Vance Testifies Montgomery Ordered 'Run Them All'

MEMPHIS -- Miss Bobbie L. Vance testified yesterday that Joel A. Montgomery told Mrs. Betty Lou Sells to "run them (traffic lights) all" shortly before a fatal automobile crash at 1:45 a.m. Oct. 14, 1959.

Other state witnesses testified in Criminal Court yesterday that Mr. Montgomery's Buick ran red lights at Front and Monroe, Monroe and Main Monroe and Second, Monroe and Fourth and Monroe and Wellington, the crash scene.

Miss Vance, 31, a passenger in the car which was being driven by Mrs. Sells, then 21, said the car was speeding down Monroe before the collision which killed Miss Glenda Wiles, 24, passenger in an auto driven by Miss Alice K. Gassaway, then 20.

Henry M. Sypes, 69, owner of Burns Night Patrol Service at 3505 Denver, said he saw the Montgomery car run the red light at Monroe and Wellington and collide with the other car.

The state is expected to rest its case today in the involuntary manslaughter trial of Mrs. Sells, a pretty divorcee, and Mr. Montgomery, wealthy banker from Sikeston, Mo., who fought extradition in the case for four years.

Mr. Sypes said he was driving east on Monroe.

"Just before I got to Fourth a car was coming down Monroe so I kinda pulled to one side because the car was coming so fast," Mr. Sypes said. "I paid special attention to it. It got to Fourth Street and ran the red light there. . . .

"I kept my eye on it because of the simple reason in my work you pay attention. You know there could be a robbery or holdup or something back there the car was running so fast. . . .

"I kept my eye on it to see if it would run the red light at Wellington. . . The light was still red and the crash came . . . It was red for Monroe traffic."

Miss Gassaway, now Mrs. R. L. Burleson of Santa Ana, Calif., testified she had the green light traveling south on Wellington. She said she and Miss Wiles had been to the VFW Club on Washington and were going home. Mrs. Burleson said she had had only soft drinks that evening.

On direct examination by Exec. Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert K. Dwyer, Miss Vance said she and Mrs. Sells went to nightspots with Mr. Montgomery, Dan Turley, a real estate man, and Cecil Kyle, then an employe of the county trustee's office.

She said she, Mrs. Sells and Mr. Montgomery had several drinks during the evening. Miss Vance, who did not testify in Mrs. Sells' first trial in 1960, said Mr. Montgomery took her and Mrs. Sells to the Skyway at the Peabody for dinner.

Cross - examinated by Mrs. Sells' attorney, James F. 'Tim' Schaeffer, Miss Vance said she could not specifically recall Mrs. Sells drinking during the evening.

She said Mrs. Sells was "sober" and "not intoxicated" when the three got into Mr. Montgomery's car after leaving the Skyway. Miss Vance said Mr. Montgomery was taking them home.

"Do you recall anything about the light as you were going east (on Monroe)?" Mr. Dwyer asked.

"One was yellow. I don't remember. . . I think it was on Fourth. Mrs. Sells asked Mr. Montgomery should she run it. Mr. Montgomery said run this one and run them all. . . ."

Q. Do you remember the accident?

A. Yes. . . The only thing, I recall just seeing the car. I don't remember whether the light was red or green. I remember just seeing the car and screaming."

Bizarre Twist In Murder

By WAYMAN DUNLAP

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. AP -- A dramatic, day-long manhunt in a desolate swampland has ended with the capture of Glenn Stewart, charged with murder in the Mother's Day slaying of an Indiana factory worker.

Weary and bearded after eluding a massive search party, Stewart, 30, surrendered Tuesday to a state trooper, apparently unaware that the dead man's widow also had been charged with the murder of 35-year-old Larry Schmidt. Stewart said he was innocent.

In a bizarre twist to a sensational case, police in Marion, Ind., jailed Schmidt's widow, Edith, 27, and quoted her as saying that she and Stewart were lovers who had plotted her husband's death 48 hours before he was killed May 8.

The woman had told police Sunday that Stewart killed her husband over a $50 debt, kidnapped her and her two children and took them on a 16-day trip of terror.

It was her first story, told from her parents home in Sparta, Tenn., that led Indiana officers to Schmidt's dismembered body, sliced into five pieces in the dirt-floor basement of his Marion home Sunday.

Marion Police Chief Ted Null said Stewart apparently let Mrs. Schmidt and the children go on his flight from Marion to his home in Arkadelphia because they were hindering his escape. Null quoted her as saying that she and Stewart used a knife to kill her husband, then a hacksaw to cut off his arms and legs.

However, Prosecutor Robert Foust said he did not think Mrs. Schmidt committed the actual stabbing but believed she was a conspirator in what he described as a love-triangle murder. She was jailed on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder to await grand jury action.

Youth In Critical Condition

Three-year-old Harold Crawford, 1108 Maude, was reported in critical condition today in a Memphis hospital.

Crawford was struck by a 1963 Chevrolet driven by James W. Lomax, Matthews, on West Malone avenue yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 p.m.

Witnesses report that the youth ran in front of the auto and was thrown across the street.

The youth was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital but was removed to Memphis after physicians reported the youth in critical condition with a broken collar bone, possible contusions of the lungs and lacerations of the head.

Blanton Speaks To Kiwanis

Harry Blanton of the Blanton-Blanton and Rice Law Firm was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club last night at the Holiday Inn.

His topic was his travel experience on a recent trip to the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey, Egypt and other European countries such as Spain, Portugal, Italy and Sicily. These countries were all included in the side trips away from the ship on the Mediterranean cruise. Drawing from his store of knowledge being a student of world history and his most interesting way in describing the points of interest, Mr. Blanton held a very attentive audience and gave the impression that we were along side him on the trip.

Rev. C. D. Butler brought a guest, George Rose of Belleville, Ill. and 24 people were in attendance. Mrs. Maurine Blanton, wife of Harry Blanton also enjoyed the trip with her husband and was able to visit a daughter in New York before time to board the Leonardo DeVinci Italian liner. . The life on the ship was most pleasant with the exception of 2 days of storms in the North Atlantic, Mr. Blanton said.

Scientists and industry officials estimate there are about 830 billion tons of unmined coal in the United States.

National Cotton Council Meets Today

Use of an additional 755,000 bales, requiring an average of 688,000 acres to produce, could become a reality if cotton takes full advantage of its opportunities in just one market -- rugs.

This was one of many examples cited here today at the Rustic Rock of how cotton can benefit from expanded research and promotion effectively administered by growers.

Tom F. Baker, Essex, chairman of the Missouri Steering Committee, Cotton Producers Institute, presided at the meeting of cotton industry leaders from five Bootheel counties and nearby Alexander County, Illinois.

"The only way we can protect and expand our markets, acreages, and incomes is to get more cotton used in rugs and other products," Mr. Baker said.

He added that cotton's research needs have been blueprinted and that the industry has trained people to operate its program. Desperately needed, however, are adequate funds to cash in on cotton's opportunities.

The industry leader explained that the grower-developed research and promotion proposal (HR-12322) would provide such funds and urged all who have a stake in cotton to support and work for approval of the plan.

He warned that farmers, processors, and cotton communities cannot live with the acreage reduction -- averaging 30 per cent this year -- that necessarily accompanies a record carryover.

Details of cotton's competitive battle and the grower proposal were spelled out by Clifton Kirkpatrick, Memphis, Council field service director, and C.E. McDaniel, Memphis, Mid-South area supervisor.

A report on current programs revealed research financed by the Cotton Producers Institute is helping cotton make a comeback in permanent press markets involving several million bales of cotton a year.

It also was explained that CPI's award-winning promotion is attracting strong merchandising support from garment manufacturers and giant retailers such as Sears. Statements from firm executives attesting to the fact that promotion is selling cotton products in volume were read at the meeting.

The speaker, however, added: "While cotton has the strongest and finest programs in its history, they simply are not enough."

It was pointed out 14 giant synthetics producers are spending five times as much as cotton on research and $17 to each dollar cotton spends on promotion.

As a result, nylon, dacron, and other higher-priced synthetic fibers now have a total market equaling nearly 7 million bales of cotton. More than 2 million were gained in the last two years, and new synthetics plants with capacities equivalent to 3.5 million additional bales are scheduled for production by the end of next year.

Cotton doesn't necessarily have to match total dollar efforts by synthetics producers. One reason is that they are fighting each other for markets, and another is cotton's proven ability to respond to research and promotion, the speaker said.

Approval of the grower plan to assess themselves $1.00 per bale would push producer funds to the $12-to-$15 million range annually. Coupled with the Council's revenue, this would give the cotton industry direct control over a total research and promotion program of $15 to $18 million a year.

Since experience shows industry money can be doubled through cooperative efforts, cotton could fight back with a minimum program of $25 to $35 million annually, it was explained.

Exhibited were some 17 blueprints covering a wide range of proposed projects for production and product improvement research, as well as detailed promotion needs.

The speaker said that due to lack of funds, cotton has barely scratched the surface of the promotional needs in the vast women's and girls' wear markets. It desperately needs to counter threats to the 2-million-bale men's and boys' wear market and to home furnishings, a market using some 2.5 million bales a year.

In explaining the Cotton Research and Promotion proposal, the speakers said a "yes" vote by two-thirds of producers voting, or by two-thirds of the volume of those voting in the referendum, is required to put the plan into effect.

Since it would be a self-help program, paid for by growers, it would be controlled by them. Initiation and direction of all research and promotion projects will rest solely with a Beltwide producer organization.

Governing body of the Beltwide producer group will be selected by approved producer groups in each state, and representation will be in proportion to production and contributions.

Johnson Champion Comes Through In Tuesday Race

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

Robert B. Duncan, President Johnson's champion in an Oregon campaign focused on Viet Nam captured that state's Democratic Senate nomination amid Republican talk of nation-wide voter uneasiness about the Asian war.

In Duncan's runaway victory Tuesday over peace candidate Howard Morgan, advocates of the U. S. stance in South Viet Nam could find at least a partial answer to the Republican report.

Duncan, a two-term congressman, and Morgan, a former member of the Federal Power Commission, stood together on domestic matters. They argued only about Viet Nam. Morgan called U. S. involvement there a tragic error; Duncan said it is necessary.

Their clash echoed the debate that has raged in Congress and on campuses across the nation. In Oregon, for the first time, the voters judged the debaters.

With 1,437 of 2,946 Oregon precincts reporting, Duncan had 64 per cent of the votes, Morgan 33 per cent and a third candidate 3 per cent.

Voters rendered their judgments in primary elections in Florida, Oklahoma and Kentucky, too. The most startling decision in the balloting was Miami Mayor Robert King High's rematch triumph over Florida Gov. Haydon Burns.

High's upset climaxed a bitter runoff campaign which produced Burns charges that the short, red-haired mayor was the candidate of a Negro bloc, and a protege of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N. Y.

High said he was campaigning for integrity in government, and accused Burns -- who overwhelmed him two years ago -- of cronyism, and patronage that cost millions of dollars.

In other major races:

-Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky won renomination without serious opposition. John Young Brown, a college classmate, former congressman and Senate rival 20 years ago, easily won the Democratic Senate nomination.

-Preston Moore of Oklahoma City, former national American Legion commander blunted the comeback bid of former Gov. Raymond Gary and won the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma. State Sen. Dewey Bartlett of Tulsa won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over John N. Happy Camp.

-Republican Pat. J. Patterson outdistanced Don Kinkaid, who had solicited John Birch Society backing, for the nomination to challenge Oklahoma's Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris in November.

-Former Rep. M. G. Snyder of Kentucky was nominated for the House from the newly designed 4th District, topping two rivals in a race that renewed the Republican split of 1964. Snyder, a conservative, fought for the cause of Barry Goldwater two years ago and lost his House seat in the Democratic landslide. Moderate and liberal Republicans, in power in the Louisville area, lined up against Snyder, calling him an extremist. Snyder won easily. He faces State Sen. John Moloney of Covington in November.

-Secretary of State Tom McCall won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Oregon; State Treasurer Robert Straub was the Democratic choice.

In Oregon, Duncan will face Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield in November for the Senate seat now held by retiring Maurine Neuberger.

In that campaign, Viet Nam again is likely to be a dominant theme. Hatfield, who easily outdistanced three little-known rivals for the GOP nomination, has criticized Johnson's Asian policy.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the Senate's senior critic of the administration position, campaigned for Morgan -- and said he would vote for Hatfield in preference to Duncan.

Morse said he would have no assessment of the primary outcome until later today.

In an Oregon sidelight, former Rep. Charles Porter -- critical

Miss Vance Testifies Montgomery Ordered 'Run Them All'

MEMPHIS -- Miss Bobbie L. Vance testified yesterday that Joel A. Montgomery told Mrs. Betty Lou Sells to "run them (traffic lights) all" shortly before a fatal automobile crash at 1:45 a.m. Oct. 14, 1959.

Other state witnesses testified in Criminal Court yesterday that Mr. Montgomery's Buick ran red lights at Front and Monroe, Monroe and Main Monroe and Second, Monroe and Fourth and Monroe and Wellington, the crash scene.

Miss Vance, 31, a passenger in the car which was being driven by Mrs. Sells, then 21, said the car was speeding down Monroe before the collision which killed Miss Glenda Wiles, 24, passenger in an auto driven by Miss Alice K. Gassaway, then 20.

Henry M. Sypes, 69, owner of Burns Night Patrol Service at 3505 Denver, said he saw the Montgomery car run the red light at Monroe and Wellington and collide with the other car.

The state is expected to rest its case today in the involuntary manslaughter trial of Mrs. Sells, a pretty divorcee, and Mr. Montgomery, wealthy banker from Sikeston, Mo., who fought extradition in the case for four years.

Mr. Sypes said he was driving east on Monroe.

"Just before I got to Fourth a car was coming down Monroe so I kinda pulled to one side because the car was coming so fast," Mr. Sypes said. "I paid special attention to it. It got to Fourth Street and ran the red light there. . . .

"I kept my eye on it because of the simple reason in my work you pay attention. You know there could be a robbery or holdup or something back there the car was running so fast. . . .

"I kept my eye on it to see if it would run the red light at Wellington. . . The light was still red and the crash came . . . It was red for Monroe traffic."

Miss Gassaway, now Mrs. R. L. Burleson of Santa Ana, Calif., testified she had the green light traveling south on Wellington. She said she and Miss Wiles had been to the VFW Club on Washington and were going home. Mrs. Burleson said she had had only soft drinks that evening.

On direct examination by Exec. Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert K. Dwyer, Miss Vance said she and Mrs. Sells went to nightspots with Mr. Montgomery, Dan Turley, a real estate man, and Cecil Kyle, then an employe of the county trustee's office.

She said she, Mrs. Sells and Mr. Montgomery had several drinks during the evening. Miss Vance, who did not testify in Mrs. Sells' first trial in 1960, said Mr. Montgomery took her and Mrs. Sells to the Skyway at the Peabody for dinner.

Cross - examinated by Mrs. Sells' attorney, James F. 'Tim' Schaeffer, Miss Vance said she could not specifically recall Mrs. Sells drinking during the evening.

She said Mrs. Sells was "sober" and "not intoxicated" when the three got into Mr. Montgomery's car after leaving the Skyway. Miss Vance said Mr. Montgomery was taking them home.

"Do you recall anything about the light as you were going east (on Monroe)?" Mr. Dwyer asked.

"One was yellow. I don't remember. . . I think it was on Fourth. Mrs. Sells asked Mr. Montgomery should she run it. Mr. Montgomery said run this one and run them all. . . ."

Q. Do you remember the accident?

A. Yes. . . The only thing, I recall just seeing the car. I don't remember whether the light was red or green. I remember just seeing the car and screaming."

Bizarre Twist In Murder

By WAYMAN DUNLAP

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. AP -- A dramatic, day-long manhunt in a desolate swampland has ended with the capture of Glenn Stewart, charged with murder in the Mother's Day slaying of an Indiana factory worker.

Weary and bearded after eluding a massive search party, Stewart, 30, surrendered Tuesday to a state trooper, apparently unaware that the dead man's widow also had been charged with the murder of 35-year-old Larry Schmidt. Stewart said he was innocent.

In a bizarre twist to a sensational case, police in Marion, Ind., jailed Schmidt's widow, Edith, 27, and quoted her as saying that she and Stewart were lovers who had plotted her husband's death 48 hours before he was killed May 8.

The woman had told police Sunday that Stewart killed her husband over a $50 debt, kidnapped her and her two children and took them on a 16-day trip of terror.

It was her first story, told from her parents home in Sparta, Tenn., that led Indiana officers to Schmidt's dismembered body, sliced into five pieces in the dirt-floor basement of his Marion home Sunday.

Marion Police Chief Ted Null said Stewart apparently let Mrs. Schmidt and the children go on his flight from Marion to his home in Arkadelphia because they were hindering his escape. Null quoted her as saying that she and Stewart used a knife to kill her husband, then a hacksaw to cut off his arms and legs.

However, Prosecutor Robert Foust said he did not think Mrs. Schmidt committed the actual stabbing but believed she was a conspirator in what he described as a love-triangle murder. She was jailed on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder to await grand jury action.

Youth In Critical Condition

Three-year-old Harold Crawford, 1108 Maude, was reported in critical condition today in a Memphis hospital.

Crawford was struck by a 1963 Chevrolet driven by James W. Lomax, Matthews, on West Malone avenue yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 p.m.

Witnesses report that the youth ran in front of the auto and was thrown across the street.

The youth was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital but was removed to Memphis after physicians reported the youth in critical condition with a broken collar bone, possible contusions of the lungs and lacerations of the head.

Blanton Speaks To Kiwanis

Harry Blanton of the Blanton-Blanton and Rice Law Firm was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club last night at the Holiday Inn.

His topic was his travel experience on a recent trip to the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey, Egypt and other European countries such as Spain, Portugal, Italy and Sicily. These countries were all included in the side trips away from the ship on the Mediterranean cruise. Drawing from his store of knowledge being a student of world history and his most interesting way in describing the points of interest, Mr. Blanton held a very attentive audience and gave the impression that we were along side him on the trip.

Rev. C. D. Butler brought a guest, George Rose of Bellville, Ill. and 24 people were in attendance. Mrs. Maurine Blanton, wife of Harry Blanton also enjoyed the trip with her husband and was able to visit a daughter in New York before time to board the Leonardo DeVinci Italian liner. . The life on the ship was most pleasant with the exception of 2 days of storms in the North Atlantic, Mr. Blanton said.

Scientists and industry officials estimate there are about 830 billion tons of unmined coal in the United States.

NEW NATION TO THE SOUTH

British Guiana achieves its independence on Thursday (May 26).

GUYANA is an Amerindian name meaning "Land of Waters." It is the name chosen by the former colony of British Guiana, which becomes independent, after several years of agitation and postponment, on Thursday.

The country has an area of 83,000 square miles and an estimated population of 650,000, including 300,000 of East Indian descent and 200,000 Negroes. The Dutch settled there first in 1620, but Britain captured the Latin American territory in 1796.

THE CONFERENCE last November which led to a scheduled date for Guiana's independence was conducted without the participation of the colony's biggest political party, the People's Progressive Party (PPP), led by the Marxist Cheddi Jagan. British officials had agreed that elections in December 1964 should be held under a system of "proportional representation" which made it all but impossible for the leftist Premier to win re-election. After Jagan lost office the United States resumed economic aid to the steamy enclave.

Guiana was represented at the November conference by a delegation led by Prime Minister L. Forbes Burnham, chairman of the People's National Congress (PNC). The group included Deputy Prime Minister Peter d'Aguiar, the leader of the United Force (UF), the PNC's coalition partner.

The PR electoral system will remain in effect. However, provision was made in the constitution for the legislature to change the law at will. Queen Elizabeth II will remain as head of the sovereign democratic state for the first 3-1/2 years of independence. Then the country could become a republic with a President as head of state if Parliament so chooses.

GUYANA WILL RECEIVE one-fifth of its revenue from an unusual and formidable business organization -- Booker Bros., McConnell and Co., Ltd. This outfit, headed by Sir Jock Campbell, a spry old Laborite, has a virtually unique record among colonial enterprises. Bookers -- as the firm is known throughout the West Indies and elsewhere -- develops as it exploits. Its principal interests in Guyana are sugar and rum, but it also has built homes for thousands of Guianese and has contributed heavily to education.

Sir Jock is chairman of the board of the leftist London weekly. The New Statesman, and that fact may explain some of the orientation of Bookers. Since he took over the Guianese company 14 years ago, Bookers has diversified energetically. It now operates profitably in Malawi, Zambia, Canada, Britain, and all over the West Indies. Sir Jock also purchased some years ago a 50 per cent share in the James Bond royalties from his friend Ian Fleming.

One of the prerequisites for independence for Guyana was a start on settlement of the 66-year-old quarrel with Venezuela over the border. The neighbor claims two-thirds of a 50,000 square-mile area, potentially rich in minerals. A mixed commission meeting in Geneva will study the dispute for four years, during which Venezuela has undertaken to stand mute.

Britain will sponsor Guyana in the Commonwealth and the United Nations. The new nation will be hard pressed to earn its passage to freedom, but it has interested and strong friends in Britain and the United States.

From an article in Today's Health: "No accurate records have been obtainable, but it is conservatively estimated that 10,000 men died of scurvy or its sequalae in the California gold rush, half of them in 1848-1849 when scurvy ranged like a raging contagion. Unlike cholera, scurvy was of man's own making because he ignored or disregarded the dietary measures that were for the most part already well established in both medical and lay knowledge."

TOURIST DOLLAR GAP

One solution to the tourist dollar gap is to encourage more foreigners to visit the United States. The U. S. Travel Service estimates that there are about three million people in the world who can afford a visit to this country. Various indirect as well as formal restrictions, however, have tended to keep the inflow of foreign tourists smaller than the travel industry, and now the government, would like. For one thing, foreigners feel that travel in the U. S. is more expensive than travel in foreign lands. Overseas visitors also complain about the reception they receive in many American cities by taxi drivers, waiters and hotel clerks.

The United States has made several improvements in procedures at points of entry to facilitate international travel. Along the Mexican border, where members of the four U. S. inspection agencies are on duty (Customs, Agriculture, Health, and Immigration and Naturalization), only one inspection is now required. Personnel from each agency are used interchangeably.

Since October 1962 a policy of issuing visas by mail, now in effect at 250 consulates in 112 countries, has removed a source of frequent complaint. Traffic bottlenecks at New York piers have been eliminated and oral baggage declarations at all U. S. airports, with occasional spot checks by customs agents, also present a friendlier hand to incoming visitors.

To promote travel to this country, the Eisenhower administration in 1958 proposed that an office of international travel be set up in the Department of Commerce. A request for appropriations on Capitol Hill, however, was stalled.

As the tourist deficit crept toward the one billion dollar mark, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, (D Wash.) introduced a bill to promote travel to the United States.

It passed the Senate in 1960 but was not acted upon in the House. The next year it was reintroduced and enacted as the International Travel Act of 1961, which established a U. S. Travel Service. An intensive campaign to "Visit the U. S. A." was revived and has taken on bigger proportions each succeeding year.

The U. S. Travel Service has channeled millions of pieces of literature overseas. The promotion material is published by the 50 states, tourist and resort areas, travel associations and non-profit tourist promotional organizations. Despite such promotional activity, developing countries and the Communist nations of Eastern Europe are making a strong -- and successful -- pitch for Western European travel dollars. To help meet the competition, the Travel Service says it should have the full $4.7 million authorized in the Travel Act annually to advertise and thereby attract more foreigners into the country. It now operates on a $3 million budget.

John W. Black, U. S. Travel Service Director, points to Spain, Greece, Mexico, Switzerland, Canada and the United Kingdom as countries all having larger travel budgets than the United States. Moreover, Canada's 14 tourist offices in the United States are cited as a strong reason for opening at least one U. S. travel office in that country. The travel service maintains 11 overseas offices, none of them in Canada.

To encourage travelers to visit this country, special sightseeing tours and reduced rates are offered by various airlines, car rental firms, national bus lines and railroads. Best known, perhaps, is the $99 ticket good for 99 days of travel on Greyhound and Continental Trailways buses. Sightseeing companies in some cities offer two different tickets which can be used without limit during specified periods. One is good for 15 days at $52 and the other for 21 days for $62.

Three car rental companies last April announced a "See America Plan" under which Fords, Chevrolets and Plymouths may be rented for $99 a week with no additional charge for mileage. Railroads also offer special plans, offering a 15 per cent reduction, good for 90 days, on coach or first class fares. Thirteen airlines offer foreign visitors a $150 ticket good for 21 days of unlimited travel over the routes they cover throughout the continental United States and Alaska.

Whether such inducements will serve to attract more foreigners to the United States remains to be seen. The alternative would appear to be some form of restraint, either formal or informal, on Americans traveling abroad.

Rear lights -- burned out, broken or obscure -- were one of the five most common defects on passenger cars among 3.5 million of them examined in a voluntary inspection program last year. The situation makes a case for the value of reflective license plates which glow when struck by headlights.

Newspapers are the advertising media most preferred by men's wear stores, according to a survey conducted by the Men's Wear Retailers of America.

The survey was conducted over 62 stores, and 50 of them reported that newspaper placement accounted for from 35 per cent to 95 per cent of their advertising budget.

All stores reporting indicated that they were giving serious consideration to increasing their newspaper lineage because of the results they achieved.

The fact that a sales group accounting for such a large portion of the overall market as men's wear believes implicitly in newspaper advertising is significant.

The sale of semi-durable goods is enhanced by local newspaper selling. The same newspaper is read several times a day. Thus, the product reaches many markets and every member of the family comes into contact with the ad.

For many consumers "seeing is believing" and the printed media conveys a sense of lasting import. Clothing manufacturers know this and sell most of their quality goods through newspapers.

The lasting quality of a newspaper also is important in sales. Readers often save newspapers for several days and use their advertising pages as a handy reference for finding the best buys for their money.

From the Railway Employees Journal: "Protection of public right to transportation services at low cost was a primary purpose when federal regulation of railroads started. In recent years, it has been employed to interfere with railroad rate reductions to meet the competition of competing carriers unable to provide service at as low cost . . . Without revision of regulations, recognizing current competitive conditions, it will be increasingly difficult for railroads to regain the share in the country's total freight traffic to which their efficiency as low-cost carriers entitles them."

FOOD -- INSTRUMENT OF PEACE

Our stubborn farm problems are minor, compared with those of the Communists. Whereas crop failures have shaken the Communist hierarchy and lead to the downfall of Khrushchev, US productivity could be one of our most important defense weapons.

The grim reality is that more than 1.5 billion people suffer from malnutrition. Population is increasing at the rate of 115 million a year, while deaths (even those from hunger) remove but 58 million. Fastest growth rates are found in "deficit" food areas -- in Asia, Africa, Latin America. Nowhere in the world, but in North America, is the rise in food production keeping ahead of the population explosion. And here, we are embarrassed over what to do with too much food and fiber!

Robert C. Liebenow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, says that American food exports should be used as "effective instruments of foreign policy" in fighting Communism. He believes that such shipments should be paid for out of foreign aid and national defense appropriations rather than farm aid funds.

To be effective, Mr. Liebenow says such a farm policy should 1) place increasing emphasis on agricultural exports as a major instrument of foreign policy; 2) assist countries outside the Iron Curtain to develop modern and efficient agricultural production systems; 3) allocate Federal costs of farm programs more equitably, with food shipped abroad as foreign aid appropriated and paid for as foreign aid; and 4) conduct a study to consider establishment of food reserves which would be adequate to meet drought or other natural calamity needs, or war requirements, here or in other countries outside the Communist bloc.

This, he asserts, is the way to peace.

CONTROLS BRING MORE CONTROLS

Numbers of people who haven't thought the matter through undoubtedly are attracted by proposed "Truth In Packaging" legislation. The name is appealing. Everyone wants the information provided on the vast variety of packaged goods to be truthful. So, it can be rationalized, it's probably a good idea to give a government bureau more authority to regulate packages.

The trouble with this kind of thinking is found in a statement by Senator Dirksen: "Controls inevitably bring more controls . . .if you control the package then you control the quantity; if you control the quantity then you must control the composition of the content, forcing Government controls over quality of product, price of product, wages to produce the product, production and distribution of the product and finally the consumer's choice, all of which leads to killing the initiative, the innovative power and the motivating force of our people which made this country the greatest in history."

That is quite an indictment, but no one familiar with the course a power-hungry bureaucracy always takes will deny it. Beyond that, laws now on the books, such as the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, provide severe penalties for misleading labeling and other devices for deceiving the consumer. Properly enforced, they can do whatever may be required -- without imposing destructive and needless controls that would inflate costs and reduce competition.

LATIN AMERICAN PERFORMERS

Some Latin American countries have been plagued by leftist "reformers" of one kind or another so long that they have become ripe for communist take-overs. Castro was portrayed as another "agrarian reformer" by the powers who had decided to put him in control of Cuba up to the time he announced he was a hard-line Marxist and intended to ally with the U. He joined hands with Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela to agitate for the overthrow of the anti-communist Trujillo in the Dominican Republic. Betancourt is another radical leftist who is credited with "economic reforms," a term used while he systematically plundered the reserves of his country, and to promote his philosophy. These so-called reformers are said to have had support from the United States in the assassination of Trujillo to pave the way for the rise of more "comrades" in the Caribbean.

Juan Bosch became President of the Dominican Republic after the murder of Trujillo and endeared himself to Latin American leftists by promising "reform programs" that eventually adhered to the Marxist line. He was ousted in 1963 by loyal Dominicans because of his flirtation with communists. Now Bosch is once agian reaching out for power over the Dominican epople. Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- A great man died in Rhode Island last week at the age of 98. Theodore Francis Green achieved many landmarks in his long life and, as an old friend, I cannot let him leave without noting some of them.

I remember him at the age of 86 or so still as active as a jumping bean, playing badminton at our farm. And I especially remember him as the last senator who really investigated campaign contributions with penetrating, old-fashioned vigor. If there were more of this today there wouldn't be any Doddism.

And I remember his remarkable memory, and his graphic description of the 16 presidents of the United States he had met as nearly a century of American history rolled by. The first president was Rutherford B. Hayes in 1877 when Theodore Francis was a 10-year-old boy hiding behind his mother's skirts as they passed through the presidential receiving line.

When President Chester Arthur shook hands with Theodore Francis in 1881, the boy cried, "ouch!"

"I'll show you something," said President Arthur. "I always squeeze the other man's hand first. Otherwise he squeezes mine."

WHEN TO QUIT

But what I remember vividly about the late senator from Rhode Island was that he knew when to quit. Lyndon Johnson, then a senator, told me the story.

Lyndon was presiding over the Senate Preparedness committee on the morning of Jan. 29, 1958, when he received a note from Green asking that LBJ see him. Lyndon turned the gavel over to another senator and went to Green's office where the 91-year-old senator showed him an editorial from the Providence Journal urging that he resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee because of age.

"It's true that I can't hear the way I used to and I'm embarrassed by it," said the oldest senator ever to serve in the senate. "I want your advice. Should I resign?"

Sen. Johnson advised in the negative. There was a little more discussion, and Lyndon went back to his preparedness committee.

At 4:45 p.m., Johnson got another note that Senator Green wanted to see him in his office. When he entered, the old man had his head down on his chest, his eyes closed as if asleep. But as the younger man entered, the elder looked up and chuckled.

"I've got a lot of service out of the majority leader today," he said.

"I've decided not to take your advice," he continued. "I'm going to resign -- though not because of these slanted newspaper editorials.

"There are three things I love in life. One is the United States of America. One is the senate. One is the Foreign Relations committee. In fairness to them I'm going to resign as chairman. I'm going to remain a member of the committee and participate in its work, but I'm going to give up the chairmanship. I think it's better that way.

"I can't always hear the witnesses, and I can't always read the statements they turn in. I come up here every Saturday and Sunday and spend all day reading in order to keep up, but I have to confess I fall behind. So it's only fair that I resign."

Johnson, whose eyes had filled with tears, argued with the old man. But Green pulled out a letter and handed it to him.

"You're my majority leader," he said, "so I've written you my letter of resignation. I'm sorry to ignore your advice."

SENATORS WEEP

Johnson asked that Green wait until Monday to give him time to talk to other members of the committee, but Senator Green was adamant. He agreed to wait only until the next morning for a formal meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

That night LBJ called Fulbright of Arkansas, next ranking Democrat, and told him to be sure to be at the committee meeting.

"But I have to preside over the housing bill at the banking and currency committee," reminded Fulbright.

"Forget housing," replied Johnson. "You be there."

Fulbright was there, together with every other member of the foreign relations committee. The venerable senator from Rhode Island sat at the head of the venerable table from which other famous chairmen had guided the foreign relations of the United States. The glass and gold Louis XIV chandelier shed a feeble light over expectant faces. They sensed that an important event was in the making.

Green's letter of resignation was read. Tears came to the eyes of almost every senator -- except the little old man from Rhode Island.

Senators Langer of North Dakota and Aiken of Vermont, both Republicans, protested that Green could not resign. They asked for a vote. Republicans were just as virogous as Democrats. The chairman demurred, finally said he would not stay in the room while the vote was taken. He stepped outside.

A resolution not to accept Green's resignation was passed, 14 to 0.

"Gentlemen," he said as he returned to the committee room, "I appreciate your confidence, but it isn't your decision. I have made my decision and my resignation is hereby accepted."

Senator Green then made one of the most inspiring, touching speeches those around the venerable table had ever heard. It was stirring in its words, eloquent in its simplicity.

Then he stepped down from the chairmanship to a place alongside other senators. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas became chairman.

Ku Klux Klan Rides Again As House Probers Prepare New Hearings to Write Anti-KKK Laws

Washington, D. C. -- This is spring, and in the night the hooded cross burners ride again in fast cars, communicate with walkie-talkies, desecrate their children by thrusting them into Ku Klux Klan meadowland gatherings.

In the cities there are factory cell units; small shop organizers; district membership stewards and muscled men terrorizing small businessmen.

Despite the intense hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, despite the testimony of 192 witnesses, despite 36 full days of cross-examination which filled 4,300 pages, the Klan has lost no members, nor its nerve, nor its plans for action.

It still has the capacity to strike with dynamite or oiled rags.

Of all this the FBI has ample evidence, for it still has considerable manpower infiltrating the scores of KKK overt and "cover" units.

The Klan's potential for damage still is powerful, according to federal and private agencies. Only tough, loophole-less laws can halt it.

Soon an attempt to write such federal statutes will be made. This should occur within a month when Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-L. A., recovers from an illness and calls the group into legislative hearing sessions.

Perhaps some time will have to elapse until the Committee's chief investigator, Don Appel, recovers from a heart attack into which he worked himself during the constant year-long probe and public hearings.

But sometime in June the hearings will start a search for the law which can pull the hoods from the night riders, literally and figuratively.

Most probable proposal will be an act which will hit at the KKK's assualt on individual civil liberties. This statute will be at least three-pronged, it is suggested.

First: The bill would have to hit at the KKK oath.

A statute will have to be written which will deny any group the right to take an oath pledging any man or woman to refrain from informing the duly constituted authorities of knowledge of a committed crime.

Such an oath would make the pledgees participants, or accomplices, or co-conspirators in any illegal act. Thus, if such a bill is passed, the KKK oath would be wiped out.

Second: Efforts will be made to restrict the use of special radio wave lengths.

This is a reference to the citizen band radios which many Kluxers have installed in their cars and offices. Thus, the KKK men can tune in on police wave lengths and know where the cops are -- and how they can be avoided.

Part of this statute will deal with control and use of walkie-talkie, handy gadgets to have for hit-and-run, cross-burning or dynamiting conspiracies.

Third: There will be a registration section.

This would hit at the KKK front societies, the chowder lunch club, the hunting and fishing "covers" for Klaverns.

All Klan units would have to register their members, property, financial records and other vital facts, especially if the Klaverns, etc., operate under official charters.

This bill is in the writing. At the moment there is only one completed proposal before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

It was written and presented for committee discussion by Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, Ga. His proposed act hits at three subversive forces: the Communists, the KKK and the Mafia.

The Weltner proposal would hit at any organization designed to overthrow or seize the government; any organization "which employs intimidation or violence for purpose of depriving citizens of constitutional rights"; any organization "whose purpose is to plan continued and consistent execution of acts which violate the criminal statutes of the U. S."

Mr. Weltner would replace the current Subversive Activities Control Board with a Criminal Conspiracies Control Board. This could cite organizations which commit crimes on the political, social and economic fronts. They could be enjoined from further existence and punished if they reject the action of a civil court.

Whichever bill it will be, this is the season for it.

On April 30 the KKK ran a night rally in Greensboro, N. C. Some 500 people (with children) turned out. There have been other such demonstrations.

Terror still stalks the night.

NEW NATION TO THE SOUTH

British Guiana achieves its independence on Thursday (May 26).

GUYANA is an Amerindian name meaning "Land of Waters." It is the name chosen by the former colony of British Guiana, which becomes independent, after several years of agitation and postponment, on Thursday.

The country has an area of 83,000 square miles and an estimated population of 650,000, including 300,000 of East Indian descent and 200,000 Negroes. The Dutch settled there first in 1620, but Britain captured the Latin American territory in 1796.

THE CONFERENCE last November which led to a scheduled date for Guiana's independence was conducted without the participation of the colony's biggest political party, the People's Progressive Party (PPP), led by the Marxist Cheddi Jagan. British officials had agreed that elections in December 1964 should be held under a system of "proportional representation" which made it all but impossible for the leftist Premier to win re-election. After Jagan lost office the United States resumed economic aid to the steamy enclave.

Guiana was represented at the November conference by a delegation led by Prime Minister L. Forbes Burnham, chairman of the People's National Congress (PNC). The group included Deputy Prime Minister Peter d'Aguiar, the leader of the United Force (UF), the PNC's coalition partner.

The PR electoral system will remain in effect. However, provision was made in the constitution for the legislature to change the law at will. Queen Elizabeth II will remain as head of the sovereign democratic state for the first 3-1/2 years of independence. Then the country could become a republic with a President as head of state if Parliament so chooses.

GUYANA WILL RECEIVE one-fifth of its revenue from an unusual and formidable business organization -- Booker Bros., McConnell and Co., Ltd. This outfit, headed by Sir Jock Campbell, a spry old Laborite, has a virtually unique record among colonial enterprises. Bookers -- as the firm is known throughout the West Indies and elsewhere -- develops as it exploits. Its principal interests in Guyana are sugar and rum, but it also has built homes for thousands of Guianese and has contributed heavily to education.

Sir Jock is chairman of the board of the leftist London weekly. The New Statesman, and that fact may explain some of the orientation of Bookers. Since he took over the Guianese company 14 years ago, Bookers has diversified energetically. It now operates profitably in Malawi, Zambia, Canada, Britain, and all over the West Indies. Sir Jock also purchased some years ago a 50 per cent share in the James Bond royalties from his friend Ian Fleming.

One of the prerequisites for independence for Guyana was a start on settlement of the 66-year-old quarrel with Venezuela over the border. The neighbor claims two-thirds of a 50,000 square-mile area, potentially rich in minerals. A mixed commission meeting in Geneva will study the dispute for four years, during which Venezuela has undertaken to stand mute.

Britain will sponsor Guyana in the Commonwealth and the United Nations. The new nation will be hard pressed to earn its passage to freedom, but it has interested and strong friends in Britain and the United States.

From an article in Today's Health: "No accurate records have been obtainable, but it is conservatively estimated that 10,000 men died of scurvy or its sequalae in the California gold rush, half of them in 1848-1849 when scurvy ranged like a raging contagion. Unlike cholera, scurvy was of man's own making because he ignored or disregarded the dietary measures that were for the most part already well established in both medical and lay knowledge."

TOURIST DOLLAR GAP

One solution to the tourist dollar gap is to encourage more foreigners to visit the United States. The U. S. Travel Service estimates that there are about three million people in the world who can afford a visit to this country. Various indirect as well as formal restrictions, however, have tended to keep the inflow of foreign tourists smaller than the travel industry, and now the government, would like. For one thing, foreigners feel that travel in the U. S. is more expensive than travel in foreign lands. Overseas visitors also complain about the reception they receive in many American cities by taxi drivers, waiters and hotel clerks.

The United States has made several improvements in procedures at points of entry to facilitate international travel. Along the Mexican border, where members of the four U. S. inspection agencies are on duty (Customs, Agriculture, Health, and Immigration and Naturalization), only one inspection is now required. Personnel from each agency are used interchangeably.

Since October 1962 a policy of issuing visas by mail, now in effect at 250 consulates in 112 countries, has removed a source of frequent complaint. Traffic bottlenecks at New York piers have been eliminated and oral baggage declarations at all U. S. airports, with occasional spot checks by customs agents, also present a friendlier hand to incoming visitors.

To promote travel to this country, the Eisenhower administration in 1958 proposed that an office of international travel be set up in the Department of Commerce. A request for appropriations on Capitol Hill, however, was stalled.

As the tourist deficit crept toward the one billion dollar mark, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, (D Wash.) introduced a bill to promote travel to the United States.

It passed the Senate in 1960 but was not acted upon in the House. The next year it was reintroduced and enacted as the International Travel Act of 1961, which established a U. S. Travel Service. An intensive campaign to "Visit the U. S. A." was revived and has taken on bigger proportions each succeeding year.

The U. S. Travel Service has channeled millions of pieces of literature overseas. The promotion material is published by the 50 states, tourist and resort areas, travel associations and non-profit tourist promotional organizations. Despite such promotional activity, developing countries and the Communist nations of Eastern Europe are making a strong -- and successful -- pitch for Western European travel dollars. To help meet the competition, the Travel Service says it should have the full $4.7 million authorized in the Travel Act annually to advertise and thereby attract more foreigners into the country. It now operates on a $3 million budget.

John W. Black, U. S. Travel Service Director, points to Spain, Greece, Mexico, Switzerland, Canada and the United Kingdom as countries all having larger travel budgets than the United States. Moreover, Canada's 14 tourist offices in the United States are cited as a strong reason for opening at least one U. S. travel office in that country. The travel service maintains 11 overseas offices, none of them in Canada.

To encourage travelers to visit this country, special sightseeing tours and reduced rates are offered by various airlines, car rental firms, national bus lines and railroads. Best known, perhaps, is the $99 ticket good for 99 days of travel on Greyhound and Continental Trailways buses. Sightseeing companies in some cities offer two different tickets which can be used without limit during specified periods. One is good for 15 days at $52 and the other for 21 days for $62.

Three car rental companies last April announced a "See America Plan" under which Fords, Chevrolets and Plymouths may be rented for $99 a week with no additional charge for mileage. Railroads also offer special plans, offering a 15 per cent reduction, good for 90 days, on coach or first class fares. Thirteen airlines offer foreign visitors a $150 ticket good for 21 days of unlimited travel over the routes they cover throughout the continental United States and Alaska.

Whether such inducements will serve to attract more foreigners to the United States remains to be seen. The alternative would appear to be some form of restraint, either formal or informal, on Americans traveling abroad.

Rear lights -- burned out, broken or obscure -- were one of the five most common defects on passenger cars among 3.5 million of them examined in a voluntary inspection program last year. The situation makes a case for the value of reflective license plates which glow when struck by headlights.

Newspapers are the advertising media most preferred by men's wear stores, according to a survey conducted by the Men's Wear Retailers of America.

The survey was conducted over 62 stores, and 50 of them reported that newspaper placement accounted for from 35 per cent to 95 per cent of their advertising budget.

All stores reporting indicated that they were giving serious consideration to increasing their newspaper lineage because of the results they achieved.

The fact that a sales group accounting for such a large portion of the overall market as men's wear believes implicitly in newspaper advertising is significant.

The sale of semi-durable goods is enhanced by local newspaper selling. The same newspaper is read several times a day. Thus, the product reaches many markets and every member of the family comes into contact with the ad.

For many consumers "seeing is believing" and the printed media conveys a sense of lasting import. Clothing manufacturers know this and sell most of their quality goods through newspapers.

The lasting quality of a newspaper also is important in sales. Readers often save newspapers for several days and use their advertising pages as a handy reference for finding the best buys for their money.

From the Railway Employees Journal: "Protection of public right to transportation services at low cost was a primary purpose when federal regulation of railroads started. In recent years, it has been employed to interfere with railroad rate reductions to meet the competition of competing carriers unable to provide service at as low cost . . . Without revision of regulations, recognizing current competitive conditions, it will be increasingly difficult for railroads to regain the share in the country's total freight traffic to which their efficiency as low-cost carriers entitles them."

I remember him at the age of 86 or so still as active as a jumping bean, playing badminton at our farm. And I especially remember him as the last senator who really investigated campaign contributions with penetrating, old-fashioned vigor. If there were more of this today there wouldn't be any Doddism.

And I remember his remarkable memory, and his graphic description of the 16 presidents of the United States he had met as nearly a century of American history rolled by. The first president was Rutherford B. Hayes in 1877 when Theodore Francis was a 10-year-old boy hiding behind his mother's skirts as they passed through the presidential receiving line.

When President Chester Arthur shook hands with Theodore Francis in 1881, the boy cried, "ouch!"

"I'll show you something," said President Arthur. "I always squeeze the other man's hand first. Otherwise he squeezes mine."

WHEN TO QUIT

But what I remember vividly about the late senator from Rhode Island was that he knew when to quit. Lyndon Johnson, then a senator, told me the story.

Lyndon was presiding over the Senate Preparedness committee on the morning of Jan. 29, 1958, when he received a note from Green asking that LBJ see him. Lyndon turned the gavel over to another senator and went to Green's office where the 91-year-old senator showed him an editorial from the Providence Journal urging that he resign as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee because of age.

"It's true that I can't hear the way I used to and I'm embarrassed by it," said the oldest senator ever to serve in the senate. "I want your advice. Should I resign?"

Sen. Johnson advised in the negative. There was a little more discussion, and Lyndon went back to his preparedness committee.

At 4:45 p.m., Johnson got another note that Senator Green wanted to see him in his office. When he entered, the old man had his head down on his chest, his eyes closed as if asleep. But as the younger man entered, the elder looked up and chuckled.

"I've got a lot of service out of the majority leader today," he said.

"I've decided not to take your advice," he continued. "I'm going to resign -- though not because of these slanted newspaper editorials.

"There are three things I love in life. One is the United States of America. One is the senate. One is the Foreign Relations committee. In fairness to them I'm going to resign as chairman. I'm going to remain a member of the committee and participate in its work, but I'm going to give up the chairmanship. I think it's better that way.

"I can't always hear the witnesses, and I can't always read the statements they turn in. I come up here every Saturday and Sunday and spend all day reading in order to keep up, but I have to confess I fall behind. So it's only fair that I resign."

Johnson, whose eyes had filled with tears, argued with the old man. But Green pulled out a letter and handed it to him.

"You're my majority leader," he said, "so I've written you my letter of resignation. I'm sorry to ignore your advice."

SENATORS WEEP

Johnson asked that Green wait until Monday to give him time to talk to other members of the committee, but Senator Green was adamant. He agreed to wait only until the next morning for a formal meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

That night LBJ called Fulbright of Arkansas, next ranking Democrat, and told him to be sure to be at the committee meeting.

"But I have to preside over the housing bill at the banking and currency committee," reminded Fulbright.

"Forget housing," replied Johnson. "You be there."

Fulbright was there, together with every other member of the foreign relations committee. The venerable senator from Rhode Island sat at the head of the venerable table from which other famous chairmen had guided the foreign relations of the United States. The glass and gold Louis XIV chandelier shed a feeble light over expectant faces. They sensed that an important event was in the making.

Green's letter of resignation was read. Tears came to the eyes of almost every senator -- except the little old man from Rhode Island.

Senators Langer of North Dakota and Aiken of Vermont, both Republicans, protested that Green could not resign. They asked for a vote. Republicans were just as virogous as Democrats. The chairman demurred, finally said he would not stay in the room while the vote was taken. He stepped outside.

A resolution not to accept Green's resignation was passed, 14 to 0.

"Gentlemen," he said as he returned to the committee room, "I appreciate your confidence, but it isn't your decision. I have made my decision and my resignation is hereby accepted."

Senator Green then made one of the most inspiring, touching speeches those around the venerable table had ever heard. It was stirring in its words, eloquent in its simplicity.

Then he stepped down from the chairmanship to a place alongside other senators. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas became chairman.

Ku Klux Klan Rides Again As House Probers Prepare New Hearings to Write Anti-KKK Laws

Washington, D. C. -- This is spring, and in the night the hooded cross burners ride again in fast cars, communicate with walkie-talkies, desecrate their children by thrusting them into Ku Klux Klan meadowland gatherings.

In the cities there are factory cell units; small shop organizers; district membership stewards and muscled men terrorizing small businessmen.

Despite the intense hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, despite the testimony of 192 witnesses, despite 36 full days of cross-examination which filled 4,300 pages, the Klan has lost no members, nor its nerve, nor its plans for action.

It still has the capacity to strike with dynamite or oiled rags.

Of all this the FBI has ample evidence, for it still has considerable manpower infiltrating the scores of KKK overt and "cover" units.

The Klan's potential for damage still is powerful, according to federal and private agencies. Only tough, loophole-less laws can halt it.

Soon an attempt to write such federal statutes will be made. This should occur within a month when Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-L. A., recovers from an illness and calls the group into legislative hearing sessions.

Perhaps some time will have to elapse until the Committee's chief investigator, Don Appel, recovers from a heart attack into which he worked himself during the constant year-long probe and public hearings.

But sometime in June the hearings will start a search for the law which can pull the hoods from the night riders, literally and figuratively.

Most probable proposal will be an act which will hit at the KKK's assualt on individual civil liberties. This statute will be at least three-pronged, it is suggested.

First: The bill would have to hit at the KKK oath.

A statute will have to be written which will deny any group the right to take an oath pledging any man or woman to refrain from informing the duly constituted authorities of knowledge of a committed crime.

Such an oath would make the pledgees participants, or accomplices, or co-conspirators in any illegal act. Thus, if such a bill is passed, the KKK oath would be wiped out.

Second; Efforts will be made to restrict the use of special radio wave lengths.

This is a reference to the citizen band radios which many Kluxers have installed in their cars and offices. Thus, the KKK men can tune in on police wave lengths and know where the cops are -- and how they can be avoided.

Part of this statute will deal with control and use of walkie-talkie, handy gadgets to have for hit-and-run, cross-burning or dynamiting conspiracies.

Third: There will be a registration section.

This would hit at the KKK front societies, the chowder lunch club, the hunting and fishing "covers" for Klaverns.

All Klan units would have to register their members, property, financial records and other vital facts, especially if the Klaverns, etc., operate under official charters.

This bill is in the writing. At the moment there is only one completed proposal before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

It was written and presented for committee discussion by Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, Ga. His proposed act hits at three subversive forces: the Communists, the KKK and the Mafia.

The Weltner proposal would hit at any organization designed to overthrow or seize the government; any organization "which employs intimidation or violence for purpose of depriving citizens of constitutional rights"; any organization "whose purpose is to plan continued and consistent execution of acts which violate the criminal statutes of the U. S."

Mr. Weltner would replace the current Subversive Activities Control Board with a Criminal Conspiracies Control Board. This could cite organizations which commit crimes on the political, social and economic fronts. They could be enjoined from further existence and punished if they reject the action of a civil court.

Whichever bill it will be, this is the season for it.

On April 30 the KKK ran a night rally in Greensboro, N. C. Some 500 people (with children) turned out. There have been other such demonstrations.

Terror still stalks the night.

The local club was the scene on Tuesday of the first of the summer play days of golf.

Visitors from Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville, Cape Girardeau, Kimbeland and Blytheville were invited.

Believe it or not, many came in spite of the rain. Various card games and a word game provided some entertainment while everyone vainly hoped the water would go away.

Mrs. Henrietta Ferrell, a member of the local club, along with Mrs. Martha Bumpons of Paducah, put on a wig demonstration which was enjoyed very much. Several of the ladies served as models of the fine wigs. The explanation of the making of wigs and their care was very interesting.

After a hurried cloak room conference by some club officers, some draw prizes were awarded to the out-of-town visitors.

Mrs. Linda Metheney of Kimbeland won a golf glove. Marie Breeden of Poplar Bluff was awarded a golf tote bag. Pauline Vrigin of Cape J.C. won a golf towel and Kay Inman of Caruthersville received a putting pal.

Cubs Defeat Cards

Pitchers Al Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Chuck Dobson of the Kansas City Athletics deserve something better than they received Tuesday night.

Both hurlers suffer from the same malady --lack of support.

Jackson gave up only four hits in eight innings, but lost to the Chicago Cubs, 2-0.

Dobson worked 6 2-3 innings and held the Washington Senators to four hits, but wasn't the pitcher of record as Don Lock slammed an two-out two-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Senators a 2-1 victory.

Jackson stretched his consecutive scoreless innings pitched to 26 before the Cubs scored in the sixth on a double and two fly balls. Glenn Beckert singled home Don Kessinger with Chicago's other run in the next inning.

The Cardinals made an attempt to score in the ninth as Mike Shannon led off with a double and Curt Flood sent him to third with a single. But Ted Abernathy came on in relief, struck out Orlando Cepeda and got Tim McCarver to hit into a game-ending double play.

Kansas City reliever John Wyatt was the victim of Lock's winning blast. Wyatt walked Dick Nen to lead off the ninth, but struck out the next two batters before Lock teed off against the righthanded fastballer.

Kansas scored its run in the sixth on Ken Harrelson's homer off Washington starter Phil Ortega.

Righthander Red Talbot 1-4, will pitch tonight against former teammate Diego Segui 1-2, in Washington.

Lefthander Ken Holtzman 1-3, will be on the mound for Chicago, facing Cardinal righthander Nelson Briles 0-2, in St. Louis tonight.

Golf Exhibition To Be Presented Prior To LA-Card Game

Marilynn Smith, whose one-time ambition was to pitch for the Cardinals, will present a golfing exhibition prior to the St. Louis - Los Angeles baseball game at new Busch Memorial Stadium next Wednesday (June 1).

Now one of the most well-known lady golf professionals, Miss Smith, finally gets an opportunity "to appear" with the Redbirds. The pre - game exhibition begins at 7:40 p.m.

A native of Topeka, Kansas, Miss Smith's golfing ability and sparkling personality have taken her to New Zealand, Hawaii, Europe, South America and all over the United States. Her finest year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association Tour was 1963, when she finished third in money winnings and Vare Trophy Standings. That year she won four events and also was named Most Improved Professional.

Miss Smith, who took up golf in 1941 at the urging of her father, managed, coached and pitched for a boy's baseball team from the time she was six until she was 11. Her father, who felt baseball was not a feminine enough sport, persuaded her to take up golf.

Last year, Miss Smith competed in 28 official events, winning one of them and collecting a total of $16,692 officially. The blue - eyed blonde posted an average of 73.69 strokes per 18 holes in 93 official rounds.

As an amateur, Miss Smith won the Wichita City Championship in 1946, the Kansas State Championship in 1946, and 1948 and the National Intercollegiate in 1949. Professionally, she has won 14 LPGA events and been co - winner in one.

Miss Smith served as President of the LPGA for three years, in 1958, 1959 and 1960. She was treasurer in 1963 and served as secretary in 1957, a position to which she was re-named in 1965.

After attending East High School in Wichita, Miss Smith spent two years at the University of Kansas. There, she was president of her sophomore class and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Clay Touring Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt AP - Cassius Clay, who made a last minute decision against returning to the United States, began a five-day tour of Egypt today.

"Here I feel at home, here among my Moslem brothers," Clay told a huge, wildly enthusiastic crowd that turned out to meet him in the early morning hours at Cairo's Tarmac Airport.

Clay is a convert to the Black Muslims, which adheres to the Islamic religion, and prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali. He accepted the invitation from Egypt's United Arab Republic Higher Council for Islamic Affairs.

The invitation and acceptance came only a few hours before Clay was to board an airliner for his return to the United States after the successful defense of his world heavyweight championship against Henry Cooper in London last Saturday.

Clay's immediate plans are for a rest and a visit to several points of interest including the Aswan High Dam.

His more long-range plans may include Karl Mildenberger, the European champion from West Germany.

He dropped a couple of hints at the London airport that Mildenberger may be his next opponent, and stopped off in Frankfurt en route to Cairo and had an airport meeting with the handsome, dark-haired German.

Fairly Homers In Eighth For 3-2 Dodger Victory

By DICK COUCH
Asscoiated Press Sports Writer

Mr. Clutch has shifted gears again and the Los Aneles Dodgers are driving.

Ron Fairly, the Dodgers' unsung delivery man, rapped an eighth inning home run Tuesday night that made the difference in a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, the fifth victory in the last six games for the world champions.

Farily has hit four of his five 1966 homers in his last five games, helping the Dodgers stay within range of first-place San Francisco in the National League race.

Three weeks ago, however, the versatile red-head was struggling to brake a batting skid while the Dodgers, after dropping three straight to the Giants, were at a standstill.

Farily, a .270 lifetime hitter, had gone 4-for-36 and was hitting a miserable .203.

Since then, he's rolled at a .400 clip, lifting his average to .290, and driven in 11 runs for a team-leading total of 20. The 27-year-old outfielder paced the club with 70 RBI last season and hit a solid .274.

Tuesday night's homer sent LA in front 3-1 but turned out to be the winning blow when the Phils scored in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Perranoski, who came on for winner Don Sutton in the eighth, had not allowed a run in his previous 11 appearances.

Elsewhere, the Giants whipped Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati blasted Atlanta 8-2, Houston beat New York 5-3 and Chicago blanked St. Louis 2-0.

Cleveland and Detroit split an American League doubleheader, the Tigers taking the first game 7-6 and the Indians the nightcap 2-0, while Baltimore trimmed Chicago 6-4, California stopped New York 4-2, Boston buried Minnesota 11-2 and Washington edged Kansas City 2-1.

A seventh-inning single by pitcher Gaylord Perry touched off the Giants' winning three-run rally against Pittsburgh. Tom Haller singled in the first run, Willie Mays delivered the second with a sacrifice fly and Willie McCovey capped the rally with his fifth homer. Mays' RBI was his first since May 13.

The Reds struck for seven runs in the sixth inning and put away Atlanta behind the six-hit pitching of winner Joey Jay, 5-2, and Bill McCool.

Tommy Helms, who cracked four hits for the night, triggered the big inning with a single and finished it off with a run-scoring single. Don Pavletich singled in two runs and John Edwards doubled across two more as the Reds sent 11 men to the plate and collected half of their 16 hits in the sixth.

The Astros scored four runs in the first inning--three on Jim Gentile's bases-loaded double and held off the Mets on Claude Raymond's one-hit relief pitching over the last 5 1-3 innings. Rusty Staub knocked in the other Houston runs with a double and single.

Glenn Beckert doubled in the sixth inning at St. Louis, and scored on Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly, then drove in the Cubs' second run with a seventh inning single.

Ted Abernathy bailed Bill Hands out of a ninth inning jam, preserving the rookie's fourth victory.

Home runs-- Scott, Boston, and Reichardt, California, 11.

Stolen bases --Agee, Chicago, 11; Tartabull, Kansas City, 7.

Rain Hampers Park Project

JEFFERSON CITY -- The extremely wet weather we are having is going to delay some of the construction projects beyond the anticipated completion date. It all started in February with the big floods along the Current, Jack's Fork and the St. Francis Rivers, causing thousands of dollars of damage in Big Spring, Alley Spring, Montauk and Sam A. Baker State Parks. Damage also occurred in Meramec state Park by the flooding of the Meramec River, in Washington State Park by Big River, and in Bennett Spring State Park from the spring branch and the Niangua River. Much time by park personnel was devoted to the cleanup and repairs of the flooded parks.

Some of these parks have had three more damaging floods, none of which were as severe as the first.

The continued rain has hampered all projects calling for excavation, such as trenching for water and sewer lines, foundations for buildings, and road construction.

Mr. Lee C. Fine, Director of Parks, said that although it was discouraging to park employees not to have their spring projects ready, every effort would be made to have as many of these new improvements completed at the earliest possible date. We hope this will be by May 28.

Looking at the brighter side, all of the parks have taken on an added beauty because of the rain. The wild flowers in the parks seem to be more abundant, the trees have added foliage, the open areas are covered with a thick carpet of grass, and all of the beautiful Ozark springs are still clear and cool although they are flowing more than normal.

"I guess we can't have everything," Mr. Fine said.

Landing Strip Repaired

VAN BUREN -- The landing strip in Big Spring State Park has been repaired since the spring floods and is now being used.

Our first fly - in campers visited the park last week. A St. Louis family of five, a father, mother and three children, flew in on Friday evening, camped overnight and left the next day at noon.

Shortly after they took off another plane landed with two young men campers. They pitched their tent in the campground near the landing strip, spent the night and later the next day departed.

This type of camping is also gaining in popularity, and we expect many more before the summer season is over.

Cubs Defeat Cards

Pitchers Al Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Chuck Dobson of the Kansas City Athletics deserve something better than they received Tuesday night.

Both hurlers suffer from the same malady --lack of support.

Jackson gave up only four hits in eight innings, but lost to the Chicago Cubs, 2-0.

Dobson worked 6 2-3 innings and held the Washington Senators to four hits, but wasn't the pitcher of record as Don Lock slammed an two-out two-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Senators a 2-1 victory.

Jackson stretched his consecutive scoreless innings pitched to 26 before the Cubs scored in the sixth on a double and two fly balls. Glenn Beckert singled home Don Kessinger with Chicago's other run in the next inning.

The Cardinals made an attempt to score in the ninth as Mike Shannon led off with a double and Curt Flood sent him to third with a single. But Ted Abernathy came on in relief, struck out Orlando Cepeda and got Tim McCarver to hit into a game-ending double play.

Kansas City reliever John Wyatt was the victim of Lock's winning blast. Wyatt walked Dick Nen to lead off the ninth, but struck out the next two batters before Lock teed off against the righthanded fastballer.

Kansas scored its run in the sixth on Ken Harrelson's homer off Washington starter Phil Ortega.

Righthander Red Talbot 1-4, will pitch tonight against former teammate Diego Segui 1-2, in Washington.

Lefthander Ken Holtzman 1-3, will be on the mound for Chicago, facing Cardinal righthander Nelson Briles 0-2, in St. Louis tonight.

Golf Exhibition To Be Presented Prior To LA-Card Game

Marilynn Smith, whose one-time ambition was to pitch for the Cardinals, will present a golfing exhibition prior to the St. Louis - Los Angeles baseball game at new Busch Memorial Stadium next Wednesday (June 1).

Now one of the most well-known lady golf professionals, Miss Smith, finally gets an opportunity "to appear" with the Redbirds. The pre - game exhibition begins at 7:40 p.m.

A native of Topeka, Kansas, Miss Smith's golfing ability and sparkling personality have taken her to New Zealand, Hawaii, Europe, South America and all over the United States. Her finest year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association Tour was 1963, when she finished third in money winnings and Vare Trophy Standings. That year she won four events and also was named Most Improved Professional.

Miss Smith, who took up golf in 1941 at the urging of her father, managed, coached and pitched for a boy's baseball team from the time she was six until she was 11. Her father, who felt baseball was not a feminine enough sport, persuaded her to take up golf.

Last year, Miss Smith competed in 28 official events, winning one of them and collecting a total of $16,692 officially. The blue - eyed blonde posted an average of 73.69 strokes per 18 holes in 93 official rounds.

As an amateur, Miss Smith won the Wichita City Championship in 1946, the Kansas State Championship in 1946, and 1948 and the National Intercollegiate in 1949. Professionally, she has won 14 LPGA events and been co - winner in one.

Miss Smith served as President of the LPGA for three years, in 1958, 1959 and 1960. She was treasurer in 1963 and served as secretary in 1957, a position to which she was re-named in 1965.

After attending East High School in Wichita, Miss Smith spent two years at the University of Kansas. There, she was president of her sophomore class and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Clay Touring Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt AP - Cassius Clay, who made a last minute decision against returning to the United States, began a five-day tour of Egypt today.

"Here I feel at home, here among my Moslem brothers," Clay told a huge, wildly enthusiastic crowd that turned out to meet him in the early morning hours at Cairo's Tarmac Airport.

Clay is a convert to the Black Muslims, which adheres to the Islamic religion, and prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali. He accepted the invitation from Egypt's United Arab Republic Higher Council for Islamic Affairs.

The invitation and acceptance came only a few hours before Clay was to board an airliner for his return to the United States after the successful defense of his world heavyweight championship against Henry Cooper in London last Saturday.

Clay's immediate plans are for a rest and a visit to several points of interest including the Aswan High Dam.

His more long-range plans may include Karl Mildenberger, the European champion from West Germany.

He dropped a couple of hints at the London airport that Mildenberger may be his next opponent, and stopped off in Frankfurt en route to Cairo and had an airport meeting with the handsome, dark-haired German.

Fairly Homers In Eighth For 3-2 Dodger Victory

By DICK COUCH
Asscoiated Press Sports Writer

Mr. Clutch has shifted gears again and the Los Aneles Dodgers are driving.

Ron Fairly, the Dodgers' unsung delivery man, rapped an eighth inning home run Tuesday night that made the difference in a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, the fifth victory in the last six games for the world champions.

Farily has hit four of his five 1966 homers in his last five games, helping the Dodgers stay within range of first-place San Francisco in the National League race.

Three weeks ago, however, the versatile red-head was struggling to brake a batting skid while the Dodgers, after dropping three straight to the Giants, were at a standstill.

Farily, a .270 lifetime hitter, had gone 4-for-36 and was hitting a miserable .203.

Since then, he's rolled at a .400 clip, lifting his average to .290, and driven in 11 runs for a team-leading total of 20. The 27-year-old outfielder paced the club with 70 RBI last season and hit a solid .274.

Tuesday night's homer sent LA in front 3-1 but turned out to be the winning blow when the Phils scored in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Perranoski, who came on for winner Don Sutton in the eighth, had not allowed a run in his previous 11 appearances.

Elsewhere, the Giants whipped Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati blasted Atlanta 8-2, Houston beat New York 5-3 and Chicago blanked St. Louis 2-0.

Cleveland and Detroit split an American League doubleheader, the Tigers taking the first game 7-6 and the Indians the nightcap 2-0, while Baltimore trimmed Chicago 6-4, California stopped New York 4-2, Boston buried Minnesota 11-2 and Washington edged Kansas City 2-1.

A seventh-inning single by pitcher Gaylord Perry touched off the Giants' winning three-run rally against Pittsburgh. Tom Haller singled in the first run, Willie Mays delivered the second with a sacrifice fly and Willie McCovey capped the rally with his fifth homer. Mays' RBI was his first since May 13.

The Reds struck for seven runs in the sixth inning and put away Atlanta behind the six-hit pitching of winner Joey Jay, 5-2, and Bill McCool.

Tommy Helms, who cracked four hits for the night, triggered the big inning with a single and finished it off with a run-scoring single. Don Pavletich singled in two runs and John Edwards doubled across two more as the Reds sent 11 men to the plate and collected half of their 16 hits in the sixth.

The Astros scored four runs in the first inning--three on Jim Gentile's bases-loaded double-and held off the Mets on Claude Raymond's one-hit relief pitching over the last 5 1-3 innings. Rusty Staub knocked in the other Houston runs with a double and single.

Glenn Beckert doubled in the sixth inning at St. Louis, and scored on Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly, then drove in the Cubs' second run with a seventh inning single.

Ted Abernathy bailed Bill Hands out of a ninth inning jam, preserving the rookie's fourth victory.

Home runs-- Scott, Boston, and Reichardt, California, 11.

Stolen bases --Agee, Chicago, 11; Tartabull, Kansas City, 7.

Rain Hampers Park Project

JEFFERSON CITY -- The extremely wet weather we are having is going to delay some of the construction projects beyond the anticipated completion date. It all started in February with the big floods along the Current, Jack's Fork and the St. Francis Rivers, causing thousands of dollars of damage in Big Spring, Alley Spring, Montauk and Sam A. Baker State Parks. Damage also occurred in Meramec state Park by the flooding of the Meramec River, in Washington State Park by Big River, and in Bennett Spring State Park from the spring branch and the Niangua River. Much time by park personnel was devoted to the cleanup and repairs of the flooded parks.

Some of these parks have had three more damaging floods, none of which were as severe as the first.

The continued rain has hampered all projects calling for excavation, such as trenching for water and sewer lines, foundations for buildings, and road construction.

Mr. Lee C. Fine, Director of Parks, said that although it was discouraging to park employees not to have their spring projects ready, every effort would be made to have as many of these new improvements completed at the earliest possible date. We hope this will be by May 28.

Looking at the brighter side, all of the parks have taken on an added beauty because of the rain. The wild flowers in the parks seem to be more abundant, the trees have added foliage, the open-areas are covered with a thick carpet of grass, and all of the beautiful Ozark springs are still clear and cool although they are flowing more than normal.

"I guess we can't have everything," Mr. Fine said.

Landing Strip Repaired

VAN BUREN -- The landing strip in Big Spring State Park has been repaired since the spring floods and is now being used.

Our first fly - in campers visited the park last week. A St. Louis family of five, a father, mother and three children, flew in on Friday evening, camped overnight and left the next day at noon.

Shortly after they took off another plane landed with two young men campers. They pitched their tent in the campground near the landing strip, spent the night and later the next day departed.

This type of camping is also gaining in popularity, and we expect many more before the summer season is over.

Rodeo Prize Money Nears Million Mark

DENVER -- Pro rodeo's 1966 prize money graph neared $1 million Monday after three major cowboy conflicts ended concurrently in Las Vegas, Nev., Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Ore.

The trio of rodeos paid out $39,000 to 106 contestants, of a total 430 entries, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here, pushing payoff for the first five months of the year to $929,606.

Prize money figures for mid-May, 1965, were $836,410, the R. C. A. added. The cowboy sport's overall dollar distribution last year hit $3,568,410.

Steer wrestling competition at Las Vegas produced the week's individual top money winner in John W. Jones, 33, San Luis Obispo, Calif., with $1,110.

Only serious arena injury reported was to veteran Buster Quillan, Rochester, Wash., who underwent surgery for multiple fractures of the thigh bone after being trampled during bull riding competition in the Portland arena.

Attending physicians said Quillan would be in traction for two months.

In other rodeo action over the weekend Paul Mayo, 24, Grinnell, Ia., pasted $828 to his national lead in bareback bronc riding; Bill Smith, 25, Cody, Wyo., earned $311 in saddle bronc riding to further his bid for the 1966 crown in that event, and leading money winner, Dean Oliver, 36, Boise, Ida., broke a 7-week slump by snaring $431 in calf roping.

Oliver, aiming for his fourth all-around championship in a row, boosted his seasonal take to $15,518.

Seven Rookies Enter Indianapolis 500

By PAUL PETROTTA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. AP -- Seven rookies drivers - considered veterans outside Indianapolis--will crack the big time in the 50th 500-mile classic May 30.

"You're nobody until you've run this joint," said Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa. "It really makes you a somebody."

The last time a rookie hit the winner's circle at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was 1927 when George Souders of Lafayette, Ind., piloted a Duesenberg at 97-plus miles per hour.

Two first-timers this season. Graham Hill of London and Jackie Stewart of Dunbarton, Scotland, are leading drivers on the World Grand Prix circuit.

Besides these and Kenyon, the rookies are Gary Congdon, Garden Grove, Calif.; Cal Yarborough, Charlotte, N.C.; Carl Williams, Kansas City, Mo., and Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio.

Stewart, 26, is the hottest driver on the international circuit. Last Sunday he won the season's first Grand Prix race at Monaco and during the first three months of 1966 he won four of eight events to capture the Tasman Championship to Australia and New Zealand.

Stewart, who drives a Lola-Ford, lives 100 miles from Scot Jimmy Clark, who captured the 1965 world road racing crown and is the defending champion at Indianapolis.

Hill, 36, earned the Grand Prix title in 1962 and since has placed second three straight years. The veteran, who started as a mechanic and free lance driver, also will pilot a Lola-Ford in the 500.

Kenyon was burned badly and lost his left hand in a crash at Langhorne, Pa., last June. He missed the rest of the season, but this year his qualification speed of 158.555 m.p.h. put him in the sixth of 11 starting rows.

Kenyon feels the only way his Gerhardt-Offenhauser can win at Indianapolis is "to try to out-last the Fords." Next to Kenyon will be Congdon in a Huffaker-Offenhauser.

Williams spun his Garhardt-Ford three times before he finally qualified the car last Saturday. He was unhurt.

Yarborough is better known on the stock car circuit where he was runner-up last February in the Daytona 500. He drove his Vollstedt-Ford to a four-lap qualifying average of 159.794 m.p.h. at Indianapolis.

Dickson was the last to make this year's 500 field. He did it with his Halibrand-Ford in the final hour last Sunday.

The Speedway's regular rookie crop has produced several stars-including this year's pole position winner, Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.

Andretti was Rookie of the Year last May for a third place in the 500 and he finished the season as the U.S. Auto Club national champion.

At Indianapolis this month, he has been the pace-setter, pushing his Brabham-Brawner-Ford to the official Speedway records of 165.899 n.p.h. for four laps and 166.328 for one lap.

His car refashioner, Clint Brawner of Phoeniz, Ariz., was honored Tuesday night as the top mechanic at Indianapolis.

Jimmy Clark, who will start next to Andretti in the front row, placed second his first year in 1963 and last year won the 500 laurels easily.

Cash Homers For 7-6 Tiger Victory

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Everythins is perfect-good defense, good hitting and good pitching."

Sounds like the manager of one of baseball's upper-echelon teams, right?

Actually, those are the words of Billy Herman, whose Boston Red Sox are only 1 1/2 games and four days removed for the American League cellar.

But Herman's Red Sox are streaking. They stormed to their sixth straight victory Tuesday night, crushing the Minnesota Twins 11-2 with a 16-hit barrage that included homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Gosger and Tony Conigliaro, plus four doubles.

In addition to the lusty hitting, Boston had the good pitching, by Jose Santiago and Dick Radatz, and the good defense, a zero in the error column.

At the other end of the ladder, front-running Cleveland and second-place Detroit split a doubleheader Tuesday night. The Tigers won the opener 7-6 on Don Wert's eighth-inning single, while the Indians took the second game 2-0 as Luis Tiant pitched his fourth shutout of the year.

Also in the AL-California beat the Yankees 4-2 with a four-run fifth inning, Baltimore downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4 behind the key hitting of Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell, and Don Lock's two-run pinch homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth lifted Washington over the Athletics 2-1.

Tiant, whose four victories have all been shutouts, blanked the Tigers on four hits in the second game at Detroit. Chuck Hinton singled across an unearned run against loser Hank Aguirre in the fifth and Leon Wagner homered for Cleveland's second run in the eighth.

The Tigers, down 5-0 in the opener, came back and eventually settled it in the eighth when Wert singled in Ray Oyler. Norm Cash hit two homers for Detroit and Jim Northrup one. Rocky Colavito, Duke Sims and Fred Whitefield homered for Cleveland.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded double climaxed the Angels' winning rally against the Yanks. Trailing 2-0 going into the fifth, California got its four runs off rookie reliever Dooley Womack on a walk, Womack's error, Willie Smith's pinch double, a fielder's choice and Adcock's two-run hit.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a single, while Powell's single sent across Baltimore's clinching run against the drooping White Sox, who've lost eight of their last nine.

Lock pulled it out for the Senators with his clutch homer off Kansas City reliever John Wyatt.

Washington, limited to four hits by Chuck Dobson and Wyatt through eight innings, got a lift when Dick Nen led off the last of the ninth with a walk. Wyatt struck out the next two Senators, but Lock then banged his homer into the bullpen in left field.

Maurycy Leads Qualifying Rounds Of Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. AP --The worm may have turned Tuesday for John Maurycy, a New York golfer who is a first year member of the PGA tour.

The 28-year-old Schenectady linkster, who plays out of Smithtown on Long Island, paced the qualifying for the $57,000 Oklahoma City Open with a par 71.

Maurycy was trailed by Dale Douglass of Oklahoma City and Sonny Methvin, an ex-Louisiana State star, who had 72s.

Maurycy has played in fewer than a dozen PGA tournaments and is in his sixth year as a professional.

"I didn't hit any good or bad shots today, just mediocre ones," Maurycy said.

He could be forgiven for his lack of optimism since he has not made the cut in any tournament thus far.

A field of 66 battled for 58 places in the tourney, which opens Thursday. Eighty-eight members of the 144 man field were exempt from qualifying.

Pro-amateur play today takes up the slack prior to the start of the tournament. Pros will be shooting for $3,500 at the Quail Creek Country Club.

Among the top-name players in the 72-hole meet are Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Jack Rule Jr., the defending champion. Gene Littler withdrew because of a throat infection.

Poland's Partition

The first partition of Poland occurred in 1772. The Prussian, Russian and Austrian governments took advantage of the existing unrest and arranged for a partition of that country and the annexation of some of its territory.

Rodeo Prize Money Nears Million Mark

DENVER -- Pro rodeo's 1966 prize money graph neared $1 million Monday after three major cowboy conflicts ended concurrently in Las Vegas, Nev., Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Ore.

The trio of rodeos paid out $39,000 to 106 contestants, of a total 430 entries, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said here, pushing payoff for the first five months of the year to $929,606.

Prize money figures for mid-May, 1965, were $836,410, the R. C. A. added. The cowboy sport's overall dollar distribution last year hit $3,568,410.

Steer wrestling competition at Las Vegas produced the week's individual top money winner in John W. Jones, 33, San Luis Obispo, Calif., with $1,110.

Only serious arena injury reported was to veteran Buster Quillan, Rochester, Wash., who underwent surgery for multiple fractures of the thigh bone after being trampled during bull riding competition in the Portland arena.

Attending physicians said Quillan would be in traction for two months.

In other rodeo action over the weekend Paul Mayo, 24, Grinnell, Ia., pasted $828 to his national lead in bareback bronc riding; Bill Smith, 25, Cody, Wyo., earned $311 in saddle bronc riding to further his bid for the 1966 crown in that event, and leading money winner, Dean Oliver, 36, Boise, Ida., broke a 7-week slump by snaring $431 in calf roping.

Oliver, aiming for his fourth all - around championship in a row, boosted his seasonal take to $15,518.

Seven Rookies Enter Indianapolis 500

By PAUL PETROTTA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. AP -- Seven rookies drivers - considered veterans outside Indianapolis--will crack the big time in the 50th 500-mile classic May 30.

"You're nobody until you've run this joint," said Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa. "It really makes you a somebody."

The last time a rookie hit the winner's circle at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was 1927 when George Souders of Lafayette, Ind., piloted a Duesenberg at 97-plus miles per hour.

Two first-timers this season. Graham Hill of London and Jackie Stewart of Dunbarton, Scotland, are leading drivers on the World Grand Prix circuit.

Besides these and Kenyon, the rookies are Gary Congdon, Garden Grove, Calif.; Cal Yarborough, Charlotte, N.C.; Carl Williams, Kansas City, Mo., and Larry Dickson, Marletta, Ohio.

Stewart, 26, is the hottest driver on the international circuit. Last Sunday he won the season's first Grand Prix race at Monaco and during the first three months of 1966 he won four of eight events to capture the Tasman Championship to Australia and New Zealand.

Stewart, who drives a Lola-Ford, lives 100 miles from Scot Jimmy Clark, who captured the 1965 world road racing crown and is the defending champion at Indianapolis.

Hill, 36, earned the Grand Prix title in 1962 and since has placed second three straight years. The veteran, who started as a mechanic and free lance driver, also will pilot a Lola-Ford in the 500.

Kenyon was burned badly and lost his left hand in a crash at Langhorne, Pa., last June. He missed the rest of the season, but this year his qualification speed of 158.555 m.p.h. put him in the sixth of 11 starting rows.

Kenyon feels the only way his Gerhardt-Offenhauser can win at Indianapolis is "to try to out-last the Fords." Next to Kenyon will be Congdon in a Huffaker-Offenhauser.

Williams spun his Garhardt-Ford three times before he finally qualified the car last Saturday. He was unhurt.

Yarborough is better known on the stock car circuit where he was runner-up last February in the Daytona 500. He drove his Vollstedt-Ford to a four-lap qualifying average of 159.794 m.p.h. at Indianapolis.

Dickson was the last to make this year's 500 field. He did it with his Halibrand-Ford in the final hour last Sunday.

The Speedway's regular rookie crop has produced several stars-including this year's pole position winner, Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.

Andretti was Rookie of the Year last May for a third place in the 500 and he finished the season as the U.S. Auto Club national champion.

At Indianapolis this month, he has been the pace-setter, pushing his Brabham-Brawner-Ford to the official Speedway records of 165.899 n.p.h. for four laps and 166.328 for one lap.

His car refashioner, Clint Brawner of Phoeniz, Ariz., was honored Tuesday night as the top mechanic at Indianapolis.

Jimmy Clark, who will start next to Andretti in the front row, placed second his first year in 1963 and last year won the 500 laurels easily.

BATTING -- Glenn Beckert, Cubs, doubled and scored one run, then drove in another with a single in a 2-0 victory over St. Louis.

PITCHING --Luis Tiant, Indians, scattered four hits for his fourth shutout victory as Cleveland blanked Detroit 2-0 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Cash Homers For 7-6 Tiger Victory

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Everythins is perfect-good defense, good hitting and good pitching."

Sounds like the manager of one of baseball's upper-echelon teams, right?

Actually, those are the words of Billy Herman, whose Boston Red Sox are only 1 1/2 games and four days removed for the American League cellar.

But Herman's Red Sox are streaking. They stormed to their sixth straight victory Tuesday night, crushing the Minnesota Twins 11-2 with a 16-hit barrage that included homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Gosger and Tony Conigliaro, plus four doubles.

In addition to the lusty hitting, Boston had the good pitching, by Jose Santiago and Dick Radatz, and the good defense, a zero in the error column.

At the other end of the ladder, front-running Cleveland and second-place Detroit split a doubleheader Tuesday night. The Tigers won the opener 7-6 on Don Wert's eighth-inning single, while the Indians took the second game 2-0 as Luis Tiant pitched his fourth shutout of the year.

Also in the AL-California beat the Yankees 4-2 with a four-run fifth inning, Baltimore downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4 behind the key hitting of Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell, and Don Lock's two-run pinch homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth lifted Washington over the Athletics 2-1.

Tiant, whose four victories have all been shutouts, blanked the Tigers on four hits in the second game at Detroit. Chuck Hinton singled across an unearned run against loser Hank Aguirre in the fifth and Leon Wagner homered for Cleveland's second run in the eighth.

The Tigers, down 5-0 in the opener, came back and eventually settled it in the eighth when Wert singled in Ray Oyler. Norm Cash hit two homers for Detroit and Jim Northrup one. Rocky Colavito, Duke Sims and Fred Whitefield homered for Cleveland.

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded double climaxed the Angels' winning rally against the Yanks. Trailing 2-0 going into the fifth, California got its four runs off rookie reliever Dooley Womack on a walk, Womack's error, Willie Smith's pinch double, a fielder's choice and Adcock's two-run hit.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a single, while Powell's single sent across Baltimore's clinching run against the drooping White Sox, who've lost eight of their last nine.

Lock pulled it out for the Senators with his clutch homer off Kansas City reliever John Wyatt.

Washington, limited to four hits by Chuck Dobson and Wyatt through eight innings, got a lift when Dick Nen led off the last of the ninth with a walk. Wyatt struck out the next two Senators, but Lock then banged his homer into the bullpen in left field.

Maurycy Leads Qualifying Rounds Of Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. AP --The worm may have turned Tuesday for John Maurycy, a New York golfer who is a first year member of the PGA tour.

The 28-year-old Schenectady linkster, who plays out of Smithtown on Long Island, paced the qualifying for the $57,000 Oklahoma City Open with a par 71.

Maurycy was trailed by Dale Douglass of Oklahoma City and Sonny Methvin, an ex-Louisiana State star, who had 72s.

Maurycy has played in fewer than a dozen PGA tournaments and is in his sixth year as a professional.

"I didn't hit any good or bad shots today, just mediocre ones," Maurycy said.

He could be forgiven for his lack of optimism since he has not made the cut in any tournament thus far.

A field of 66 battled for 58 places in the tourney, which opens Thursday. Eighty-eight members of the 144 man field were exempt from qualifying.

Pro-amateur play today takes up the slack prior to the start of the tournament. Pros will be shooting for $3,500 at the Quail Creek Country Club.

Among the top-name players in the 72-hole meet are Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Jack Rule Jr., the defending champion. Gene Littler withdrew because of a throat infection.

Poland's Partition

The first partition of Poland occurred in 1772. The Prussian, Russian and Austrian governments took advantage of the existing unrest and arranged for a partition of that country and the annexation of some of its territory.

Washington Report

Sen. Stuart Symington

There are many significant issues confronting us but none of more critical importance than that of nuclear proliferation. The unanimity with which the Senate spoke on this problem last week serves to support the President in his efforts to negotiate agreements limiting the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Senate unanimously passed a resolution, which I co-sponsored, that commends the President's efforts and supports whatever is considered appropriate and necessary in the interest of possible solution to this vital nuclear proliferation problem.

Dr. Elmer Ellis was in Washington this past week as the guest of honor at a luncheon held by the University of Missouri Alumni Association of Washington. Judge James Finch of the Missouri Supreme Court, who served on the Board of Curators during that period of great expansion under Dr. Ellis, was also present for the occasion. Dr. Ellis will retire as President this summer but will continue to serve the University as he has so admirably for many years.

As the boating season arrives, we are reminded of the precautions as well as the pleasures of water sports. It is surprising to learn from a recent estimate that 50% of all Americans cannot swim over 50 feet.

The U. S. Coast Guard survey shows that in 1965 Missouri had 59,725 boats, about 1.4% of the national total of 4.1 million. During that year only 60 vessels were involved in accidents in our state with 21 fatalities. This is well below the national average.

Most of these accidents resulted from collisions with other vessels, in turn caused principally by failure to maintain a proper lookout. For this reason, education courses on boating safety given by the Coast Guard Auxiliary merit the attention of boat operators.

This past week the Senate gave its advice and consent to new international machinery for settling investment disputes that arise between private foreign investors and governments -- another hopeful step towards achieving a body of international law for settling controversies. The Senate having given this consent, the United States is now the sixth country to ratify the Convention on the Settlement of Investment Disputes between States and Nationals of Other States.

That Convention is designed to improve the international investment climate, and also to stimulate the flow of private investment capital to less developed countries. Use of the machinery, however, is entirely voluntary unless there is a previous written agreement by either the private investor or the sovereign government.

Congress has taken a major step toward the eventual solution of the boxcar shortages by clearing for Presidential signature last week a bill amending the Interstate Commerce Act.

This bill, which I also cosponsored, authorizes the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish rental rates on freight cars that would provide an incentive for the building of additional freight cars. When signed by the President and implemented by the ICC, the measure is designed to provide a long-range solution by increasing the total supply of freight cars.

Meanwhile, the ICC gives assurance that it will utilize its emergency powers to alleviate boxcar shortages which occur during peak harvest seasons.

Today a housewife has a choice of 8900 items in the average supermarket, as compared to 1500 offered just 20 years ago. The great increase in variety has brought with it problems of packaging and labeling, as a shopper often relies on these two aspects to determine the contents of a package.

This week the Senate plans to begin consideration of a measure dealing with problems of consumers and manufacturers. The Fair Packaging and Labeling Act has been the subject of many hearings in the Committee on Commerce. That Committee has now reported the legislation to the Senate.

Coincidental Contest Winner

ALPENA, Mich. AP -- Mayor Walter Weinkauf was drawing a name from 3,000 entries in a contest Tuesday when a photographer looked up from his camera and said:

"See that you pull out a poor family with eight or nine kids."

Winkauf drew the name of Marie Deno.

Mrs. Deno not only is the mother of nine, but she is the wife of the man with the camera, Eugene Skeets Deno, general news editor of The Alpena News.

The prize: a free, five-minute shopping spree by the family in a supermarket.

Mrs. Deno quoted her husband as telling the mayor before the contest drawing, "We could clean the store out with my family. Why don't you pull out mine?"

Should Greek be made the official language for tire-buying day?

We're agin it.

Simple English gets our vote.

Sure, B.F.Goodrich dealers can expound on cord angles, high-hysteresis rubber compounds and kerf depths.

Mostly though, they give you straight talk on finding the right tire for your kind of driving.

And they've got a pocket-size device to aid their eloquence: the BFG Tire Value Calculator.

You tell it how much you drive... where and when... how fast. Then it tells you which BFG tire will suit you best, cost you least. (Maybe as little as $10.95.)

We figure you're interested in what a tire will do for you. Not in how it does it.

That's straight talk—the kind of language you can translate into savings.

Winkauf drew the name of Marie Deno.

Mrs. Deno not only is the mother of nine, but she is the wife of the man with the camera, Eugene Skeets Deno, general news editor of The Alpena News.

The prize: a free, five-minute shopping spree by the family in a supermarket.

Mrs. Deno quoted her husband as telling the mayor before the contest drawing, "We could clean the store out with my family. Why don't you pull out mine?"

Should Greek be made the official language for tire-buying day?

We're agin it.

Simple English gets our vote.

Sure, B.F.Goodrich dealers can expound on cord angles, high-hysteresis rubber compounds and kerf depths.

Mostly though, they give you straight talk on finding the right tire for your kind of driving.

And they've got a pocket-size device to aid their eloquence: the BFG Tire Value Calculator.

You tell it how much you drive... where and when... how fast. Then it tells you which BFG tire will suit you best, cost you least. (Maybe as little as $10.95.)

We figure you're interested in what a tire will do for you. Not in how it does it.

That's straight talk—the kind of language you can translate into savings.

The straight-talk tire people. B.F.Goodrich

Individual Freedom And The Common Defence

by Walter Millis

THE BUILDING OF THE DEFENSES

A brief summary of the process may better indicate its significance. From 1938 onward the Dies Committee devoted its main efforts to exposing Communists, or supposed Communists and Communist sympathizers, in the Federal government. The first echo of the Alien Acts came later in the same year, when the McCormack Act decreed that anyone who served as an agent of a foreign principal must register with the Secretary of State. In 1939 the Hatch Act (originally adopted to debar Federal employees from partisan political activity) was amended to forbid government workers belonging to any organization "which advocates the overthrow of our constitutional form of government." In the same year a proviso was added to the Emergency Relief Act forbidding the payment of relief to any one advocating violent overthrow. It was the first of the riders which were subsequently added to every appropriation bill, forbidding the use of the funds to pay those advocating violent overthrow and making it a felony for such persons to accept such wages or salaries. Since the '40's it has thus in effect been unlawful for a Communist or pro-Communist to have a place on the Federal payroll.

Tensions already high were greatly increased with the outbreak of war in Europe in September 1939, as a result of a temporary alliance between the Soviet and the Nazi dictatorships. Our first explicit peacetime sedition act in nearly a century and a half came with the Smith Act of 1940. True to its prototypes, it was actually both an alien and a sedition act. It provided for the registration and fingerprinting of all aliens; it decreed the deportation of any alien who at any time after entering the country had advocated violent overthrow of the government. These clauses, seemingly in direct violation of the Constitutional guarantees of free speech and assembly, were not to meet ultimate court test for another eight years -- partly because the Attorneys General of the time were reluctant to use them, mainly because, after June 1941, the Communists were aligned with the democracies, while after Pearl Harbor any Nazi seditions would have been only absurd. But the Smith Act represented a foundation stone in the great defenses against sedition which were to be erected with the reviving tensions of the cold war after 1945.

Consumer Quiz

Today's food shopper faces a wide choice of similar products, and a wide range of decisions to make each time she walks into the supermarket.

If you are on a budget, or should be, and consider yourself well-endowed with common sense, take this quiz to see just how wise a shopper you really are.

1. The least expensive cuts of beef come from which part of the carcass? Round -- Loin -- Chuck -- Rib.

2. Your store is selling a dozen Grade A Large eggs for 56¢ and a dozen Grade A Medium eggs for 47¢. Which is the better buy in terms of getting the most egg for your money?

3. Which of the following is the best preparation for your regular food shopping spree? Make out a list and buy only what is on it; check the ads to see what and where the best buys are; walk around the store and buy whatever appeals to you; don't keep a regular pattern of shopping.

4. Your market is having a sale on ground round at 89¢ a pound. The store also sells ground chuck at 59¢ a pound and plain ground beef at 39¢ a pound. You'd like to stock up on chopped beef for meat loaf, spaghetti sauce, and chili. The best buy in terms of nutrition is?

5. The best way to store chicken in your refrigerator is: Leave it in the original wrapping; remove the original wrapping, then cover loosely with waxed paper; remove the giblets and store uncovered.

ANSWERS:

1. Chuck.

2. Grade A Medium eggs are the better buy. A rough rule to thumb to judge egg prices on the spot is this: Take either one-eighth or seven cents from the price of large eggs to arrive at the equal cost of Medium eggs. Medium eggs of the same grade category below this price are a better buy.

3. The best snswer is to check to ads to see what and where the best buys are. Supermarkets often buy up large quantities of meat or other products to sell them at specials. This is to attract customers to the store, but specials can also work to your advantage. Food ads also tell you what products are the best buys and most plentiful that week.

4. Ordinary ground beef is fine for these uses. Ground chuck is recommended when you want hamburgers for the small fry, ground round is used on special occasions.

5. Remove the original wrappings, cover loosely with waxed paper. Poultry, like other raw meats, is very perishable and should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The store wrappings should always be removed or punctured, and the poultry should be loosely wrapped. Also, you should remove the giblets and store separately since they will spoil more rapidly than the rest of the bird.

If you had all of them right, or only one wrong, chances are you've had a lot of experience in shopping for food, and you probably already have copies of U.S. Department of Agriculture's marketing bulletins.

If you had two wrong, you have a lot of common sense, but wouldn't it help to take advantage of some of these shopping tips?

If you had more than two wrong, with a little experience in developing your common sense, and a little help from USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, you're sure to improve.

For more information on these questions and answers to others like them, write for Marketing Bulletin No. 15, "U. S. Grades for Beef," and Leaflet No. 442, "How to Buy Eggs . ." from the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Springfield Man Charged With Manslaugher

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. AP 00 A manslaughter charge was filed against Charles Joseph Dando, Springfield, Tuesday in connection with the traffic death of Norman R. Barg of Chicago.

The charge was filed by the Greene County prosecutor's office after a coroner's jury ruled Monday that Barg, 32, died as the result of an accident in which Dando was driving on the wrong side of the road at excessive speed and under the influence of intoxicants.

The accident occurred May 11 on U. S. 65 a mile north of Springfield.

St. Ferdinands Church Damaged

ST. LOUIS AP -- Historic old St. Ferdinand's Shrine Church, the first Catholic church in St. Louis, was damaged heavily Tuesday night by a fire that also damaged priceless relics and art objects.

The church was established in 1792 in what is now suburban Florissant.

A passerby discovered the blaze after noticing smoke coming from the attic of an adjoining rectory. Firemen extinguished the fire within two hours.

Police said that they were told that lightning struck near the building Monday night and that it was possible it touched off the fire that smouldered several hours.

Dr. William R. Lewis, a former art instructor at St. Louis University, directed firemen in removing three paintings that he said may be valued at several thousand dollars each. Lewis said that, according to legend the paintings were a gift of the King of France when the church was built.

The church is no longer used for services.

To the Editor:

We are in danger of forgetting the society which made this country what it is today; we are in danger of ignoring what lies at the end of the new road we have traversed as a nation and a people, which is indicated by the unlimited use of government power and the dominance of the collective group over the individual in nearly all avenues of life.

By contrast, our country and its economic achievement, which is the wonder of the world, were built by freedom and the free-enterprise system.

Nearly everybody has heard the glib and phony arguments to justify change: That modern society is too complex to tolerate much freedom, that our Constitution is obsolete, that our future must now be planned by bureaucrats, that minority collectives require aid.

The fact remains that the tremendous success story of this great nation happened without controls or collectivism.

We have attained the highest living standard in the world; we have become the most efficient producers; and we made our land rich far beyond the most fantastic dreams of bygone days.

This cannot be explained by the blessings of nature or by stimulations through bureaucratic action. Other countries equally blessed by nature, notably Russia, have lagged far behind us, and the most energetic programs of governments having total power have not enabled the peoples of these lands to overtake or significantly gain on us. Liberty is the secret. Foreign ideologies have no place in our land.

To the Editor:

We are in danger of forgetting the society which made this country what it is today; we are in danger of ignoring what lies at the end of the new road we have traversed as a nation and a people, which is indicated by the unlimited use of government power and the dominance of the collective group over the individual in nearly all avenues of life.

By contrast, our country and its economic achievement, which is the wonder of the world, were built by freedom and the free-enterprise system.

Nearly everybody has heard the glib and phony arguments to justify change: That modern society is too complex to tolerate much freedom, that our Constitution is obsolete, that our future must now be planned by bureaucrats, that minority collectives require aid.

The fact remains that the tremendous success story of this great nation happened without controls or collectivism.

We have attained the highest living standard in the world; we have become the most efficient producers; and we made our land rich far beyond the most fantastic dreams of bygone days.

This cannot be explained by the blessings of nature or by stimulations through bureaucratic action. Other countries equally blessed by nature, notably Russia, have lagged far behind us, and the most energetic programs of governments having total power have not enabled the peoples of these lands to overtake or significantly gain on us. Liberty is the secret. Foreign ideologies have no place in our land.

Police To Be Courteous

BALTIMORE, Md. AP -- Acting Police Commissioner George M. Gelston has told his men to be courteous and avoid racial or ethnic references in addressing the public, or turn in their badges.

Gelston passed the word in a general order Tuesday saying "the dignity and professional status" of the police department is at stake.

"All citizens will be addressed by the appropriate title of Mr., Mrs. or Miss, and . . . no epithets will be used," he said.

"Any member of the department who feels he cannot abide by the above should submit his resignation," Gelston added.

Boal Dies In Paris

WASHINGTON AP -- Pierre Lagarde Boal, former U. S. ambassador to Bolivia and Nicaragua, died Tuesday in a Paris hospital of a stroke suffered about a week ago, it was reported here today.

Boal, 70, was a career Foreign Service officer. He had served in U. S. embassies in Yugoslavia, Poland, Switzerland, Peru, Canada, Mexico, Bolivia and Nicaragua, as well as serving tours of duty at the State Department here.

He had homes in Boalsburg, Pa., and Thonon-les-Baine, France. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Blair Lee, Silver Springs, Md.

TB Victims Back Home

DETROIT AP -- Most of the 20 youngsters who contracted tuberculosis in their suburban nursery school last fall are back home.

Maybury branch of Detroit General Hospital reports all but five have left the sanitorium, and Dr. John Romanik said four of those are scheduled for release this week.

"The bulk of them went home since May 7," he said. "They are medically discharged with our approval. These children represent absolutely no danger to the community."

The first TB case at the nursery in Garden City was discovered last December.

In general, Dr. Romanik said, the children will not have to stay at home after their release. He said the children must nap daily and should not be allowed to become exhausted.

Police To Be Courteous

BALTIMORE, Md. AP -- Acting Police Commissioner George M. Gelston has told his men to be courteous and avoid racial or ethnic references in addressing the public, or turn in their badges.

Gelston passed the word in a general order Tuesday saying "the dignity and professional status" of the police department is at stake.

"All citizens will be addressed by the appropriate title of Mr., Mrs. or Miss, and . . . no epithets will be used," he said.

"Any member of the department who feels he cannot abide by the above should submit his resignation," Gelston added.

Boal Dies In Paris

WASHINGTON AP -- Pierre Lagarde Boal, former U. S. ambassador to Bolivia and Nicaragua, died Tuesday in a Paris hospital of a stroke suffered about a week ago, it was reported here today.

Boal, 70, was a career Foreign Service officer. He had served in U. S. embassies in Yugoslavia, Poland, Switzerland, Peru, Canada, Mexico, Bolivia and Nicaragua, as well as serving tours of duty at the State Department here.

He had homes in Boalsburg, Pa., and Thonon-les-Baine, France. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Blair Lee, Silver Springs, Md.

TB Victims Back Home

DETROIT AP -- Most of the 20 youngsters who contracted tuberculosis in their suburbar nursery school last fall are back home.

Maybury branch of Detroit General Hospital reports all but five have left the sanitorium, and Dr. John Romanik said four of those are scheduled for release this week.

"The bulk of them went home since May 7," he said. "They are medically discharged with our approval. These children represent absolutely no danger to the community."

The first TB case at the nursery in Garden City was discovered last December.

In general, Dr. Romanik said, the children will not have to stay at home after their release. He said the children must nap daily and should not be allowed to become exhausted.

Exercises Scheduled For Friday

Commencement exercises fo the graduating class of Sikeston high school are scheduled for Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening. The Rev. James Smith, former pastor of the First Assembly of God church in Sikeston, addressed the students.

Four members of the senior class will speak to the assembly at commencement exercises. They are Kay Walton, Phil Barkett, Mike Hopkins, and Carol Werneck.

Theme for the speeches is "May Our Hearts Be" thoughtful. thankful, truthful, and tireless. All speakers selected this to be the theme for the evening.

Judy Matthews will give the invocation and Eugene Hitt will present the benediction. Martha Bess, Mike Guess, and Gary Williams will introduce the various officials for the exercises.

Senior class president Deidre Harber will preside over the commencement exercises.

Speakers and other seniors participating in the exercises were chosen by a panel of teachers and the senior class president. Those trying out for speakers' parts presented an appropriate two-minute speech for the group.

Practice for commencement is scheduled for Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Immediately after graduation ceremonies, seniors will depart for the annual senior party at Paducah this year.

Orchestra, Bands, Choirs In Music Review

Five musical groups of Sikeston high school participated in the Spring Music Review Friday night on the outdoor stage of Sikeston high school.

Orchestra, directed by Richard Powell; early and late division bands, directed by Keith Collins; two mixed choruses in mass and the concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, performed.

Each group performed a proportionate amount of time, the complete program lasting approximately one and one-half hour.

Grand finale included the participating groups in the moving "March of Freedom."

Orchestra played "El Relicario," "The Way You Look Tonight," and "Ballet Parisien."

Numbers played by the 7:30 band were "Rockin' Rhythm,", "Gloria, the Trumpets," and "Music Man."

Late division band played "Second American Fold Rhapsody," "Saints in Concert," and "Selections from Rodgers and Hart."

Selections for the concert choir were "My God Is One God," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Tico-Tico." Judy Matthews accompanied the group.

Mass mixed choruses sang a group of folk songs. These were "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain," "Green Grow The Lilacs," "John Henry," "This Old Hammer," "My Home's In Montana," "My State Is My Home," "The Drunken Sailor," and "Working On The Railroad." Group was accompanied by Becky Wagner.

Seniors Off To Paducah After Grad.

Hey, don't stand, sit down and save your legs for the senior party! This is a familiar cry among the '66'ers as they prepare for the greatest party yet -- the senior party.

After turning in their caps and gowns, the seniors will board the busses for the trip to Paducah. At the Cabana Club each student will be required to present a badge indicating that he has paid his car wash money.

Senior class will be served a meal "FIT FOR AN ALMIGHTY CLASS."

Guillotines, a band from Memphis State, will begin playing about 12:30.

Bowling will also be available during the night. Special surprises are in store for the lucky number holders, and an extra special surprise is being kept secret by Keith Collins and the parent-planning committee.

Chaperones will be on every bus, and tired, but happy seniors will return home about 7 o'clock a.m.

Money for the party was earned through a candy sale, car wash and Christmas dance. Dennis Ziegenhorn also donated a night of the SEMO A-Go-Go profits to the senior class. Total cost of the party will be about $2,200.

"I would like to say thanks to a great class for all the cooperation and help that you seniors gave the officers this year. This party should be one of the more memorable occasions of our senior year," said senior class president Deidre Harber.

Seniors Advise Underclassmen

THE FINAL DAYS OF 12 YEARS of education are slipping away, leaving only memories for the class of 1966, which now degenerates to statistics and names on an alumni list.

We, the Almighty class of '66, like to think of ourselves as a friendly class, only periodically yielding to the contagious disease known as "senioritis."

What have the seniors of '66 done for Sikeston high -- or have we merely gone through the routine of education without making any contributions?

We organized the first drama club back in the middle school, remember? This year the drama club presented two great productions.

We were the recipients of the first victory jug, one of the greatest boosters of school spirit, yet, not to mention the competition between classes for the coveted jug.

We initiated the Christmas A-Go-Go, which may become as traditional as the Red Pepper dance, finished the school sign, and saw the completion of the scoreboard in the cafetorium.

Yes, we have made some contributions to Sikeston high, but do we have to measure our greatness in terms of projects, new activities, or dances?

We feel that Sikeston high has, during the past few years, grown in more ways than area. School spirit has climbed tremendously and we hope it will remain long after we are gone. Remember the bonfires and pep rallies?

Many of the students of Sikeston fail to realize how lucky they are to be able to attend a school as fine as this. They complain that the school is "unfriendly," dull, or some radicals proclaim that it is infested with communists.

What can we say? Certainly our words will go unheeded to those below us. You underclassmen will go on with your head buried, convinced that you would rather be in another school system, or, better yet, out of school.

Take it from us, students, for we have learned only too late -- there is nothing like high school, and there is no high school as great as SIKESTON HIGH.

Several Seniors Famous

by Dianne Caskey

What will become of the 1966 Sikeston high school graduating class?

Barker photographers have devised a camera that shows pictures of the future. Let's take a look at the '66 seniors 40 years from now. The date is May 20, 2006.

"Vote for Deidre! Vote for Deidre, for your President!"

This time Deidre Harber is running for President of the United States.

"This meeting will now come to order."

Carol Werneck never gave up her post as Red Pepper Cayenne. She just could not bear it. There she stands in her gray sweater (it used to be black, but it has faded with age) with a gavel in her hand.

Gary Stallings is now manager of the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team. Under his management and former all-star pitching ability, the Cards have not lost a game in 36 years.

General Ron Spears, after graduating with highest honors at West Point and leading the Cadet football team for four years, served the United States valiantly for many years and is now the Army Chief of Staff in the Pentagon.

Mike Boardman is now the President of his own thriving architectural firm in New York. He is in charge of the World's Fair in London this year.

Old Judy Matthews is still playing the "Star Spangled Banner" on the piano at high school athletic events. She is having a little trouble with her arthritic fingers, however.

Carolyn Jean McCord is the Madame Curie of the genetic world. She is the discoverer of a whole new family of genes that carry gymnastic talents.

Terry Burke is the famed star of the "Terry Burke Country Cousin Folk Song Show." Terry is also a feature attraction at county fairs and hog-calling exhibitions.

Wayne Hulehan is the United States Ambassador to Japan. He takes photographs of Japanese beauty queens in his spare time (which is quite frequent.)

Many other '66 seniors went on to fame, but due to the poor quality of the future-viewing camera, that is all that is visible.

Secretarial Girls Design Booklets

Lana Dacus, Kathy Johnson, Karen Shipman, Gloria Phillips, and Emily Davenport designed the booklets which were presented to the seniors this past week.

Cover, designed by Lana Dacus, featured the letters SHS and the words 1966 with a picture of a diploma and cap. In the corner of the cover was a quotation from Robert Frost's poem, "Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening."

Inside was a list of the senior class officers, home room sponsors, a list of the members of the senior class, and a calendar.

Girls who did the work are enrolled in Miss Electa O'Hara's third, fourth hour secretarial training II class.

Booklets were distributed by Miss O'Hara's sixth, seventh hour class.

Salute To Seniors

This song was composed by the junior Red Peppers in honor of the SENIOR Red Peppers.

(to the tune of "Four Strong Winds")

Three short years they were with us,
'66 was their year
We'll remember all the good times that we shared.
But those good times are all gone,
And they're bound for movin' on,
Don't forget us when you have gone away.

You're the greatest class of Seniors
Sikeston High has ever known,
And the memory of you will never die.
On we wish that you might stay,
Just for one more day,
But you're Seniors now and you must go away.

Now you're here by our sides,
But tomorrow you'll be gone,
Yet the story of your class will live on.
No, we'll never forget,
The class that got their kicks,
66.

Seniors Complete High School Days

SENIORS !!!

Today, to many people, is just another day--Tuesday, May 24, 1966 -- but to you, it means a great deal more.

This day probably invokes mixed emotions into most of your minds because this is a day that you have been looking forward to for 12 years -- this is your last day of high school -- Tuesday, May 24, 1966.

There are, of course, many questions that could be listed at this time (What lies ahead . .) but only time can answer such questions.

Let us look at some things that time has let slip by so quickly.

Remember the football season? It started with a wet, wet night-- we defeated Chaffee; and it ended with the unforgettable victory over the Blytheville Chickasaws.

During basketball season, there were many games, but plenty of fun. Seniors won the victory jug six times during basketball season.

Spring sports brought excitement in many fields, especially baseball. Class of '66er's helped take the baseball team to state.

Senior rings, nights at the War Drum, parties, and even classroom discussions have all made 1966 a fabulous year.

Never forget that you are a member of the almighty class of '66, and always remember "the class that got its kicks" in good 'ole Sikeston High School!!

---------- Carol Werneck

Class Of '66 Remembers Yesteryear s

by Mary Leible

People are always writing about how much seniors have to look forward to, but what is wrong with looking backward for a while.

Most of the SHS seniors were born in 1948 -- oh that lucky year!

Just a few short years later, the school system was blessed with a lively set of new first graders. How many times did those precious six year olds say, "Mommy, I don't want to go to school!" That same story is sometimes used as an excuse in high school.

After grade school, junior high became the nesting place for the children of 1948. Perhaps the freshman year was the most eventful. Who will ever forget the panic over culottes and the fear of being called into the office? Or how about that famous quote from that teacher everybody knows --- "now remember people, you're the cream of the crop!" Would you believe, sour cream?

Everybody detested his sophomore year. Girls were miserable as greenies and the boys were always sneaking behind the lockers to avoid humiliating push-ups.

Junior year was one that showed the tremendous school spirit of the class. Juniors won the victory jug, the new symbol for the peppiest class.

Then came the senior year--remember -- football games in Bel Air, the 10-foot tall Hymie, or the egg that Red Peppers called a basketball???

Graduating is great but who can forget all those wonderful things that befell the class to make it possible. Graduation would not be nearly as enjoyable if it weren't for the fond memories it brings back.

What can we say? Certainly our words will go unheeded to those below us. You underclassmen will go on with your head buried, convinced that you would rather be in another school system, or, better yet, out of school.

Take it from us, students, for we have learned only too late -- there is nothing like high school, and there is no high school as great as SIKESTON HIGH.

Several Seniors Famous

by Dianne Caskey

What will become of the 1966 Sikeston high school graduating class?

Barker photographers have devised a camera that shows pictures of the future. Let's take a look at the '66 seniors 40 years from now. The date is May 20, 2006.

"Vote for Deidre! Vote for Deidre, for your President!"

This time Deidre Harber is running for President of the United States.

"This meeting will now come to order."

Carol Werneck never gave up her post as Red Pepper Cayenne. She just could not bear it. There she stands in her gray sweater (it used to be black, but it has faded with age) with a gavel in her hand.

Gary Stallings is now manager of the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team. Under his management and former all-star pitching ability, the Cards have not lost a game in 36 years.

General Ron Spears, after graduating with highest honors at West Point and leading the Cadet football team for four years, served the United States valiantly for many years and is now the Army Chief of Staff in the Pentagon.

Mike Boardman is now the President of his own thriving architectural firm in New York. He is in charge of the World's Fair in London this year.

Old Judy Matthews is still playing the "Star Spangled Banner" on the piano at high school athletic events. She is having a little trouble with her arthritic fingers, however.

Carolyn Jean McCord is the Madame Curie of the genetic world. She is the discoverer of a whole new family of genes that carry gymnastic talents.

Terry Burke is the famed star of the "Terry Burke Country Cousin Folk Song Show." Terry is also a feature attraction at county fairs and hog-calling exhibitions.

Wayne Hulehan is the United States Ambassador to Japan. He takes photographs of Japanese beauty queens in his spare time (which is quite frequent.)

Many other '66 seniors went on to fame, but due to the poor quality of the future-viewing camera, that is all that is visible.

Secretarial Girls Design Booklets

Lana Dacus, Kathy Johnson, Karen Shipman, Gloria Phillips, and Emily Davenport designed the booklets which were presented to the seniors this past week.

Cover, designed by Lana Dacus, featured the letters SHS and the words 1966 with a picture of a diploma and cap. In the corner of the cover was a quotation from Robert Frost's poem, "Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening."

Inside was a list of the senior class officers, home room sponsors, a list of the members of the senior class, and a calendar.

Girls who did the work are enrolled in Miss Electa O'Hara's third, fourth hour secretarial training II class.

Booklets were distributed by Miss O'Hara's sixth, seventh hour class.

Salute To Seniors

This song was composed by the junior Red Peppers in honor of the SENIOR Red Peppers.

(to the tune of "Four Strong Winds")

Three short years they were with us,
'66 was their year
We'll remember all the good times that we shared.
But those good times are all gone,
And they're bound for movin' on,
Don't forget us when you have gone away.

You're the greatest class of Seniors
Sikeston High has ever known,
And the memory of you will never die.
On we wish that you might stay,
Just for one more day,
But you're Seniors now and you must go away.

Now you're here by our sides,
But tomorrow you'll be gone,
Yet the story of your class will live on.
No, we'll never forget,
The class that got their kicks, 66.

Seniors Complete High School Days

SENIORS !!!

Today, to many people, is just another day--Tuesday, May 24, 1966 -- but to you, it means a great deal more.

This day probably invokes mixed emotions into most of your minds because this is a day that you have been looking forward to for 12 years -- this is your last day of high school -- Tuesday, May 24, 1966.

There are, of course, many questions that could be listed at this time (What lies ahead . .) but only time can answer such questions.

Let us look at some things that time has let slip by so quickly.

Remember the football season? It started with a wet, wet night-- we defeated Chaffee; and it ended with the unforgettable victory over the Blytheville Chickasaws.

During basketball season, there were many games, but plenty of fun. Seniors won the victory jug six times during basketball season.

Spring sports brought excitement in many fields, especially baseball. Class of '66er's helped take the baseball team to state.

Senior rings, nights at the War Drum, parties, and even classroom discussions have all made 1966 a fabulous year.

Never forget that you are a member of the almighty class of '66, and always remember "the class that got its kicks" in good 'ole Sikeston High School!!

Class Of '66 Remembers Yesteryears

by Mary Leible

People are always writing about how much seniors have to look forward to, but what is wrong with looking backward for a while.

Most of the SHS seniors were born in 1948 -- oh that lucky year!

Just a few short years later, the school system was blessed with a lively set of new first graders. How many times did those precious six year olds say, "Mommy, I don't want to go to school!" That same story is sometimes used as an excuse in high school.

After grade school, junior high became the nesting place for the children of 1948. Perhaps the freshman year was the most eventful. Who will ever forget the panic over culottes and the fear of being called into the office? Or how about that famous quote from that teacher everybody knows --- "now remember people, you're the cream of the crop!" Would you believe, sour cream?

Everybody detested his sophomore year. Girls were miserable as greenies and the boys were always sneaking behind the lockers to avoid humiliating push-ups.

Junior year was one that showed the tremendous school spirit of the class. Juniors won the victory jug, the new symbol for the peppiest class.

Then came the senior year--remember -- football games in Bel Air, the 10-foot tall Hymie, or the egg that Red Peppers called a basketball???

Graduating is great but who can forget all those wonderful things that befell the class to make it possible. Graduation would not be nearly as enjoyable if it weren't for the fond memories it brings back.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Wednesday, May 25, the 145th day of 1966. There are 220 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1787, the first regular session of the Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia and elected George Washington as its president.

On this date

In 1862, Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson and his Confederate troops were defeated in battle in Winchester, Va.

In 1879, St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York was dedicated.

In 1903, the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad put into service the first third-rail electric railway.

In 1929, the first air mail from Lima, Peru, was delivered at New York City.

In 1957, the third tube of New York's Lincoln Tunnel, the first triple-tube traffic tunnel in the world, was opened to traffic.

Ten years ago -- The nation's air defense commander, Gen. Earl Partridge, told a Senate subcommittee that U. S. fighter planes could not fly high or fast enough to intercept the new Soviet intercontinental bomber.

Five years ago -- President John F. Kennedy asked Congress to approve programs designed to put a man on the moon before 1970, expand U. S. non-nuclear military strength and increase foreign aid.

One year ago -- A crisis developed in the South Viet Nam government when Chief of State Phan Khac Suu refused to sign a decree of Premier Phan Juy Quat which would have replaced four Cabinet ministers.

FIND SUNGLASSES ON TOP OF HEAD

NEW YORK -- Heard the latest gossip from the world of fashion? Headbands and sunglasses are goin' steady!

A big fashion favorite for the coming summer season combines a pair of sunglasses and a headband in one piece that eliminates the chance of misplacing your sunglasses when you don't need them and at the same time keeps your hair in place around the house or at the office.

This season the sunglasses are larger and more colorful, according to Anne Winfield, fashion coordinator for the F. W. Woolworth Company. Miss Winfield points out that whereas sunglasses used to be designed strictly as eye protectors they're now often bought as style accessories to match various summer outfits.

Most favored by Woolworth's younger set of shoppers are the extra-large "owl" circles that come in gay colors and even patterns such as checks and polkadots. Miss Winfield says these glasses, often referred to as "kook" styles, were inspired by current trends in so-called "pop art." She predicts they'll replace the recently popular "granny" glasses as fashion favorites.

AN ADDLED PENGUIN? Yes, but he's not confused about where his home will be. Your children will enjoy making up stories about what caused the befuddled expression on his face. The background is light blue felt, the waves are parakeet, and he is black and white "BONDEX". Just cut around the patterns and iron the pieces on the felt. So easy a child can do it. JOHNSON of the administration stand in Viet Nam -- led Dist. Atty. William Frye, a Johnson supporter, for the Democratic nomination to succeed Duncan.

In Florida, Burns had sought the Negro vote in the opening primary round but reversed his field in the runoff race. A check of heavily Negro precincts indicated High had won lopsided support there -- 8 to 1 in some cases.

Two years ago, Burns swamped the 5-foot-4 1/2 inch High by a 180,000 vote margin. This time High had 585,183 votes, Burns 498,955 with only one precinct out.

Claude Kirk Jr. of Jacksonville is the Republican nominee for governor of Florida. No modern-day Republican has won the office.

In advance of the Oregon balloting, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford told a reporter he senses a public mood that is likely to produce November votes against incumbent members of Congress.

Democrats outnumbered Republicans 293 to 139 in the House, so a bad year for re-election seeking congressmen could only mean a good year for the GOP.

Ford said mail and questions about Viet Nam are on the increase. "They run all the way from, 'Why don't we win the war?' to 'Why don't we get out,'" Ford said.

He said divisions over Viet Nam are damaging the Democratic party. "There are peace candidates running against some of our people," Ford said, "but they are Democrats. We don't face the situation the Democrats do of a number of incumbents opposed in their own party primaries on the Viet Nam issue."

Injured Tuesday In Cycle Skid

Clarence Recker, 20, Lemay, was the single highway accident victim in the area over the past 24 hours. He was riding a motorcycle in the Trail of Tears Park Tuesday at 4 p.m., in northern Cape Girardeau county, when his vehicle skidded and turned over. He was treated at St. Francis Hospital and released.

Two Arrests

Two persons were arrested by police Tuesday.

Emory Martin, 307 Lillian Drive, was charged with not having an operators license.

Floyd Russell Robertson, route four, was charged with stealing over $50 and was turned over to Scott County authorities.

Mrs. Long has taught in the Lilbourn Elementary School for eight years. She has contracted to teach in the elementary school at Crystal City next year.

Three Shot In Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP -- A rocket scientist and two filling station attendants who had little in common in life were linked in death today by a foreign-made .25 caliber pistol.

Police believe the same weapon killed all three men execution-style with bullets in the brain. The pistol and the slayer remained unknown.

"I feel that it is the same man," said Detective Capt. Tom Sawyer. From ballistics tests, he said, "we feel that it is the same gun." Further tests were being made.

The gun was the only known connection among the three: Loren E. Bollinger, 40, a bachelor researcher in rocket propulsion; Chester Joseph Scowden, 19, a onetime Golden Gloves boxer and high school dropout who worked at a service station near downtown Columbus, and Claude Quesenberry, 41, a construction worker until he took a job at an all-night station in West Jefferson, 10 miles west of Columbus.

Both Scowden and Quesenberry worked early-morning hours at all - night stations.

Bollinger, found shot to death Monday, had an office in a small building four blocks from the station where Scowden worked.

The building is three blocks from Ohio's state Capitol, near an old area being cleared for urban renewal. A small bar and grill occupies the first floor.

All three men had been shot in the head at close range.

any of the slayings. Only bullets remained as clues.

Scowden and Quesenberry had been robbed. Police said no billfold was found on Bollinger's body and credit cards and his driver's license were missing.

Scowden and Quesenberry were both fathers. Bollinger was known by associates as "a loner," who talked little of his activities.

He had gone Sunday evening to work in a new office he was fixing up on the third floor. A partner in a recording studio on the building's second floor saw him at 10 p.m. Another partner in the studio found Bollinger's body in a third-floor storage area the next morning.

The building once housed a radio station. Police tests showed soundproofing prevented the shots from being heard in the bar downstairs.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl with a serious problem. Several months ago my father was killed in an automobile accident. My mother was injured in the same accident, but not seriously.

The driver of the other car was a young man 21 years of age. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The court proceedings lasted a long time and I got to know the boy very well. When the verdict--not guilty--was handed down I was terribly happy because I had become very fond of him.

My mother insists he was guilty regardless of the verdict. She says he was speeding and that he lied on the stand. She hates the sight of him and I wouldn't think of telling her that I have been seeing him secretly.

Please tell me what to do. This boy could be the big love of my life. -- ODETTA

Dear Odetta: There are plenty of boys around without picking the one who killed your father--even if it was an accident.

This guy sounds like bad news in spades. Forget him. Your mother has had enough heartache.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not important, but it bothers me. Whenever we have guests for dinner my husband compliments me on the food in the presence of the guests. I think this puts the guests on the spot. They think they must say something nice about my cooking and it makes me uncomfortable.

My husband often compliments me when there are no guests present but of course they don't know this. Should I ask him to please stop praising the food when company is around? -- PROCEDURE IN YONKERS

Dear Yonkers: Your husband sounds like a living doll. Don't put a damper on his compliments either in private or in the presence of others. Your guests probably think he is a sweet, adorable, thoughtful guy and that you are a lucky girl.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband never needs to worry about me having a lover. The woman next door to me wouldn't let me get away with a thing.

Every time a strange car drives up to our house the neighbor woman comes right over. By strange car I mean any car that isn't ours. She is so fast on her feet that often she beats the guests to our door.

I don't mean to be petty, Ann, but it is very annoying because the woman includes herself every time we have company. We own our home and don't want to sell, although I have actually considered doing so to get rid of this pest. Please tell me what to do. -- LOVE THY WHAT?

Dear Love: How did the pest get so chummy? Overnight it DIDN'T happen.

The only way to free yourself is to tell her that you are spending too much time in one another's home and that from now on it's going to be on an invitation 'only basis. It could be that she will stop speaking to you altogether. And wouldn't that be nice?

Confidential to DOESN'T KNOW I EXIST: He knows you exist but he is not interested. Leave him alone. Boys actually enjoy pursuing girls. It makes them feel masculine. When you deprive them of the pleasure they resent it.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TRICKS WITH COLOR IN THE BATHROOM

Light colors make a small room seem larger than it really is. If you have a small bathroom, keep this in mind when you remodel, the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau advises.

Another way to create a feeling of spaciousness is to stick to one color for walls and ceiling. You can introduce striking contrasts of color in your new fixtures -- which run the gamut from soft yellows and beiges to brilliant reds and blues. Dozens of colors are now available.

When used with appropriate accessories, the color of the fixture can help suggest particular decors. Maroon fixtures, for example, are excellent for a Victorian or Italian Provincial motif. Pink is ideal for a young girl's bedroom. Pale green with black is appropriate for an oriental theme, etc.

Sure would love to get caught up on my work so I could just do something I'd like for a change. I have an oil painting stuck up in the top of a closet and everytime I get a dress out, I look at it wistfully, but heaven knows when I'll ever get it finished! Aren't we lucky to have people like Barbara Smith, Lisa Popp and others, who do manage to get the project they start completed? Here they have taken it upon themselves to provide Sikeston with another enjoyable Art Show and May 28th will be the date of the opening. I do have one painting finished I can enter, of course, I gave it to someone for a housegift, but maybe she won't mind having a bare spot on her wall for a few days. I remember my poor mother the first time they held this show. She, like all good mothers do, had hung with pride and joy all of my feeble attempts to compete with Grandma Moses, and when I ended up stripping her walls the house really had that new nude look. If she'd been smart, that would have been the time to rush out and purchase some really good paintings to adorn her home with, but as I said she's a good mama and eventually all were returned to cover the lighter spots that had been staring at us for days. Don't forget now, the Holiday Inn, May 28 and 29. The only way we can show how much we appreciate the efforts made by these dedicated people who are trying to bring a little culture into our lives is by turning out in mass and showing them. Believe me, I absolutely guarantee you'll enjoy youselves too, you just don't realize how many people there are in our community until you go to one of these shows and see their work displayed. Please don't forget, mark it on your calender a must!!!

These men!! Just because you do something quite simple and certainly understandable like running out of gas, really gets them in a tizzy -- and oh brother, how they do go on and on and on about it. At least, I was at home and not halfway between here and Charleston, then he'd really have had something to holler about. It certainly burns me up how they carry on about these silly cars anyway. I can remember (I'll never forget, nor will I let him), being pregnant and driving his old car and hitting a tree that stuck too far out in someone's drive, and I only dented that crummy fender a little, but you should have heard him!! Never once ask me (and me in that delicate condition), how I was, you'd have thought that car was the one that felt that bump! And when he does silly little things I hardly say a word -- like picking up that woman's suitcase on our New Orleans trip and ending up at the hotel with high heels instead of trousers, or for instance, when he fell down in the middle of downtown St. Louis street and spilled all my lovely Christmas presents all over the intersection. I didn't carry on about the little dents in them, or last weekend at Tan-Tar-A when he left all his clothes at home, oh well, I could go on and on, you know how MEN are. Guess I'd better get quiet and bake something nice tonight so he'll be still about that stupid gas business.

In case this problem presents itself at your house, (this is also good in case of very small dents.) I'll share it with you.

Keglers Korner

By Mildred Pool

HELLO! Bowling for the winter leagues is now over and this should be the last time for this column until next fall. I have injoyed trying to write it and look forward to next year.

Final standings for the Imperialetts league: L & A first, Kroger second, A & B third, Crown fourth, Belltones fifth, Deline sixth, Progressive seventh, Standard eighth. This league has more fun, I do believe, than any other out at the lanes. We had our banquet last Tuesday nigh. Jean Wilson was crowned queen for the night. It was very surprising to her as she had helped plan to surprise one of the other girls. And another surprise was the fantastic entertainment we had. If you need lots of good laughs contact this group. They will probably refuse but we enjoyed their act. Jean Wilson, Ruth Ann Templeton, Janet Meadows and last but by no means the least nutty of the group was Alice Patterson. The musical instruments were out of this world as well as their costumes. A wash tub does make a pretty good drum doesn't it, Ruth Ann?

Other awards given Tuesday night were: High team game and series, L & A; high series and game, Genice Latham, (this hurt me because I had high game and series but was not eligible because I hadn't bowled 2/3 of the games.) Flora Crothers also got the high average pin. Achievement award went to Paula Harper and most improved bowler went to Mary Meyers.

After the fancy dinner was over we bowled jackpot and Pat Bridger and I won the first pot, Jean Wilson and Mildred Cockrell won the second, and Mary Meyer and Mary Phelps won the third. Ruth Ann Templeton and Darla Carter won the high series pot.

All during the dinner we had door prizes and I did not get all the winners. It was all happening too fast and there were lots of them.

We had our final City Association Meeting of the year at the lanes Thursday night. There was very poor attendance. The trophies were given out for the winners of the City Association Tourney held the first of the year.

Trophies were presented to the Tuesday Morning Housewives Team, winners of the team event, to Kay Jackson and I for winning the doubles and Glenda Gardner won the singles event, but Glenda was unable to be there. Martha Springs won the All events handicap and Doris Brown (Beaver) took the trophy for all events scratch.

Billie Garner reported we had a total membership last year of 309 and we hope it is even more next year.

Another award was to be given out but Norma Baker didn't make it there either and I volunteered to just take her 'high average for the association' pin home with me but they wouldn't let me have it. Her final average for the year was 178.

Officers for the next year were elected and will remain as have been this year. That is President Mary Meyer, Vice President Hildred Poole, Secretary Billie Garner, Treasurer Thelma Hampton, and Sargent of Arms Boots Schrader.

An open meeting will be held August 18, 1966, at the lanes and bowling will start again this fall the week of August 30. Write this down now but we hope when this new season starts lots of people who have never bowled in a league will join us. We really do have a good time and it is good exercise too.

We also had door prizes at this meeting. They were perfume donated by L & A Laundry won by Marge Street; 10# of sugar donated by Proffers Bi-Rite won by Lotus Emerson; a butane gas lamp donated by Lewis Furniture won by Jean Lee; a 15 game bowling card donated by Campbell Farms won by Betty Dawson and an automatic toothbrush donated by the Bank of Sikeston and won by yours truly. This was a surprise because I had told everyone out there I was going to win it and when I did they teased me. Actually I had no control over it because Betty Dawson drew my number out of the box. Thanks Betty.

By Mildred Pool

HELLO! Bowling for the winter leagues is now over and this should be the last time for this column until next fall. I have injoyed trying to write it and look forward to next year.

Final standings for the Imperialetts league: L & A first, Kroger second, A & B third, Crown fourth, Belltones fifth, Deline sixth, Progressive seventh, Standard eighth. This league has more fun, I do believe, than any other out at the lanes. We had our banquet last Tuesday nigh. Jean Wilson was crowned queen for the night. It was very surprising to her as she had helped plan to surprise one of the other girls. And another surprise was the fantastic entertainment we had. If you need lots of good laughs contact this group. They will probably refuse but we enjoyed their act. Jean Wilson, Ruth Ann Templeton, Janet Meadows and last but by no means the least nutty of the group was Alice Patterson. The musical instruments were out of this world as well as their costumes. A wash tub does make a pretty good drum doesn't it, Ruth Ann?

Other awards given Tuesday night were: High team game and series, L & A: high series and game, Genice Latham, (this hurt me because I had high game and series but was not eligible because I hadn't bowled 2/3 of the games.) Flora Crothers also got the high average pin. Achievement award went to Paula Harper and most improved bowler went to Mary Meyers.

After the fancy dinner was over we bowled jackpot and Pat Bridger and I won the first pot, Jean Wilson and Mildred Cockrell won the second, and Mary Meyer and Mary Phelps won the third. Ruth Ann Templeton and Darla Carter won the high series pot.

All during the dinner we had door prizes and I did not get all the winners. It was all happening too fast and there were lots of them.

We had our final City Association Meeting of the year at the lanes Thursday night. There was very poor attendance. The trophies were given out for the winners of the City Association Tourney held the first of the year.

Trophies were presented to the Tuesday Morning Housewives Team, winners of the team event, to Kay Jackson and I for winning the doubles and Glenda Gardner won the singles event, but Glenda was unable to be there. Martha Springs won the All events handicap and Doris Brown (Beaver) took the trophy for all events scratch.

Billie Garner reported we had a total membership last year of 309 and we hope it is even more next year.

Another award was to be given out but Norma Baker didn't make it there either and I volunteered to just take her 'high average for the association' pin home with me but they wouldn't let me have it. Her final average for the year was 178.

Officers for the next year were elected and will remain as have been this year. That is President Mary Meyer, Vice President Hildred Poole, Secretary Billie Garner, Treasurer Thelma Hampton, and Sargent of Arms Boots Schrader.

An open meeting will be held August 18, 1966, at the lanes and bowling will start again this fall the week of August 30. Write this down now but we hope when this new season starts lots of people who have never bowled in a league will join us. We really do have a good time and it is good exercise too.

We also had door prizes at this meeting. They were perfume donated by L & A Laundry won by Marge Street; 10# of sugar donated by Proffers Bi-Rite won by Lotus Emerson; a butane gas lamp donated by Lewis Furniture won by Jean Lee; a 15 game bowling card donated by Campbell Farms won by Betty Dawson and an automatic toothbrush donated by the Bank of Sikeston and won by yours truly. This was a surprise because I had told everyone out there I was going to win it and when I did they teased me. Actually I had no control over it because Betty Dawson drew my number out of the box. Thanks Betty.

Sikeston Pilots Off To Canada

CAPE GIRARDEAU – Cape Girardians could hardly believe their eyes Sunday morning when six Stearman biplanes, the last of which was manufactured in the early 1930s, flew over Cape Girardeau on a northward course.

The pilots were sprayer operators who assembled here for a three - day flight to Canada where they had polled to contract with the Canadian government to spray thousands of acres of timberland threatened by the spruce bud worm.

Pilots were Paul Harris, Sikeston; Bryan Johnson and Wayne North, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Warren Grant, Sikeston; Bill Vickers, Lula, Miss., and Chuck Morris, Gideon.

The flight had to be made in a series of hops because of the short 300-mile range of the planes.

Credit unions (organized groups of people who save their money together and make low-cost loans to each other) are on the rise. There are more than 28,000 of them, located mostly in the United States and Canada, although they had their origins more than 100 years ago in Germany and Italy. There are more than 15 million member-owners with $6 billion in assets.

Go Gourmet-Gradually!

by Betty Crocker

Sometimes American appetites need a little coddling to appreciate the unfamiliar – like Far Eastern curry. So my advice to new brides or any would-be gourmet – apply a light hand until you know your own strength. To practice this art, here's the perfect recipe for your next party buffet: my Crusty Curried Chicken. It's so subtle in East Indian curry, you can't possibly frighten all-American appetites. But you will impress your guests with a wisp of elegant difference in flavor. Of course, you'll prepare this dish ahead, refrigerate until an hour before serving and bake as directed. Just like any calm, cool and well-organized gourmet cook.

CRUSTY CURRIED CHICKEN

8 chicken breasts
1 cup Bisquick
2 tablespoons curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup shortening (part butter)

Heat oven to 425°. Wipe the chicken with damp paper towels. Mix remaining ingredients except shortening in paper bag. Shake 2 or 3 pieces of chicken at a time in the bag until they are thoroughly coated. Melt shortening in oblong pan, 13x9x2 inches. Place chicken skin side down in a single layer in pan. Bake 40 minutes. Reduce temperature to 375° and turn chicken with tongs. Bake 20 minutes longer. Makes 6-8 servings.

See how easy it is to be cagey with curry by combining it with familiar seasonings? Now give chutney a whirl with this quick and easy garnish. Again, do it ahead and heat just before serving.

HOT PEACH HALVES WITH CHUTNEY

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in heavy skillet. Place 1 can (1 pound) peach halves, drained, in skillet. Spoon ½ teaspoon chopped chutney in center of each peach half. Cover and heat over low heat 10 minutes. Serve as garnish on platter with chicken. Complete your gourmet buffet with salad, hot rolls, relishes. Coffee with dessert on a table alongside. Your prettiest china and silver, of course. And be prepared to dazzle your guests with your gourmet touches!

Know what this is.

Frankfurter Pie Takes a Topping Of Drop Biscuits

Casserole cooks will be delighted with a dish that gives them meat, vegetables and biscuits all in one!

Frankfurter circles, green beans and corn combine with the teen's favorite seasonings of chili sauce and grated cheese to form the base for this supper dish. More frankfurters go into the drop biscuits to make them interesting, says Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Use a hot oven for this casserole to bake the biscuits. At the same time all the ingredients which go into the mixture will have a chance to heat through for piping hot service.

Since this casserole contains frankfurters, two vegetables and the biscuit topping, what should be served with it? A fruit salad either of citrus or fresh fruits in season would be ideal. Have this as well chilled as the casserole is hot. If you prefer, a molded salad goes well, too, and may be made in advance.

Biscuit topping for the casserole starts with a classic or basic biscuit recipe, making use of lard. The lard may be taken directly from the refrigerator since it works readily into the dry ingredients.

Grated American cheese along with the frankfurters, sliced thinner than for the casserole, carries out the theme for this dish. It also sharpens the effect of ingredients already used in the main dish.

Frankfurter Biscuit Pie

6 frankfurters, sliced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
¼ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup chili sauce
1 cup canned or cooked green beans
½ cup canned or cooked whole kernel corn.

Frankfurter Biscuits

Melt lard or drippings in frying-pan, add frankfurters and onions and brown lightly. Stir in flour, salt and milk; cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese, chili sauce, green beans and corn. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Make Frankfurter Biscuits and drop by spoonfuls on mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Go Gourmet-Gradually!

by Betty Crocker

Sometimes American appetites need a little coddling to appreciate the unfamiliar — like Far Eastern curry. So my advice to new brides or any would-be gourmet — apply a light hand until you know your own strength. To practice this art, here's the perfect recipe for your next party buffet: my Crusty Curried Chicken. It's so subtle in East Indian curry, you can't possibly frighten all-American appetites. But you will impress your guests with a wisp of elegant difference in flavor. Of course, you'll prepare this dish ahead, refrigerate until an hour before serving and bake as directed. Just like any calm, cool and well-organized gourmet cook.

CRUSTY CURRIED CHICKEN

8 chicken breasts
1 cup Bisquick
2 tablespoons curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup shortening (part butter)

Heat oven to 425°. Wipe the chicken with damp paper towels. Mix remaining ingredients except shortening in paper bag. Shake 2 or 3 pieces of chicken at a time in the bag until they are thoroughly coated. Melt shortening in baking pan, 13x 9x2 inches. Place chicken skin side down in a single layer in pan. Bake 40 minutes. Reduce temperature to 375° and turn chicken with tongs. Bake 20 minutes longer. Makes 6-8 servings.

See how easy it is to be cagey with curry by combining it with familiar seasonings? Now give chutney a whirl with this quick and easy garnish. Again, do it ahead and heat just before serving.

HOT PEACH HALVES WITH CHUTNEY

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in heavy skillet. Place 1 can (1 pound) peach halves, drained, in skillet. Spoon ½ teaspoon chopped chutney in center of each peach half. Cover and heat over low heat 10 minutes. Serve as garnish on platter with chicken. Complete your gourmet buffet with salad, hot rolls, relishes. Coffee with dessert on a table alongside. Your prettiest china and silver, of course. And be prepared to dazzle your guests with your gourmet touches!

Know what this is.

Frankfurter Pie Takes a Topping Of Drop Biscuits

Casserole cooks will be delighted with a dish that gives them meat, vegetables and biscuits all in one!

Frankfurter circles, green beans and corn combine with the teen's favorite seasonings of chili sauce and grated cheese to form the base for this supper dish. More frankfurters go into the drop biscuits to make them interesting, says Reba Staggs, meat authority.

Use a hot oven for this casserole to bake the biscuits. At the same time all the ingredients which go into the mixture will have a chance to heat through for piping hot service.

Since this casserole contains frankfurters, two vegetables and the biscuit topping, what should be served with it? A fruit salad either of citrus or fresh fruits in season would be ideal. Have this as well chilled as the casserole is hot. If you prefer, a molded salad goes well, too, and may be made in advance.

Biscuit topping for the casserole starts with a classic or basic biscuit recipe, making use of lard. The lard may be taken directly from the refrigerator since it works readily into the dry ingredients.

Grated American cheese along with the frankfurters, sliced thinner than for the casserole, carries out the theme for this dish. It also sharpens the effect of ingredients already used in the main dish.

Frankfurter Biscuit Pie

6 frankfurters, sliced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
¼ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup chili sauce
1 cup canned or cooked green beans
¼ cup canned or cooked whole kernel corn.

Frankfurter Biscuits

Melt lard or drippings in frying-pan, add frankfurters and onions and brown lightly. Stir in flour, salt and milk; cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese, chili sauce, green beans and corn. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Make Frankfurter Biscuits and drop by spoonfuls on mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

VERY BAD ADVICE

Dr. Morris Chafetz, professor of psychiatry at Harvard, is director of the alcoholic clinic of Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. He is author of two books about drinking, "Alcohol and Society," and "Liquor, Servant of Man." He has proposed that children in the early grades at school, be given group instruction in social drinking. He says this should begin with very weak drinks such as a little sherry in water in the elemeantary grades, and continue through college. The amount of alcohol in this "practice drinking" should be gradually increased. The children should be taught to drink slowly in small amounts, and with other persons. He believes this would facilitate social relations, relaxation and a feeling of well being. He thinks they should also be instructed on the hazards of the improper use of alcohol.

Dr. Chafetz says that "alcohol is here to stay and people must learn to develop a healthy attitude toward it." Sex is here to stay, too, and children should be taught about it, but certainly not experimentally, beginning "in the early grades at school." Dope s here to stay, but surely small children should not be given small amounts of heroin. Stealing and cheating are here to stay but should children be given lessons in these evils as a means of promoting temperance in their use of them?

We believe the professor is wrong. Children, and adults as well should be taught to abstain from anything evil and not merely to be temperate in the use of it. It is silly, in my opinion to advocate narcotizing one's self in order to promote social relationships. A normal, properly adjusted adult can relax and enjoy friendship without the use of alcohol or any other drug to suppress his higher nerve cento control emotion is to come down from the spiritual plane, where proper control lies, into the physical plane to partly paralyze one's nerves. Inhibitions, judgment and restraint are proper attributes of man. We all need them. To knock them out with the use of drugs so that one feels well because he had paralyzed his sensitivity to the delicate shades of the proper and the proper, and by the throwing off of restraint is for man to abandon his spiritual being in part, and to retrograde toward his animal nature. That is easy enough for any of us to do, without the help of alcohol.

LOVE THOSE SCALLOPS

If you love scallops, here's good news for you from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department says large cold storage holdings and a big catch last year have prompted it to put this delicacy on its Plentiful Foods List.

That should inspire you to hop down to your food store and check up on scallop prices. The best food buys, you know, are usually found among the foods in plentiful supply.

One of the simplest ways to prepare scallops, of course, is to fry them, and who would argue about their tastiness when prepared this way. But if you're looking for something really refreshing, and not too difficult to prepare, try SAUTED SCALLOPS.

Cook 1 pound of scallops in a small amount of water for 5 minutes. Drain and dry. Cook 1 small minced onion in 2 tablespoons of butter or bacon fat until tender. Then add scallops. Saute until brown, sprinkle with salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Serve the scallops on toast with lemon.

If you've been waiting for lower prices on scallops to enjoy them, now's the time to put them on your shopping list and keep them there says the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

The first American president to speak on radio was Woodrow Wilson, who broadcast to American soldiers aboard troopships in 1919.

outdoor chefs are very fussy!

Ever since the outdoor cooking fad began,
we've been catering
to the special needs of outdoor chefs.

Over the years, we've satisfied scores of thousands.
Many, many find just the steak, chops or chicken they want
in our self-service meat departments.
Others have specific needs...
the steak must be 2½" thick, the chops double thick and so forth.
That's no problem.
If you don't see it...just ask. We'll be happy to help you.

One other reason we're so popular with "backyard barbecuers"...
the quality of our "Super-Right" Meats.
Quality so high, some meat graded U.S. Choice
just isn't perfect enough to be "Super-Right" Meat.

VERY BAD ADVICE

Dr. Morris Chafetz, professor of psychiatry at Harvard, is director of the alcoholic clinic of Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. He is author of two books about drinking, "Alcohol and Society," and "Liquor, Servant of Man." He has proposed that children in the early grades at school, be given group instruction in social drinking. He says this should begin with very weak drinks such as a little sherry in water in the elementary grades, and continue through college. The amount of alcohol in this "practice drinking" should be gradually increased. The children should be taught to drink slowly in small amounts, and with other persons. He believes this would facilitate social relations, relaxation and a feeling of well being. He thinks they should also be instructed on the hazards of the improper use of alcohol.

Dr. Chafetz says that "alcohol is here to stay and people must learn to develop a healthy attitude toward it." Sex is here to stay, too, and children should be taught about it, but certainly not experimentally, beginning "in the early grades at school." Dope s here to stay, but surely small children should not be given small amounts of heroin. Stealing and cheating are here to stay but should children be given lessons in these evils as a means of promoting temperance in their use of them?

We believe the professor is wrong. Children, and adults as well should be taught to abstain from anything evil and not merely to be temperate in the use of it. It is silly, in my opinion to advocate narcotizing one's self in order to promote social relationships. A normal, properly adjusted adult can relax and enjoy friendship without the use of alcohol or any other drug to suppress his higher nerve cento control emotion is to come down from the spiritual plane, where proper control lies, into the physical plane to partly paralyze one's nerves. Inhibitions, judgment and restraint are proper attributes of man. We all need them. To knock them out with the use of drugs so that one feels well because he had paralyzed his sensitivity to the delicate shades of the proper and the proper, and by the throwing off of restraint is for man to abandon his spiritual being in part, and to retrograde toward his animal nature. That is easy enough for any of us to do, without the help of alcohol.

LOVE THOSE SCALLOPS

If you love scallops, here's good news for you from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department says large cold storage holdings and a big catch last year have prompted it to put this delicacy on its Plentiful Foods List.

That should inspire you to hop down to your food store and check up on scallop prices. The best food buys, you know, are usually found among the foods in plentiful supply.

One of the simplest ways to prepare scallops, of course, is to fry them, and who would argue about their tastiness when prepared this way. But if you're looking for something really refreshing, and not too difficult to prepare, try SAUTED SCALLOPS.

Cook 1 pound of scallops in a small amount of water for 5 minutes. Drain and dry. Cook 1 small minced onion in 2 tablespoons of butter or bacon fat until tender. Then add scallops. Saute until brown, sprinkle with salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Serve the scallops on toast with lemon.

If you've been waiting for lower prices on scallops to enjoy them, now's the time to put them on your shopping list and keep them there says the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

The first American president to speak on radio was Woodrow Wilson, who broadcast to American soldiers aboard troopships in 1919.

outdoor chefs are very fussy!

Ever since the outdoor cooking fad began,
we've been catering
to the special needs of outdoor chefs.

Over the years, we've satisfied scores of thousands.
Many, many find just the steak, chops or chicken they want
in our self-service meat departments.
Others have specific needs...
the steak must be 2½" thick, the chops double thick and so forth.
That's no problem.
If you don't see it...just ask. We'll be happy to help you.

One other reason we're so popular with "backyard barbecuers"...
the quality of our "Super-Right" Meats.
just isn't perfect enough to be "Super-Right" Meat.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.
